Tax Selling Brings Stock Prices Lower

New York—A resumption of tax selling today brought stocks down after a moderate recovery on average last week. The decline was a continuation of one that began late Friday.

Losses spread throughout most of the list with railroad issues again hard hit. Building shares, among last week's favorites, receded fractions to more than a point. Metals, steels and autos were depressed.

Zenith fell more than two points and U.S. Borax more than three among the wider losers. Corning Glass and Filtrrol were down more than two points each. Among the leaders, losses of more than a point appeared in Chrysler, Du Pont, International Paper and Johns-Manville.

Bodies of Vancouver Youths Recovered

Vancouver, Wash.—Volunteers using grappling hooks Saturday recovered the bodies of two Fort Vancouver high school students from Vancouver lake after the youths' boat was capsized by high winds Friday.

Larry LaRue, 15, and Leon Cook, 16, had been duck hunting on the lake with a companion, Michael Hart, 17, who was rescued from the chippy water shortly after the boat overturned.

Volunteers working with Clark county sheriff's deputies located LaRue's body shortly before 10 a.m. Cook's body was found in eight feet of water at 3:10 p.m.

Neuberger Offers Plan To Finance Indian Termination

Portland—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) said today he has endorsed a plan to finance termination of the Klamath Indian reservation with government bonds. The bonds would mature annually over a 20-year period.

Neuberger said the plan for paying the Indians in government bonds came from Thomas Watters and Eugene Favell, management specialists handling termination of the government's custodianship over the Klamath tribe.

Would Protect Indians
 Under the proposal, Neuberger said tribal members qualified as fully competent to manage substantial sums of money would be authorized to cash their bonds immediately for a discount rate which would be fixed by law to protect Indians from too great a loss.

The senator said the "current value" of the bonds should be no less than 75 per cent of the entire retail value of the resources of the reservation. He said that by accepting such deferred payment "the Klamath tribal members would, in effect, be accepting less than the retail worth of the reservation, but a price which would be considerably greater than the 'liquidation' value that would come to them if the timber were allowed to glut the market under the existing law."
