

Wheelerettes to Present Award for Area Safe Driver

Miss Myrna Robertson has been named chairman of a Southern Oregon Wheelerettes committee to present a member of the Southern Oregon Timing association a safe driving and good will award.

The award will be given on the basis of the member's safe driving, attitude, self-control and the safe condition of the car. Members of various clubs, the Swifts, Road Knights and Wheelerettes, are eligible for the award, providing they have a plaque on their car bearing the name of the club.

The committee will nominate three association members as finalists. The names will be referred to the Medford police department, which will act as judges and check the car and report on finalists.

Miss Robertson said any resident of southern Oregon could nominate a member for the award. Nominations should include reasons why the person should or should not receive the award.

Committee members urged residents of the area who have comments, either good or bad, about association members to contact Claudia Cave, 711 South Holly st., Medford, SPing 3-4682; Darlene Clegg, 2235 Oakwood dr., Medford, SPing 2-2963; or the Southern Oregon Wheelerettes, 903 West 10th st., Medford.

The Southern Oregon Wheelerettes, an auxiliary of the timing association, was organized to promote good will and safe driving for all automobile clubs in southern Oregon.

Reuther Accuses GM President of Double Standard

Detroit — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther today accused General Motors President Harlow Curtice of applying a double standard in criticizing the UAW's proposed profit-sharing plan.

"For many years, General Motors has had a profit-sharing plan for executives which is the most lucrative plan in the history of free enterprise," Reuther said.

"We are somewhat at a loss to understand the kind of mental and moral gymnastics that are required to see nothing but good in a profit-sharing plan for executives and nothing but bad in the extension of this principle to workers and consumers."

George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., Tuesday became the latest auto firm head to attack the UAW proposal made on Monday. He called it a "subterfuge" and a "bludgeon" to force a big wage gain from the entire auto industry.

Said Romney, who heads one of America's "little two" car building firms, said Reuther's strategy has been to get giant GM to establish the size of wage and benefit package, and then force this "package" on the rest of the industry.

Reuther sent copies of his reply to Curtice's statement to the other members of the big three automakers — Ford Motor company and Chrysler Corp.

The labor leader's answer was to allegations by the big three that the UAW demands are extravagant, inflationary, "foreign to the concept of free enterprise," and will weaken public confidence.
