

Freezing Rain Adds To Woes in Northeast States

By UNITED PRESS
Sleet, freezing rain and snow today followed in the path of a winter storm that heaped up more than two feet of snow in New England.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported that snow continued to fall over the Northeast during the night and that 25 inches were on the ground at Rumford, Maine, at midnight.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reported that snow continued to fall over the Northeast during the night and that 25 inches were on the ground at Rumford, Maine, at midnight.

The broad storm area extended as far south as West Virginia and Northern Kentucky where light snowfall deposits were noted. Farther north the storm unleashed its full strength.

Meanwhile, the U. S. Weather Bureau in Washington issued its 30-day forecast, covering the period from mid-January to mid-February. Colder than usual temperatures were predicted for the eastern half of the nation, except for New England. The biggest drops were forecast for states bordering the Gulf of Mexico.

Fair West of Divide
Generally cooler temperatures prevailed today in the Lower Mississippi Valley, parts of the Northern Plains, the Great Lakes and the Ohio Valley.

Somewhat warmer weather occurred in most of the Plains region, and snow flurries were noted in North Dakota and the Upper Mississippi Valley.

There also was snow in the Northern Rockies, rain in the Pacific Northwest, and generally fair skies west of the Continental Divide.

Quake Levels Homes in Peru
Arequipa, Peru—Violent earthquakes Wednesday rocked a 375-mile strip of Peru's southern mountains, killing at least 21 persons and injuring 90, authorities here reported today.

Earth shocks were reported from the mountain city of Nazca in the north to villages in the Chilean border area of southern Peru.

The epicenter of the quake was at Mejia, a village about 60 miles southwest of Arequipa. Casualties and damage were especially heavy in this city, Peru's second largest.

Official sources reported 21 dead, but the toll is expected to mount as reports trickle in from areas isolated by the quakes.

Fully 70 per cent of the buildings in Arequipa suffered some damage, and many structures in the "white city" district, which predates the Spanish conquest, were reduced to dust and rubble.

The quake snarled telephone and power wires and ruptured water pipes, leaving Arequipa's 200,000 people without water at the height of the South American summer.

City authorities estimated that it will take three to five days to restore the regular water supply.

Thousands of Arequipans slept in the open Wednesday night despite the chill that falls even in summer at this city's altitude of nearly 8,000 feet above sea level. Some were afraid to sleep in their homes and others had no homes to sleep in.

'COLLABORATOR' JAILED
Berlin—An East German court in Dresden Wednesday sentenced Reiner Wagner to eight and one-half years in prison for "collaboration with the American Secret Service," the East German news agency reported. It said Wagner sold secret economic and military information from the Sachsen works in Niedersiedlitz to the Americans.

NEW COMMANDER DUE
Manila—Adm. Herbert C. Hopwood, commander-designate of the U. S. Pacific Fleet, will arrive here Monday from Washington to inspect U. S. Naval installations in the Philippines, the Navy announced today. Hopwood replaces Adm. Maurice Curtis as Pacific Fleet commander.

PLAZA HOTEL
"Shoppingly Located"
Broadway at Washington
In Down Town
PORTLAND

C. V. Cooley, Mgr.
For the Budget Travelers
★ Single With Bath $4.00
★ Low Double Rate
★ New Family Rate Plan

American Hotel Association
Credit Cards Honored

Wall Street Getting Variations From '56 Forecast Pattern

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor
New York—Wall Street which knows well the working of the old adage, "When the financial district is unanimous in anything, it usually is wrong" has been crying for some forecasts for some time.

On the other side of the picture is a statement by Peter L. Bernstein of the investment counseling firm of Bernstein-Macaulay, Inc., that "The spending urge by business men as well as consumers is over."

He sees continuation of the downturn through 1958 and he fails "to see any reason for potential buyers to bid up the prices of stocks, particularly the blue chips."

Further Evidence
He says there is further evidence that consumer spending may show less vitality in the near future.

Summing up, Bernstein said: "I have painted a picture of an economy with a great deal of slack, its various members a little too well fed, quite satiated, and a little tired. It's been a wonderful party, but we'd like to take a little time off and clear our heads. Perhaps our tastes are changing toward sobriety."

He concluded with the statement he'd be much more bearish and gloomy "if the Russians had not done us the good turn of dramatically making us aware of our responsibilities just at a time when—economically at least—we are most willing to assume them."

"It may be that thrift will become fashionable again, and with it we may have a higher level of moral values."

Larger Colleges Held Necessary
Portland—Francis Nickerson, executive secretary of the Oregon System of Higher Education, told Portland school directors and supervisors Wednesday that the size of state colleges and the university would have to be doubled in the next 10 years unless admissions are restricted.

Nickerson declared that "if the people of the state decide that all students are to be allowed to attend college, we must within the next decade double the size of every college and university campus."

He listed two alternatives: Admit high school graduates on a first come, first serve basis, or raise standards for college entrance.

He said "studies show that if a high school student has less than a C average, he has less than one chance in 100 of surviving more than 13 weeks in college." A C average standard was recently adopted by the state system for admissions.

Nickerson reported there had already been an increased interest on the part of students in academic subjects since the higher admission standard was adopted. School counselors also reported it gave them a stronger hand in student guidance.

Police Instructors Given 'Refresher'
Salem—A "refresher" course to State Police training instructors on how to handle persons under arrest was being given here today.

H. G. Maison, State Police superintendent, said the course for regional instructors was of a routine nature. However, he said it would stress precautions regarding handling of those stopped in cars on the highways.

Last week two escapees took two State Police cars in eastern Oregon before being captured east of Baker after a long chase.

Maison said only those officers who instruct troopers in their district were attending the refresher course.

