

South Eugene Axemen Quintet Sweeps Series With Tornado

South Eugene high's hard running Purple Axemen, fast breaking, passing sharply and surely and defending tenaciously, blazed their reputed maplecourt power here Saturday night by slicing a scrappy Medford Black Tornado 67 to 45 in a non-conference ruckus.

The Choppers from the Willamette valley had their offensive and defensive weapons even more sharply honed than on Friday when they subdued the Tornado hoopsmen 52 to 42. Scoring punch by big all-stater Charlie Warren, John Polhemus and Tom Jones, the strong under-the-backboards play of Warren and the sick ball handling and hawking of Rick Cerkoney, Polhemus, Jones and Nield Goldschmidt were the elements of victory.

Medford, despite the wider deficit, appeared a generally smoother operating club than on Friday. The Tornadoes led in the early moments and matched stride with the Axemen in the opening quarter but South Eugene pulled steadily away over the next two periods.

Frohnmayr Gets Eight

First panel score was 13 to 12 in Eugene favor. Medford tabulated only eight counters in the second quarter, all by sophomore reserve forward John Frohnmayr, who was elevated from the jayvees last week. The Axemen, in the meantime, put in 21 and at halftime were in front 34 to 20. Tornado players collected another eight in the third period while South ran up 15 for 49 to 28 command. Widest Eugene lead in the fracas was 22 points.

Warren, who was given a rugged time again on the floor and who was the object of some unsportsmanlike woe treatment from fans, was high point man again with 26 tallies on 11 field goals and four free shoots. He was also top scrambler under the boards with 19 rebounds. The all-stater picked up his goals on a variety of shots. He tallied from rebounds and tips and from recoveries under the hoop and from hooks and jumps and received fine assistance from his mates.

Polhemus was second high scorer of the evening with 13 points. Tom Hamlin of Medford and Jones each had five field goals and a free shot for 11 markers.

Jerry Anderson was the main Medford rebounder with nine snares and Hamlin had seven.

SE Tops Rebounding

South Eugene headed the full game rebounding by six, 39 to 33. The Tornado had a better field goaling mark with .391 on 18 for 46. But the Axemen made up for it volume and their average was close. They had 25 for 65 tries for .385.

Medford took a 3-0 lead at the start on Hamlin's jumper and Dean's free toss. Warren picked up a point for Eugene but Anderson made it 4 to 1. Jones dumped in a rebounder for the visitors and Dean hit from the corner for Medford. A Warren jumper brought the count to 6 to 5 favoring Medford.

Bilbee Lane netted a close on Hamlin's feed but Polhemus hit a long one-hander and a side jumper for Eugene's first lead at 9 to 8. Anderson put Medford back on top with a long jumper but Warren sank a mid-range bucket for 11 to 10 and the Axemen were ahead for keeps.

The Axemen for the second night utilized their quickness and slick-handness to break up the Tornado offense and get their own attack going.

Medford junior varsity overpowered Eagle Point jayvee 52 to 18 in the prelim, tallying 26 markers to nine by the Eagles in each half.

Troy Batters Oregon In Coast Loop Fray

By GENE BRYANT
United Press Sports Writer

With the powerful University of San Francisco Dons staging another runaway in the West Coast Athletic conference basketball race, basketball fans focused their attention today on what looks to be a wide open scramble in the PCC title race.

Oregon State, 10th-ranked nationally, is leading the pack with a 2-0 record and still rates the nod as the squad most likely to succeed. But California, UCLA and Southern California figure to give the Beavers a run-for-the-money.

And Idaho and Oregon, although both are two-time losers already, can give anybody trouble on a given night.

Over in the WCAC, however, there was little doubt as to the outcome of that race. Coach Phil Woolpert's Hilltoppers are off and running with a 3-0 mark and it looks like it may be another undefeated conference season for the 4th-ranked Dons.

A full round of games were played in the PCC Saturday night as the California clubs took three out of four from the visiting Northwest schools.

UCLA dumped Idaho, 64-56, while Southern California battered Oregon, 73-52, in a double-header at Los Angeles' Pan-Pacific Auditorium. Further north, California took a 47-32 victory over Washington State at Berkeley and Washington entered the conference win column with a 60-54 decision over Stanford at Palo Alto.

