

JACKSONVILLE New Residents Arrive

By BETTE HOSKINS
Jacksonville — New residents at the home of Mrs. Fred Walther are her daughter-in-law and two grandchildren of Melbourne, Australia, Mrs. Elva Pettit and daughters, Rocky and Michelle. They arrived in the states by ship and have been with Mrs. Walther for the past two weeks.

Lyle Pettit, Mrs. Walther's son, will arrive in San Francisco Monday where Mrs. Pettit will meet him. The Pettits have lived in Australia for eight years where Pettit worked as a library technician.

They plan to make their home here indefinitely and Rocky has entered first grade at Jacksonville grade school.

Mrs. Grace Gwin reports that her 4-year-old granddaughter, Sherry Fraser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Fraser, formerly of Ashland, was able to spend Christmas day visiting her parents at their home in Portland and that she got out of bed on New Year's day and took her first steps in nine months. Sherry has been in the Good Samaritan hospital in Portland since last April when she was badly burned in a home accident. She has had numerous skin grafts and still has several months stay in the hospital and more operations before she can be released. Her parents are now living in Portland to be near her. Her mother is the former Joan Gwin.

Mrs. Earl Wall is recovering in the Rogue Valley hospital after being injured in a one-car accident on Dec. 20. Her injuries include a broken right arm. She is able and anxious to have visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Green have announced the birth of a son Dec. 29. The baby has been named Lee Noble. Mrs. Green's mother, Mrs. Lois Beeson, is returning to Lakeview this week after being a guest at their home since the birth of the baby.

Mrs. Maude Tarter of Jacksonville has moved into the Johnson's apartment at 103 N. 5th st.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gepford of Angwin, Calif., were recent overnight guests at the J. E. Johnson home. They were en route to Centralia, Wash., where they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Johnson spent the recent holidays in Menlo Park, Calif., visiting at the home of their daughter.

Holiday guests at the home of Mrs. Frank Mitchell Jr., were her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bogard, and children, Glenda, Barbara, and Vincent; her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. McKenzie, and children Judy and Vernon-Dale, of Princeton, Ore., and another brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Bush of Trail, Ore.

New Year's eve dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wall were her granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Crenshaw, of Klamath Falls, and Mrs. Wall's son and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stevens of Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mauroni and family of Brookings were holiday visitors at the Fred Edges home. The Mauronis are former residents here.

The Rev. Robert Bridge of the Jacksonville Presbyterian church left for Texas recently on a combined business and vacation trip. He plans to visit his son and family while there.

The Women's Association of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. John Niedermeyer on Tuesday, Jan. 14, at 1 p.m.

George Edens of Chicago, Ill., is expected to arrive Jan. 17 for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Sara Edens and other relatives. Mrs. Edens also reported she has sold the old family home to the Jacksonville Assembly of God church. Mrs. Edens is now residing in a small new cottage behind the Fred Edens home on North Fifth st.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Rambo of Plush, Oregon, have been visitors several days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hazen.

The Jacksonville Lions club will sponsor two members of the seven representatives to be sent from Jacksonville High school to the International Relations League convention at the University of Oregon at Eugene in February. The students who will attend will be picked by a point system and their names announced at a banquet to be held in February. Forty-nine high schools in Oregon participate in the event, those participating from southern Oregon include Jacksonville, Medford, Grants Pass and Myrtle Point.

Another new home being built in Jacksonville is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hooks of Medford. It will be a split level type and is located just below the recently completed home of the Bud Reinkings.

CENTRAL POINT Unit Project Announced

By DORIS HUGHES
Central Point—Cake decorating will be the project for study at the next meeting of the Central Point Home Extension unit. The group will meet Wednesday, Jan. 15, at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Hazel De Garmo on Central Point Market rd.

Mrs. C. W. Anhorn will give a cake decorating demonstration. The ladies will also have a "white-elf" auction sale. Child care will be available at the home of Mrs. Eunice Jones, 235 Laurel st., Central Point. Mrs. Arthur Straus is chairman of the Central Point Home Extension unit.

