

Six Night Club Acts To Accompany Globetrotters In January 17 Show Here

Six of the top acts from the night clubs of America will accompany the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team when they make their annual Medford visit, at Hedrick Junior high school gym on Friday night, Jan. 17. Game time is eight o'clock.

Included will be Mike Pickering, trampoliner and juggler star from the Midwest; the Farios unit, hand-balance specialists from Cuba; Jacques Cordon, unicyclist from Brussels, Belgium, and Ray Wilbert, said to be the world's foremost hoop manipulator, from Niagara Falls, N.Y. Altogether, the evening's entertainment is designed to last two hours and 20 minutes, it was stated.

The Globetrotters will go against the Washington, D.C., Generals in the basketball feature.

The Generals will bring an aggregation of top professional stars gathered from colleges throughout the country and have been giving the Trotters plenty of trouble on their current tour.

Tickets are on sale at Lampert's sporting goods store in Medford. There are no reserved seats but advance purchase of tickets may eliminate the possibility of fans having to stand in line at the box office, which will open at 6 p.m.

Girl Who Didn't Like Presley Clubbed With Bat

Redwood City, Calif.—(AP)—Carol Taylor, 15, Redwood City, was in critical condition at Sequoia Hospital here today after being clubbed with a baseball bat by a 15-year-old boy in an argument over Elvis Presley.

The boy, Cordie Lee Pendleton, gave himself up Thursday after running away "to try to think things out."

Cordie and his brother, Robert, 11, had been living with the girl's family as foster children. Mr. Taylor is executive secretary of the San Mateo County chapter of the American Red Cross.

Fought All the Time
San Mateo County authorities said Cordie told them that he beat Carol up because she didn't like Elvis Presley. "We fought all the time," Cordie said. "This time it was about Elvis. She didn't like him. She didn't think he was any good."

He said he began hitting Carol with the bat shortly after she called Elvis "just a stupid Okie."

"She just thinks she's better than I am because she has her real parents," Cordie said. "Every time we have fights she tries to run me off."

Going To Shoot Self
Cordie said he picked up a 25-20 rifle at a neighbor's home and walked away after the beating. "I went up to the hill and tried to think things out," he said. "I wanted to figure out what to do. I was going to shoot myself."

Cordie said he then decided to give himself up to the Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

Mrs. Taylor said her daughter and Cordie had often quarreled "but it didn't appear to be serious. The children didn't like each other too well, but it was nothing out of the ordinary."

Hospital authorities said the beating had driven pieces of bone into the girl's brain.

Court Dismisses Stumbo Action

Roseburg — (AP) — A case against Robert Stumbo, spokesman for the Stumbo clan of the Wolf Creek area, was dismissed Thursday on motion of District Attorney Avery Thompson.

A complaint had been filed by the Southern Douglas County Highway Association charging Stumbo had subdivided land before a plat had been recorded. The case involved one lot of two square inches.

Thompson had asked for postponement of the trial but Judge Warren Woodruff refused, whereby the district attorney moved for dismissal.

The Stumbo clan had divided a 26-foot strip of relocated Highway 99 into tiny lots which they put up for sale for $2 each. They claimed the Highway Commission did not have legal title to the land. The sale was halted by a condemnation suit which is scheduled to come up in Circuit Court next month.

ISRAELITES SENTENCED
Jerusalem, Israel — (AP) — A Tel Aviv court has sentenced three Israelites to life imprisonment in the slaying of Dr. Rudolf Kastner, former chairman of the Jewish Rescue Committee in Nazi-occupied Budapest. Sentenced Tuesday for the March 3, 1956 slaying were Joseph Menkes, Zeev Eskstein and Dan Sherner.

Earlier the court had branded Kastner as a man "who sold his soul to the devil" by cooperating with the Nazis in the extermination of Jews in Hungary during World War II.

Wilt Still Holds Lead In Scoring

New York — (AP) — Catching Wilt Chamberlain of Kansas in major college basketball's individual scoring race is like trying to outjump him to grab a rebound.

The seven-foot Kansas star hasn't played since Dec. 30 because of a groin ailment but remains the No. 1 scorer with 322 points in 10 games for a 32.2-point average.

The NCAA, which bases the standings on average points per game, included games of Jan. 7 in its latest statistics.

Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati's six-foot, five-inch sophomore, was runnerup to Chamberlain with 297 points in 10 games for a 29.7-point average.

Don Hennon, Pittsburgh's five-foot, nine-inch guard, was third with a 27.4-point average. Leo Byrd of Marshall W. Va. was fourth at 26.8 and Bailey Howell of Mississippi State rounded out the top five at 26.6.

Crothwaite Accurate
Ralph Crothwaite of Western Kentucky led in field goal accuracy. He sank 77 of 121 shots for 63.6 percentage.

Arlen Clark of Oklahoma State was second with 36 of 61 for 59.0.