In a single game played Sunday, Eugene Baylor poured through 48 points to lead Seattle to a 97-75 route over Portland at Vancouver, Wash. Baylor connected on 19 field goals as the Chieftains took their second straight from the Pilots.

San Jose State buried Pepperdine, 92-61, and Santa Clara rallied in the second half to down Loyola, 58-52, in the only WCAC contests played Saturday.

The Trojans hit a blazing 52 per cent of their shots from the floor for their win over Oregon while the Bruins effectively slowed down ace Idaho Guard Gary Simmons for their victory over the Vandals.

California's Bears hit only 27 per cent of their field goal attempts but still outshot the Cougars for their easy win at Berkeley. Washington saved the day for the Northwest squads as center Doug Smart scored 19 points to lead the Huskies to their win over Stanford.

Other major games played Saturday saw San Diego State upset Arizona, 83-76. Gonzaga trounce Whitworth, 80-63, and Idaho State dump Colorado College, 88-52.

Only two contests are scheduled on the coast tonight. Eastern Washington will host Gonzaga while Santa Clara will visit Chico State.

Willamette Keeps Lead

By UNITED PRESS

Willamette university remained undefeated after posting its third Northwest Conference victory with a 76-59 decision over Whitman Saturday and loomed as the No. 1 contender for the conference basketball crown. The Beavers defeated the Whits Friday, 83-59. Lewis and Clark whipped Pacific, 72-67, Saturday for second place in the conference. In the other Saturday game, third place Linfield handed College of Idaho its third loss of the season, 57-53.

West Thumps East 26-7 In Pro Bowl

Los Angeles—Big, good natured George Wilson was one up on his former boss—Buddy Parker—today after his West team scored an almost ridiculously easy 26 to 7 victory over the East in the eighth annual Pro-Bowl game Sunday.

The West's win before a Pro-Bowl record crowd of 66,634 came less than 48 hours after Wilson and Parker sounded hearts and flowers to each other in a feud which began when Parker quit as Detroit head coach in a huff, and Wilson, his assistant, was named to replace him.

Most Fish Regulations Stay Same

Portland—New tentative fishing regulations published by the state game commission here leave most Oregon fishing season dates unchanged from last year except on the coast where a late May 24 trout opener was proposed.

The Commission also suggested a 22-inch length limit for ocean-caught salmon and a new policy of stream management for the Willamette river.

In all other fishing zones, trout season would open April 16 and close Oct. 31. High lakes season in the Cascades would run from May 24 to Oct. 5. The May 24 date for the coast would apply only to coastal streams. Coast lakes would open April 26.

Bag limits would remain the same as in 1957 except in zones 7, 8 and 9—north-east and southeast portions of the state. In those areas, the "not more than 5 trout over 12 inches" rule would be dropped in favor of a straight 10 fish over 6 inches bag limit.

The Commission decided to invoke the 22-inch length limit on coastal salmon from Tillamook head north during the period July 1 to October 31. It said the ocean off the mouth of the Columbia is a feeding area for immature silver and chinook salmon. Puget Island bridge was designated as the downstream boundary for the special summer jack salmon bag limit on the Columbia.

Fishing would be permitted in the old Diamond lake outlet closure area after July 15.

Final angling regulations for 1958 will be set after the Game Commission holds a hearing Jan. 24 on the tentative rules.

Bill Casper Victor In Bing Crosby Golf

Pebble Beach, Calif.—The man to beat on the 1958 golf trail is obvious to the touring golfers these days; fat Bill Casper, the roly-poly pro with the golden touch in his putting fingers.

The ex-San Diego sailor, now playing out of Apple Valley, Calif., today headed for the $17,500 Tijuana Open, starting Friday, holding these titles:

1—The Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur singles crown worth $4,000.

2—The leading money-winner of the short 1958 season, $7,700.

3—Second place in the Crosby Pro-Amateur division worth $1,500.

With such a start the other pros on the tour are eyeing suspiciously the good-natured laq from the South.

Casper won $27,000 in official winnings last year; collected another $12,500 in a special TV competition, where he won six consecutive matches; plus a certain amount for endorsements, etc.