A meeting of the agriculture advisory council was held in the vocational agriculture room at Crater High school Jan. 8. Dan Bohnert, chairman, presided.

Other members present were Claud Ullom, John E. Morris, C. W. Anhorn, Elwood Abbott and Ray Vogel. Also attending were W. H. MacFarlane and Ed Griggs, agriculture teachers.

The council made final preparations for the two winter term courses being offered at Crater High school for Jackson county farmers. Both classes will begin next week.

A class in weed and insect sprays will begin Monday night, Jan. 13, at 8 p. m. The class is open to anyone who is interested. Registration for the following nine meetings may be made by contacting the agriculture teachers. Ten classes instructed by Mel Burnett in advanced farm welding will begin Thursday night, Jan. 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Vick Noel left Central Point Sunday morning for a trailer trip vacation. They spent Sunday night in Reno and Monday night in Las Vegas. From there the Noels plan a trip to Sarasota, Fla., where they will visit Noel's sister. On Jan. 22, the Noel's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mekvold of Central Point, will fly to Sarasota to join the

The Family Council

Editor's note: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor and two writers. Each article is a summary of an actual report. The Family Council does not give advice; it merely reports on problems that have been dealt with by responsible agencies and counselors.

Mrs. R. F.—Lydia should marry the younger man.
Lydia F.—He certainly isn't a big hero.

Mrs. R. F.—My daughter is a successful career girl and I suppose it has gone to her head a bit. No man is good enough for her. Few make a salary as good as hers.

Now Lydia is past 30 and it's been a long time since any matrimonial prospects have come into sight. Recently, however, a young man of 25 came to work for her office under her direct supervision. They struck up a friendship and went out together casually a few times.

The young man is nice-looking and I think he has a good future ahead of him. I don't think age should make so much difference. I tell Lydia it's time to get off her high horse and get down to earth. How many more chances can she expect?

Lydia F.—I am really very mixed up. I know what mother says is true. It's time to take action, yet there seems to be so many disadvantages to this match.

Not only is Fred more than five years my junior, but he is just starting out in a career in which I have been established since I was his age. I have often thought I would die of embarrassment if we met any of our business associates when we were out together.

Then, Fred is so different from what I imagined a husband of mine would be like.

I always pictured a strong, successful man. Fred is very sweet and attentive and good-natured, but he certainly isn't the big hero type of man. I wonder whether I could be happy with just a nice boy.

The Council: One thing we can be pretty definite about is this—Lydia can't marry Fred if it would cause her to die of embarrassment to be seen in his company.

The question of whether or not Lydia ought to die of embarrassment is another matter.

Lydia's statement of her doubts indicates that she is too hemmed in by preconceptions. She has not only a fairly definite dream picture of the man she wants to marry, but definite ideas about what others think. It probably has not occurred to her that some of her business associates might be happy to know she is interested in a "sweet, attentive, good-natured" young man.

We don't think Lydia's dilemma is the result of her success in her career, but rather of a personal failure. She lacks faith in her own judgment and is, therefore, afraid to open herself to the new and unexpected in experience and, possibly, to the unconventional in conduct.

What to do about Fred? Get to know him—without a feeling of shame, Lydia. You are doing nothing illegal or illicit.

PHOENIX Luncheon Meeting Held

By LILLIAN KNIGHT
Phoenix — Phoenix Thimble club met Jan. 3 at the home of Mrs. Walker Caldwell for a covered dish luncheon and business meeting.

Election of officers for the ensuing year was held. Elected as chairman was Mrs. Walker Caldwell; vice chairman, Mrs. Delbert Cook; secretary, Mrs. James Overturf, and treasurer, Mrs. George Drake. The finance committee is Mrs. Lillian Coleman, Mrs. Guy Cobleigh and Mrs. Enid Caster. The new officers will be installed at the February meeting.

Spending a week visiting relatives and friends in Los Angeles and San Francisco recently were Mrs. Osa Waggoner, Mrs. Lois Morris and her two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Steele and their daughter, Arleta, of North Bend. They also went to Disneyland and Knotts berry farm and while visiting in Compton, Mrs. Robert Ford, the former Roberta Martin, who is a graduate of Phoenix High school, came from Anaheim to see them.