SAKE BOOMS SALES
Yamagata, Japan—Business was booming today for cereal and charcoal wholesalers after they reverted to the pre-war custom of serving free sake to their customers.

Why settle for less?
enjoy the good taste of COKE

Drink Coca-Cola
SIGN OF GOOD TASTE

Bottled under authority of The Coca-Cola Company by Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Medford

PLAZA HOTEL
"Shoppingly Located"
Broadway at Washington
In Down Town
PORTLAND

C. V. Cooley, Mgr.
For the Budget Travelers
★ Single With Bath $4.00
★ Low Double Rate
★ New Family Rate Plan

American Hotel Association
Credit Cards Honored

Laborers Picket Aluminum Plant

The Dalles—Construction of the Harvey Aluminum Company plant here was halted today after picket lines were established by Laborers Local 1129 and Teamsters Local 883.

Pickets appeared at 8 a. m. and other workers did not cross the lines. The dispute apparently centered about the bringing in of outside men by Hale Incorporated to work as labor-

On the other side of the picture is a statement by Peter L. Bernstein of the investment counseling firm of Bernstein-Macaulay, Inc., that "The spending urge by business men as well as consumers is over."

He sees continuation of the downturn through 1958 and he fails "to see any reason for potential buyers to bid up the prices of stocks, particularly the blue chips."

Further Evidence
He says there is further evidence that consumer spending may show less vitality in the near future.

Summing up, Bernstein said: "I have painted a picture of an economy with a great deal of slack, its various members a little too well fed, quite satiated, and a little tired. It's been a wonderful party, but we'd like to take a little time off and clear our heads. Perhaps our tastes are changing toward sobriety."

He concluded with the statement he'd be much more bearish and gloomy "if the Russians had not done us the good turn of dramatically making us aware of our responsibilities just at a time when—economically at least—we are most willing to assume them."

"It may be that thrift will become fashionable again, and with it we may have a higher level of moral values."

Governor Race To Be Vigorous
Portland—Oregon was assured today of vigorous campaigns for both the Republican and Democratic nominations for governor in the May primary, which is only four months away.

All three members of the Board of Control will be in the race for the state's No. 1 executive position.

Secretary of State Mark Hatfield made it formal Wednesday that he is a candidate for Republican nomination for governor. On New Year's Eve, State Treasurer Sig Unander declared himself a Republican candidate.

Gov. Robert D. Holmes announced a year ago that he would seek reelection on the Democratic ticket.

The Board of Control, which administers the state's institutions, is made up of the governor, secretary of state and state treasurer, with the governor as chairman.

Former State Sen. Lew Wallace of Portland and Multnomah County Assessor Wiley Smith have announced intentions to seek the Democratic nomination.

Also reported considering a plunge into the gubernatorial race is State Sen. Howard Belton of Canby for the Republican nod.

SHOWING PIECES OF WHAT MAY BE the last remains of Sputnik I, Russian satellite, is John J. Dodd, who saw a flaming ball fall in Newfoundland. (International)

Thursday, January 16, 1958

MEDFORD (OREGON) MAIL TRIBUNE—THREE

Publisher's Mother Dies After Illness

Ashland—Mrs. William M. Dean, mother of Graham M. Dean, publisher of the Ashland Daily Tidings, died in Lake View, Ia., Tuesday. She had been in failing health for sometime.

She was a member of a pioneer Iowa family. She married to William Morse Dean on Thanksgiving day, 1902, at Tampa, Ia., and soon after they moved to Lake View. She was a 50-year member of the Eastern Star and had been active in Methodist church activities.

She is survived by her husband, a son, Graham Dean,

Ashland; a daughter, Mrs. Buford Geary, Lake View; one sister, Mrs. E. E. Benedict, Iowa Falls; seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon in Lake View.

AUTO OVERCOMES FOG
Melton Mowbray, England

—The Duke of Rutland Hunt had mixed luck Wednesday. Hunters were forced to quit chasing a fox when fog enveloped the area. But on the way home they found another fox had been hit by a car.

Portland Temperature Sets January Record

Portland — Portland basked in a 62-degree maximum temperature Wednesday. The all-time January record at the downtown weather bureau here is 65, recorded in 1935. Previous warm January days included 60 degrees in 1940 and 61 in 1945.

FORMER EDITOR DIES
Sorrento, Italy —

Thomas F. Crooker, 65, former editor of the Ames (Iowa) Daily Tribune, died here last Saturday following a thrombosis, it was announced today. He was on a 19-month European tour.

NOW Bath Size Lux in 4 pastel colors

...soft, delicate PINK ... cool, refreshing GREEN ... sunny YELLOW ... lovely sky-BLUE

Special BATH SIZE introductory offer

5¢ OFF

WHEN YOU BUY TWO

WHEN WE INTRODUCED the Lux Pastels in the complexion size, we knew you'd like them. But frankly, even we were amazed at how fast pastel Lux became so very popular with all of you.

So here they are—in bath size, too! These lovely pastels will certainly add luxury to your bath—and more wonderful color to your bathroom. Of course, this is the same mild and gentle Lux Soap that you know. You get the same natural gentleness that's so good to your skin, the same rich Cosmetic lather and the same delightful fragrance!

Save yourself 5¢ by taking us up on this special offer. Get Bath Size Lux in Color—and beautify your bath and yourself. Like white Lux, Lux in color is guaranteed by Lever Brothers to satisfy completely or your money back.

Special offer good for all 4 Bath Size Lux Pastels, PINK, GREEN, YELLOW, BLUE—now's the time to try all of them!

Tear this corner out NOW as a reminder!

Pink, green, yellow, blue—5¢ off on 2 bars of any of the new Bath Size Lux Pastels!

BUY NEW BATH SIZE COLOR LUX BY THE COLOR OF ITS FOIL WRAPPER