This one he did the hard way. He was trailing front-running Bobby Rosburg by five strokes at the end of the first 36 holes played at Cypress Point and Monterey Country club. The next 36 were to be played on one of the world's toughest courses: Pebble Beach, where it is rough to make up ground.

But in the third round Billy shot a very fine three-under-par 69 to pull into a tie with Rosburg, who took 74. The two were paired in the final round and Casper easily proved the master.

Klamath Falls, Grants Pass Win League Frays

Klamath Falls barely scored a shorter but persistent Ashland high basketball quintet to maintain its undefeated lead in the Southern Oregon conference Saturday night while Grants Pass edged Crater to gain a percentage tie with the Comets in the loop standings.

The Pelicans of Klamath were forced into overtime to nose out Ashland 55 to 54 while Grants Pass outlasted Crater 38 to 35.

Klamath is unbeaten in four games. Crater's 2-2 record and the GP Cavemen's 1-1 standing gives the two clubs each .500 in the average column. The Pels beat Ashland 46 to 34. Grants Pass lost to the Comets 42 to 40 on Friday and earned a series split with the other week end hassle.

Score at the end of the regular playing time at Ashland Saturday was 49 to 49. Don DeLap put in two field goals and Smiley Herrera a free shot in the overtime for the Pelican nod. After DeLap made his second field goal on a swipe, Jim Daniels of Ashland knotted the game with a steal but he fouled Herrera, bumping into him as he came back down court. Herrera, with seconds remaining, made his first shot but missed the bonus.

Move Well In Third

The Grizzlies, who have lapsed in the third quarter in previous games, moved well in that period against the Pelicans. That enabled them to rise from a 24 to 18 midway deficit to a 37 to 34 lead at the third intermission. Ashland boosted its edge to 42 to 38 in the fourth quarter but Klamath caught up at 45-all and knotted play at 47-each. The Grizzlies went back on top 49 to 47 but Bob Niles' bucket with seconds left in regular playing time sent the ruckus into the extra session.

Klamath headed 14 to 3 at the first quarter halt and was in the lead 22 to 8 during the second panel.

Klamath's 6-8 Glenn Moore fouled out in the fourth canto but was high scorer with 20 points.

For the second night Ashland outshot Klamath from the field with 23 goals to the Pels' 21 but KF had a 13 to eight margin in free heaves.

Free Goals Pad

Grants Pass was on top of Crater only 36 to 35 with a minute and some seconds to play but Kerman Bennett of the Comets fouled Charles Rembert who made both his shots with some seven seconds to play. Wayne Allen and Randy Campbell each fired Crater shots before the final buzzer but they were in-and-outers.

No more than seven points separated the clubs. Grants Pass took a 12 to 5 margin in the second quarter. Period counts all favored GP 7 to 4, 17 to 15 and 28 to 25. Crater had a lead of 21 to 20 in the third panel on a long set shot by Allen and 30 to 29 in the fourth when Allen made two free tosses.

Bill Casper Victor In Bing Crosby Golf

Pebble Beach, Calif.—The man to beat on the 1958 golf trail is obvious to the touring golfers these days; fat Bill Casper, the roly-poly pro with the golden touch in his putting fingers.

The ex-San Diego sailor, now playing out of Apple Valley, Calif., today headed for the $17,500 Tijuana Open, starting Friday, holding these titles:

1—The Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur singles crown worth $4,000.

2—The leading money-winner of the short 1958 season, $7,700.

3—Second place in the Crosby Pro-Amateur division worth $1,500.

With such a start the other pros on the tour are eyeing suspiciously the good-natured laq from the South.

Casper won $27,000 in official winnings last year; collected another $12,500 in a special TV competition, where he won six consecutive matches; plus a certain amount for endorsements, etc.

This one he did the hard way. He was trailing front-running Bobby Rosburg by five strokes at the end of the first 36 holes played at Cypress Point and Monterey Country club. The next 36 were to be played on one of the world's toughest courses: Pebble Beach, where it is rough to make up ground.

But in the third round Billy shot a very fine three-under-par 69 to pull into a tie with Rosburg, who took 74. The two were paired in the final round and Casper easily proved the master.