Kenny Sidwell of Tennessee Tech led in free throw accuracy, sinking 40 of 44 for a 90.9 mark. Clark was runnerup, sinking 43 of 49 for 87.8.

Alex Bo Ellis, six-foot, five-inch Niagara star, topped the rebounders. He grabbed 199 of the 769 available in his games for a percentage of 25.9.

Al Inniss of St. Francis, N.Y., was second with 118 recoveries out of 458 for .258.

Hunt for Missing Boy Called Off

International Falls, Minn.—Authorities called off an international search for a missing 5-year-old boy Thursday night and theorized the youth was either dead in the frozen brush or abducted.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents stood by in case local authorities seek their aid in probing the kidnap possibility.

"I don't know where to look next," Sheriff Ed Anderson said after a two-day search by more than 1,500 American and Canadian volunteers through the rugged border country failed to turn up a definite trace of the boy.

The youth, Danny Lamont, disappeared Wednesday shortly after he was put in his back yard to play. Danny's grief-stricken parents could not explain his disappearance.

Gangland Killer Dies in Sing Sing

Ossining, N. Y.—(AP)—Gangland killer Elmer (Trigger) Budke died in the Sing Sing electric chair Thursday night with a nervous smile on his lips and uncounted underworld secrets hidden in his heart.

Burke, who drew top rubout assignments in his 40-year life of crime, was executed for murdering his best friend, Ed (Poochie) Walsh, a longshoreman who made the fatal error of disagreeing with him in 1952.

Killer, thief, prison breaker and decorated soldier, Burke entered the green-walled death chamber at 11:01 p.m. (e.s.t.).

Officials put him to death reluctantly. They had offered him his life if he would tell what he knew about waterfront killings in New York, the million-dollar Brinks robbery in Boston, and other underworld activities.

Candidate, 90, Wins City Council Post
Portland, Me.—(AP)—William H. O'Brien, 90, said he knew all along he "was going to win" his fourth term as a councilman from the Munjoy Hill district.

The nation's oldest city councilman said he didn't "have any trouble defeating two much younger candidates."

O'Brien added that he will continue to run for councilman as long as his health is good.

"I've nothing else to do so I might as well be a councilman," he said.

The cigar-puffing, happy-go-lucky O'Brien ran for 11 straight years before being elected to the post in 1948. Since then he has been re-elected to three three-year terms.

O'Brien, who still likes a good horse race or boxing match, was a clerk with the U. S. Bureau of Marine and Navigation Inspection for 43 years before he retired.

Two Dances Are Set at YMCA This Week End

Two teenage dances will be held at the Young Men's Christian association this week end, according to Herb Partridge, youth director.

Charlene Francis and Nancy Maxson are chairmen of a Junior high school dance starting at 8:30 p.m. today. A senior high school dance, "Teen's Against Folio", is scheduled at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 11, for high school students.

All proceeds will go to the polio fund, according to the senior class of the high school, which is sponsoring the dance.

Death of Mice In Spring Seen

Bend — (AP) — Donald A. Spencer, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service biologist, predicted Thursday that Oregon's infestation of mice would die off naturally early next spring.

Spencer spoke here at a five-county meeting to discuss plans to meet the rodent threat.

He said the huge mice population was part of a cycle phenomenon which occurs about every four years. Good summer weather in Oregon resulted in an unusually large number of mice, he said.

A special committee was appointed to meet with the State Emergency Board next month to seek $84,000 to purchase poison and grain to kill off mice colonies.

J. Ralph Beck, assistant director of the Oregon State college extension service, said steps should be taken immediately to destroy the mice if present crops were in danger. He said that if the die-off predicted for early spring is not significant poison should be spread before new crops are planted.

Representatives of Crook, Deschutes, Klamath, Jefferson and Lake counties attended.

Security Agency Sets Date for Interviews

Sfc. C. Beecroft will be in Medford Jan. 15 to talk with those interested in joining the Army's security agency, an organization concerned with communications security.

He will conduct interviews at the Army recruiting office in Medford post office building. Applicants will be offered schooling in languages, mathematics, physics, electronics and allied subjects, according to Beecroft.

Rosburg Nabs Lead In Crosby Tourney

Pebble Beach, Calif.—(AP)—Bobby Rosburg, a living putt for dough, took a two-stroke lead over a crack field Thursday in the $50,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur Golf tournament.

Rosburg, a 31-year-old pro playing out of Napa, Calif., used just 28 putts Thursday as he toured the Monterey Country Club in 65 strokes—seven under par—to take a two-shot margin over a pair of veterans, Tommy Bolt of Los Angeles and Bo Winger of Odessa, Tex.

Rosburg, a great believer in the power of positive thinking, believes every putt that he starts toward the cup should drop in. He had three 15-footers, one from 20 feet and another from 30 feet Thursday.