In Los Angeles Mrs. Morris became ill and they left her in the hospital there. Last reports say that she is recovering rapidly and will be home by plane in a few days.

Roberta Lynn is the name chosen for the new daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mix.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blocker have returned to their home in Joliet, Mont., after spending about ten days visiting with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mitchell.

D. P. Foxworthy is recovering rapidly from the stroke he suffered a while back. He and Mrs. Foxworthy spent the Christmas holidays with their son and family in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Popow have named their new baby Michael Patrick. He was born Jan. 9 and weighed seven pounds 12 ounces.

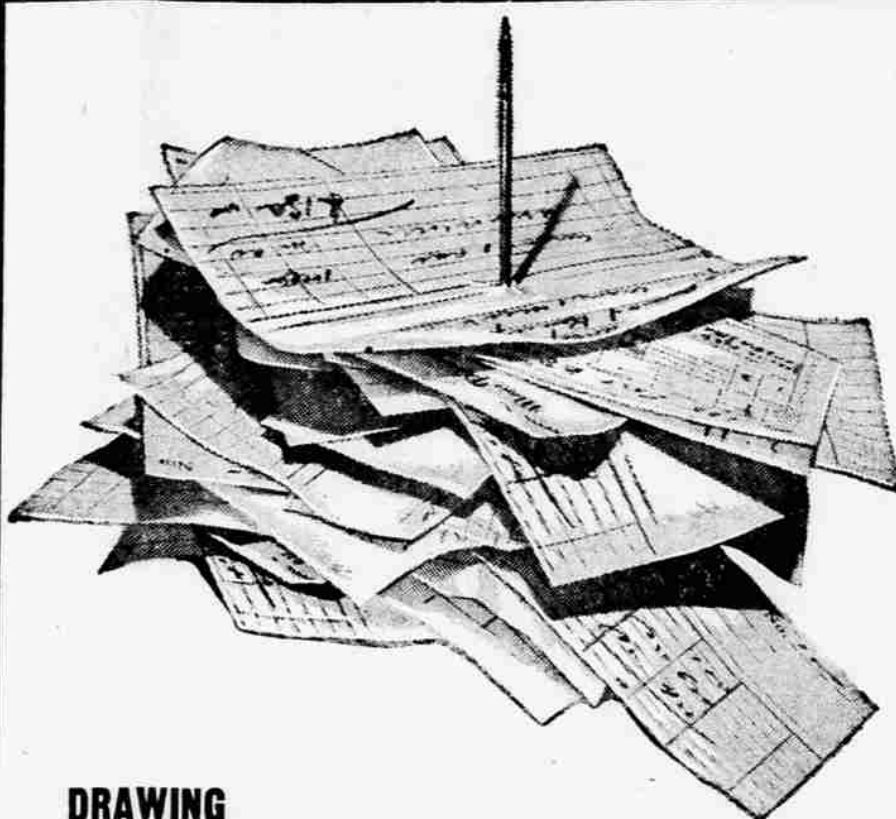

Sacrifices Needed Neuberger Says

Waltham, Mass.—Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) says sacrifices called for in President Eisenhower's state of the union message "seem to be limited largely to cutting out the federal program of pollution control."

Neuberger told a Brandeis university audience he agreed with the general aims outlined in the President's message but wished he had called for "a really dedicated national effort and general sacrifices in this general emergency."

"Churchill, in an emergency quite as dire," Neuberger said, "promised his countrymen only 'blood, toil, sweat and tears.' The sacrifices he (Eisenhower) called for," Neuberger added, "seem to be limited largely to cutting out the federal program of pollution control. I think he ought to ask reimposition of the excess profits tax, suspended in 1953 and enactment of standby wage, price and profit controls."

"We should increase taxes, plug tax loopholes, repeal the 1954 dividend bonanza, and end the depletion write-offs, that let much of the gas and oil industry go tax-free."
