Ashland—Southern Oregon college extended its unbeaten string to six games in Oregon Collegiate conference basketball Friday night with a 74 to 53 ramble over Portland State college.

It was a relatively easy triumph with the Raiders taking the lead at the start. They were never seriously pressed after the early going. Halftime score was 32 to 23.

The Raiders outscored the Vikings 26 to 22 from the field but they also piled up a substantial difference at the free throw line, 22 to nine.

Bill Hollingsworth of SOC was high gunner with 19 points and Johnny Winters had 14 for the visitors. Hollingsworth also was tops in rebounding with 16 retrieves. Springy-legged Winters had 15 for his team. Total rebounding was almost even with Raiders picking off 73 and Vikes 72.

Southern Oregon connected for a 412 average from the field while PSC hit .393.

Boats Set Acapulco Race Meet

San Diego, Calif.—A record field of 37 yachts waited today for the start of the 1500 mile San Diego-Acapulco yacht race, scheduled to get underway today.

The most direct route to the Mexican resort town is 1,430 miles, but most of the yachts were expected to sail many more miles seeking favorable winds. Most of the smaller yachts planned to stay close to the coast while larger entries, led by John P. Scripps' 89-foot Novia Del Mar, planned to put far out to sea.

The race is expected to take about 10 days.

Sports Group Meets Monday

Shady Cove — Tentative angling regulations drawn up by the state game commission will be the main topic of discussion Monday evening, Jan. 20, at the regular monthly meeting of the Shady Cove chapter of the Oregon Sportsmen club.

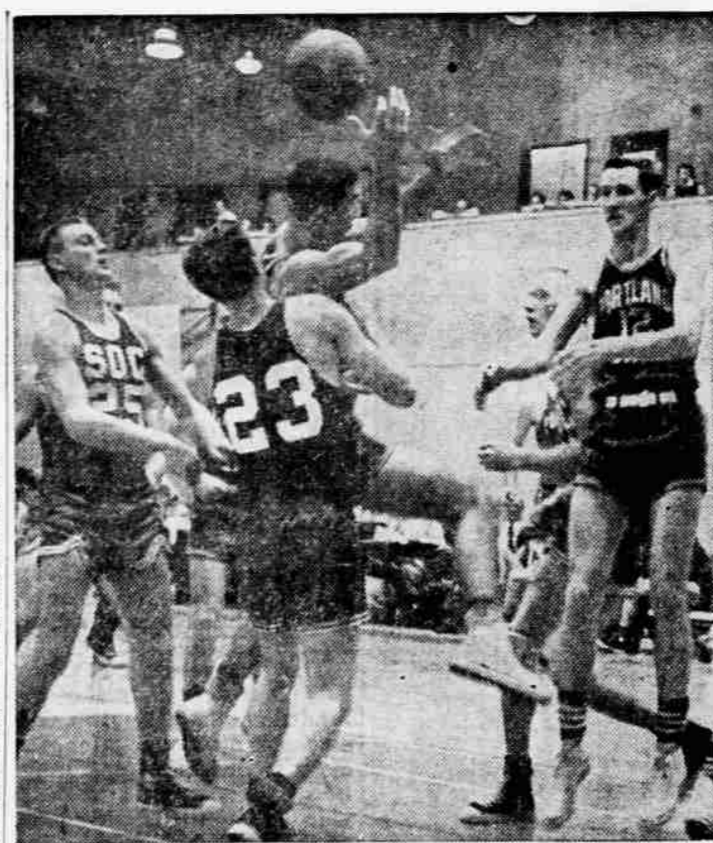

The meeting will be at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall at Shady Cove.

Members will hear a report from President Frank Dolesek on the game interim committee hearing Jan. 17 at Klamath Falls. A motion picture, "Trophy Hunt," will be shown by Charles Shepard, game commission field agent.

SNOW CUP RACE

Bonnie Speyer of Alta, Beverly Anderson of Mullan, Ida., and Mary Paget of Portland were considered favorites in the women's division.

Further Explanation Presented Of Rogue River Trout Fishing

Further explanation concerning the Oregon game commission's proposal to delay opening of the trout fishing season for coastal streams until May 24 has been given by Cole M. Rivers, Grants Pass, game commission fish biologist and field agent for this area.

The later than usual opening would include the Rogue and Umpqua river systems.

Recently completed studies by the Oregon wildlife research unit were reported to the commission at their Jan. 10 meeting in Portland, and they showed that the opening of the trout season in late April or early May is detrimental to the steelhead in Oregon's coastal streams, Rivers stated.