Unorthodox
The ex-Stanford athlete is noted as an unorthodox swinger and he still uses a baseball grip on his clubs.

But noon e can fault his putting. He three-putted the first hole. Then used only 25 putts on the last 17 holes. He was out in 33, back in 32 on a course that reads 35-37. He had one eagle plus six birdies.

Not only that, but Rosburg, with the help of golf writer Nelson Cullenward of San Francisco, was tied for the lead in the pro-amateur division with a best-ball of 61.

Pebble Beach, Calif.—(AP)—Eddie Hogan of Portland led Northwest golfers in the Bing Crosby tournament with a first round score of 70.

Chuck Congdon of Tacoma had a 71; Harold West, Longview, 73; Bunny Mason, Salem, 75; Joe Greet, Yakima, 76; Ed Oldfield, Roseburg, 78, and Joe Steiger, Spokane, 82.

J. Ralph Beck, assistant director of the Oregon State college extension service, said steps should be taken immediately to destroy the mice if present crops were in danger. He said that if the die-off predicted for early spring is not significant poison should be spread before new crops are planted.

Highway Crashes Take Three Lives

By UNITED PRESS
Three persons were killed Thursday night in two Oregon highway accidents. Two of them died in a two-car crash near The Dalles and another was killed west of Eugene.

Charles E. Webb, 51, and Charles E. Webb Jr., 22, both of Pullman, Wash., were killed in a head-on collision between Hood River and The Dalles on Highway 30.

John W. Hines, 41, Eugene, was killed when his car skidded on a road about 10 miles west of Eugene. He was thrown from the vehicle.

Four other persons were injured in the accident on Highway 30. They were Jimmy Lee White, 26, driver of one of the cars; Airman Williams, but the girls were Ponder Dale Rich, and his wife, Thelma, both of Hood River. White and Rich were treated and released while Mrs. Rich and the airman were hospitalized at The Dalles.

Portland — (AP) — Establishment of Fort Clatsop, Oregon, near Astoria, as a national memorial under jurisdiction of the National Park Service was recommended to Congress today by Hatfield Chilson, undersecretary of interior, the Interior Department here announced.

All proceeds will go to the polio fund, according to the senior class of the high school, which is sponsoring the dance.

Two Arrested on Assault Charges

James Michael Hughes, 36, of 802 West Jackson st., and Walter Scott McAlister, 54, of Camp White, were arrested by Medford police on charges of assault and robbery Thursday night after they admitted, in signed statements to police, taking about $30 from Charlie Payne, 66, of Camp White.

Police said McAlister asked Payne to go for a walk and when they passed the rear door of Otto's Tavern, 39 South Front st., Hughes struck Payne on the back of the head with a sock filled with rocks.

Payne was taken to Rogue Valley hospital by police. He was treated for head cuts and released, police said.

Elaine Soule Loses Composure During Testimony

Redwood City, Calif.—(AP)—Suzanne Elaine Soule lost her careful grip on her composure Thursday when the mother of her slain roommate took the stand in her murder trial.

Miss Soule, 20, a typist from Freeport, N. Y., is accused of murdering Catherine Marie Elvins, 19, daughter of a prominent Seattle physician, last July 24.

Miss Elvins' mother, Mrs. Naomi Elvins, took the stand to testify as a prosecution witness. She focused her gaze upon Miss Soule so intently that attorneys had to repeat questions for her. She referred to Miss Soule only once by name. The rest of the time she was "the defendant."

Visit Described
Mrs. Elvins told how she and her husband, Dr. Richard E. Elvins, came to California from Seattle last May to visit their daughter. At the time Catherine was sharing an apartment in Burlingame with Miss Soule. It was the same apartment in which she was killed.

Mrs. Elvins said she, her husband and their daughter were planning to visit a relative in San Francisco on that particular May day. She said Catherine put on a new tweed suit for the occasion.

"The defendant said, 'Oh, I have a blouse that would look good with your suit.' Catherine said, 'I have lots of blouses.' But the defendant insisted."

"And while Catherine was getting dressed, the defendant wrapped a birthday package that Catherine was going to deliver to a cousin. She did many things like that..."

Dabs at Eyes
When District Attorney Keith Sorenson asked her the circumstances in which she identified her daughter's body, Mrs. Elvins dabbed at her eyes with a white handkerchief.

The defense did not ask her any questions.

When Mrs. Elvins left the stand, tears formed in Miss Soule's eyes and dripped down her cheeks. A sheriff's matron slipped her a handkerchief and Superior Judge Frank B. Blum called for a 10-minute recess.

Earlier, Dr. Elvins testified that his daughter and Miss Soule enjoyed an apparently "harmonious relationship" when he saw them in May.

He took a seat in the back of the courtroom as Dr. John E. Rosander, a pathologist who performed the autopsy, began his testimony. He said Miss Elvins suffered 31 head wounds believed inflicted with an electric iron and 20 stab wounds in the chest.
