By MRS. H. H. CHAPMAN Hornbrook — The holiday season saw a number of Hornbrook residents entertaining relatives and friends at their homes, or traveling to distant points to be with loved ones.

Salem, Ore., was the destination of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Walsh and daughter, Sheree, who spent several days at Christmas time there with Mr. and Mrs. William Nothel, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cameron, and Miss Florence Cameron. Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. Nothel and Miss Cameron are sisters, and Cameron is their brother. The Walshes returned home on Friday, Dec. 27.

Traveling south were grammar school principal Harley Baker and Mrs. Baker and their daughter, Karen Sue, who spent Christmas week in Bakersfield with Mrs. Baker's mother, Mrs. Ora McCool, and several brothers and sisters.

Also spending Christmas at Bakersfield with relatives were Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Haworth, who returned home on Sunday. Both of them contracted influenza while in the south, and stated when they returned home that "it was good to be back in the sunshine again," as Bakersfield was fogged in during their entire stay there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gessler and two children spent the Christmas week in Ingleswood, Calif., returning home over the weekend. It was the day after they left for Ingleswood that their home and garage were burned to the ground, as well as the home and garage of their next door neighbor, an elderly couple by the name of Keene.

It is understood that the Keenes are now in Little Shasta valley. The Gesslers are at Cottonwood camp opposite the quarantine station on Highway 99.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Watt and sons, Tommy and Ronnie, were in Portland, Ore., for Christmas, where they visited at the home of Watt's mother, Mrs. Tom Watts Sr., and at the homes of several of his brothers and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Howard of Seattle, Wash., are spending Christmas and New Years weeks with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Cummins and children, Loren Howard and Jennifer. Christmas day they and other members of the Bray family gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henley Clawson for dinner and the exchange of gifts.

A total of 19 children and 18 adults were present for the big day. Several other members of the various families were unable to attend because of the flu.

On New Year's day, Mr. and Mrs. Clawson held open house for the Bray family. Mr. and Mrs. Howard were to leave by plane out of Medford on Sunday to return home.

Leonard Bear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bear, spent several days last week in Seattle, Wash., visiting some of his brothers and sisters, and a number of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman are guests for Christmas and several days at the home of their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Dungey and two children of Medford.

Also guests for the week were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dungey of Oregon City. Other guests for Christmas dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Bud Judy and two daughters of Medford.

Matt Johnson spent the holidays with his son, Carl, and family in Oakland, Calif.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cardozo over the holidays are Manuel Ramos and son, Gary, and Harry Hjelmberg, all of Fremont, Calif.

Bob Smith, who is employed by COPCO at Roseburg, Ore., spent Christmas day with his parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith and Miss Dorothy Smith.

Bill Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Holland, was home for the holidays from his studies at Chico State college. Bob Paine also spent Christmas at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lauran Paine. He is a pre-med student at the University of Oregon at Eugene.

Christmas dinner guests of Mrs. Minnie Bloomingcamp and her son, Charles, were her daughters and their families, Mrs. Marge Snyder and children, Karen and Victor, of Medford, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wiatt and sons, Stephen and Paul, of Central Point, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Cavin and daughter, Janet, of Hills, and a sister-in-law, Miss Elsie Bloomingcamp of Bogus.

Will Hansen of Brownboro, Ore., a brother of Mrs. Bloomingcamp, also was a guest during Christmas week. He also visited his sister-in-law, Mrs. O. G. Tyrer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin spent Christmas week in Medford, where they took an apartment at the Plaza in order to be with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rukovina and daughters, Cynthia and Pat, who also live at the Plaza.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Campbell and son, Ricky, of Chico, Calif., were Christmas guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Everett Jeter. They also visited in Yreka with his mother, Mrs. Richard A. Campbell, and his grandparents, Judge and Mrs. James M. Allen.

Spending Christmas with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Greene, and grandchildren, Linda and Lydia Greene, were Mr. and Mrs. David Malow and children Johnny, Susy and Paul, of Yreka.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bear hosted a New Year's eve pinocle party at their home. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Shinar, Mr. and Mrs. John Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ohlund, who are spending the winter in Yreka.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rimmel were callers on Sunday at the Harry Chapman's. They were enroute to their home at Canyonville, Ore., after spending Christmas with their daughter and the Chapman's son, Mr. and Mrs. Oliv-

CHAMBER MAN DIES

Milan, Italy — John Winsor Ives, 56, secretary general of the American Chamber of Commerce for Italy, died here Thursday after a brief illness. A native of Elizabeth, Ill., Ives served as commercial attaché to the U.S. Embassies in Lisbon, Guatemala City, and Rome before taking the Chamber of Commerce job in 1953.

O. G. (DAD) Tyrer, who died Dec. 31 at the age of 87 years and eight months, was a well-loved member of this community, where he and Mrs. Tyrer had made their home for the past 58 years.

Both of them were great lovers of children, and the "small fry" of the town were always welcome in their home, where "Ma" Tyrer never failed to have ready a hand-out of candy, cookies or fruit. "Dad" Tyrer was never too busy to visit with them and listen to their stories.

Even though health and eve-sight began failing them several years ago, they continued to keep up their place, and to be good neighbors to anyone who might need them. Dad Tyrer will be greatly missed by all in the community, young and old alike, and those in between.

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a woman's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Bernice F.—Can't an ordinary girl become a doctor? Mrs. E. F.—She can't make the grade.

Bernice F.—I am a 16-year-old girl with a very high ambition. I want to be a doctor. My parents and a lot of my friends make fun of me for this because they say I am not smart enough. I'm just about average in school. In spite of the fact that everyone tries to discourage me, I find I can't give up this ambition. I see all the movies and read all the books about doctors and scientific research. I dream all the time about walking around a hospital with a stethoscope in my pocket.

Is it really true that there is no chance for an ordinary girl to become a doctor? If so, how can I give up this dream which means so much to me?

Mrs. E. F.—It worries me very much to see Bernice so set on something she can't succeed in. She seems to take no interest in parties, boys and other things girls of her age care about. She only wants to read and talk about being a doctor. It's a regular obsession with her.

I have spoken to one of Bernice's teachers and she tells me that Bernice is not very quick to grasp things in class and seems to always be dreaming. I have tried to explain that you have to be outstanding to get into medical school. Besides, we don't have the money to support her through medical studies.

I've tried to get Bernice interested in nursing, but it doesn't take.

The Council:—Mrs. E. F. is wrong to so flatly discourage her daughter and to point out her shortcomings. This makes Bernice increasingly anxious and robbing her of her living quarters into cell blocks.

Youth Has Hospital For Wounded Ducks

Lincoln, Calif.—A local youth runs what he believes to be the nation's only hospital for wounded ducks.

Albert Cardoso explained that he searches for birds which are hurt, but not killed, by hunters. When he finds them, he takes them home and nurses them back to health.

Cardosa has collected 20 ducks and three geese. All, he said, are free to leave if they want to, but to date none of the birds has forsaken the comfort of Cardoso's backyard for the dangers of the hunter-filled outside world.

STILL THE BOSS—A New Year's Day revolt against the government of Venezuelan President Marcos Perez Jimenez (above) has been crushed according to an announcement from Caracas. The uprising was centered at a major military base at Maracay, 50 miles southwest of the capital city.

SHERIFF STAYS Paw Paw, Mich. — Van Buren County Sheriff Fred Roper admits the county jail is overcrowded but he's glad state inspectors rejected a plan to ease the condition. The county board of supervisors had suggested evicting Roper and converting his living quarters into cell blocks.
