Branch to Hear Dr. Stevenson; Group to Meet

Dr. Elmo Stevenson, president of Southern college, will speak for Medford branch, American Association of University Women, Wednesday, January 8. The meeting will be at the Red Cross building, 60 Hawthorne street, at 8 p.m.

Program chairman is Mrs. Hugh B. Collins, education chairman. Dr. Stevenson will give a report of the "President's Conference on Education."

Members may bring guests and all members of the study groups sponsored by AAUW are invited.

AAUW was founded for the purpose of furthering higher education for women. At the 75th anniversary convention held in Boston last June, a new committee on higher education was established to study the problems facing the colleges and universities in providing facilities and instructors for all the people wishing to attend college in the coming years. This new committee will come into being July 1, 1958.

February 1 the annual fellowship luncheon will be held at Rogue Valley Country club, and February 18 the annual children's play sponsored by the branch will be presented at the Craterian theater. This year, the play will be "Cinderella" and will be given by Southern Oregon college players directed by Dr. Dorothy Stolp.

AAUW Book Review group will meet at 1 p.m. Wednesday, January 8, at the home of Mrs. Emerson T. Anderson, 2131 Hillcrest road. Mrs. Tom Polk will be assisting the hostess.

Mrs. W. R. Duffy will review "Song of America" by George Mardikian, founder of the Omar Khayyam restaurant in San Francisco.

Monday Mrs. Anderson will be hostess for a meeting of AAUW Art group.

Commanders' Club Announce Meeting

Disabled American Veterans' auxiliary Past Commanders club, will meet Wednesday evening, January 8, at the home of Mrs. Lynn Elliott, 513 Oregon terrace.

The auxiliary sewing club will meet Thursday, January 9, at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Norman Neathamer, 119 Jeanette street. A covered dish dinner will be served at noon.

Gold Hill Couple Honored On Fortieth Anniversary

Gold Hill—Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kell were host to a family dinner at their home on Christmas day. The occasion was also in observance of the fortieth wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Force, Gold Hill.

The Forces were married at Central Point on Christmas Eve, 1917, after obtaining their marriage license at southern Oregon's historic courthouse in Jacksonville.

Both are members of families, which were among the early settlers in Jackson county. Mr. Force served with the United States Army during World War I, with Headquarters company Sixty-third infantry.

Since their marriage, the Forces have resided in the Rogue valley, and have been residents of Gold Hill for nearly 30 years.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Kell, and Mrs. Arty Laws of Rogue River.

Present for the double Christmas and anniversary celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Laws, Ronnie and Elizabeth, Rogue River; Bill and Shirley Kell, the honored guests Mr. and Mrs. Force, the hosts and Charles Kell, Gold Hill, father of Clyde Kell.

The Forces were presented a coffee table with an inlaid hardwood top made by a friend, James Clement, Gold Hill, who builds handmade tables as a hobby since his retirement.

Mr. Force has a hobby which his family and friends believe to be the first of its kind. He makes attractive pictures, vases and many other articles from seemingly worthless fragments of broken china dishes, that he collects. Mr. Force breaks these into small various shaped pieces, before sorting and storing in small drawers in a cabinet made especially for this purpose.

After making forms for the desired article, he uses tweezers to select pieces of the desired color and shape which are glued to the form. This procedure takes many hours of patient work. After creating the design he wishes to obtain for the finished product, Mr. Force pours the final mixture, which has to set several hours before being removed from the forms. Since developing this unique hobby, the Gold Hill man has completed a large picture, which is hung in the dining-room at the Force home. Other articles completed includes vases, a television lamp and mantle clock.

The cement walk from the street to the porch of the Force's home is inlaid with flowers which he made from many different kinds of colored rocks he had collected, the project taking several months.

Students Married In Selma

Cave Junction—Miss Lynda Mae Zimmerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don E. Zimmerman, Cave Junction, and Kenneth Krauss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Krauss, Salem, were married Sunday, December 22, at 8 p.m. at Selma Baptist church. The Rev. Don Brown read the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white brocade satin gown and finger-tip length veil caught with a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped by red and white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Donna Zimmerman, sister of the bride, who wore a pink ballerina length gown, and carried a red and white carnation bouquet.

Misses Jackie Williams and Jeanette Adams served as bridesmaids. The air frocks were of ballerina length in yellow and pale blue, and they wore camellia corsages. Serving as candlelighters were Miss Carmel White, in yellow and Miss Donna Frost in pale green ballerina length gowns.

Little Susan Krauss, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of yellow taffeta with pale green net overskirt and yellow flowers in her hair. She scattered red rose petals from a basket, while Michael Hussey, nephew of the bridegroom, carried the rings on a white pillow.

Serving his brother as best man was Kohath Krauss. Ushers were Leslie Frost and Thomas Stepp.

The bride's mother wore a grey ensemble with matching grey hat. Mrs. Krauss, mother of the bridegroom, chose a beige dress with black accessories. Each had a corsage of red carnations.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. M. O. Mikkelsen. Mrs. Don Brown and Mrs. William Krauss sang.

A reception followed in the church annex. Mrs. Lloyd Harbour, aunt of the bride, served the cake while Miss Lorraine Frost and Mrs. Don Zimmerman presided at the punch bowl.

Miss Carma Lewis had charge of the guest book, and Miss Cecile Zimmerman, sister of the bride, presided at the gift table.

For her wedding trip the new Mrs. Krauss wore a red corduroy dress and the corsage from her wedding bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Krauss will live at Corvallis where the bridegroom is enrolled at Oregon State college, and his bride will continue her senior high school year. Mr. Krauss was graduated from Illinois Valley high school. Mrs. Krauss is a past honor queen of Job's Daughters.