On the Rogue and its tributaries, the late opening of the trout season would encourage a greater escapement of downstream migrant steelhead, Rivers explained, saying that the larger seaward migrants are abundant in March, April and May. He pointed out also that well over 90 per cent of the trout taken from the streams of the Rogue system are downstream migrant steelhead.

Larger Steelhead

The catch of spawning and spawned-out steelhead is heavy in the Rogue and Umpqua rivers and is heaviest when the season opens in late April or early May, Rivers reported. The May 24 opening he said, would allow a greater escapement of these spawners and result in more of the larger steelhead to return in future years. Rivers mentioned that nearly all of the larger steelhead in the Rogue system are fish that have spawned once and are returning to spawn the second or third time.

Investigations by various field and research fishery divisions are showing that steelhead juveniles and adults cannot both be subjected to heavy angling pressure and result in the resource being managed on a sustained yield basis, Rivers said, declaring that the steelhead is many more times valuable being taken as an adult than as a six to eight inch trout.

For many years, some local anglers and guides have advocated complete protection of juvenile steelhead, he remarked.

Later Planting

Another advantage of the later opening of trout season on the streams of the Rogue drainage would be that the hatchery trout would not be planted until mid-May which would result in a much improved return of these fish to the angler's creel, Rivers reported.

Fish lake, Willow creek reservoir and Squaw lake in Zone 4, the reservoirs in the Tokatee area on the North Fork Umpqua and Loom lake in Zone 3 and all coastal lakes in Zone 1 will open on April 26. The delayed opening of May 24 would apply only to the coastal streams on the west slope of Oregon.

The game commission will meet again in Portland on Jan. 24 to decide on final adoption of the 1958 regulations.

Golfer Posts Good Score After 'Ride'

Tijuana, Mexico — Bo Winger, surviving a Mexican "pinch" and a hair-raising 65-mile-an-hour police escort ride to the golf course, fired a calm 69 in the second round of the $17,000 Tijuana Open Golf tournament Saturday to take the 36-hole lead with a 134.

Winger, who had a seven-under-par 65 yesterday, took a three-stroke lead over his first-day co-leader, Bob Rosburg, who had a 72; and little Jerry Barber, who had a 69 to go with his first round of 68.

But with his experiences

he had before getting to the golf course, it was a wonder that Bo was able to play at all. He was halted by an officer for putting the front wheels of his car over the pedestrian lane at a stop and for going 40 miles an hour in a 35 mile zone.

When the policeman offered to escort Bo and his companion, Mike Souchak, to jail, Winger said that he was competing in the tournament. The policeman then offered the pair an escort to the golf course at 65 miles an hour where Bo paid the cop a "fine" of 100 pesos — $8, plus a tip.

Hornet 9th Tips Lithia Quint 27-26

Bruce Bray's free throw with eight seconds to play gave Hedrick of Medford a 27 to 26 nod over Ashland Friday in a ninth grade basketball game.

The Hornets had trailed throughout the game and were down six points with 2 1/2 minutes to play. They rose up with a full court press. Craig Miller tied the game with a two hand set shot.

Ashland headed 6 to 4, 13 to 7 and 21 to 17 at the quarters and dominated backboarding in the first half.

Hornet Seventh Wins

Miller was high point man for the game with 11 and Steve Harris had 10 for Ashland.

Ashland won the eighth grade game 27 to 18 and Hedrick the seventh 29 to 22.

The Hornet eighth managed only two points in the first half and the Lithians headed 11 to 2, 19 to 2 and 23 to 8. Kearns had 11 and Roberson nine for Ashland and Renney Vowell eight for Hedrick. Hornet seventh players had aceto counts of 8 to 7, 15 to 10 and 19 to 16. Don Anderson and Danny Miles had eight points each for Hedrick and Jim Banvy contributed a good rebounding game.

RVRC Members Preparing for Practice Trial

Rogue Valley Retriever club members and their dogs are working hard in preparation for the first practice trial set for Sunday, Jan. 26.

The scene will be on the north side of the river at the military bridge site near the county gravel pits.

In addition to practicing for the American Kennel club trial here on March 21, 22 and 23, RVRC is having a point trophy competition covering five picnic trials. Points are accumulative and the high dog for each stake will gain a trophy. Ribbons will go to second, third and fourth place retrievers.

Interest is high in the point contention and competition is keen. Members this year have a number of young dogs so much interest will center in the puppy stakes for dogs up to one year of age.

Now that hunting season is past, nimrods who wished they had retrievers are invited to turn out and watch the RVRC dogs work. No admission charge is made. Parking room is plentiful and many events can be watched from cars.

UCLA Nicks SC Trojans With Steal

By UNITED PRESS

Three Pacific Coast conference basketball games were played Friday night and results followed the dope sheet, although UCLA barely got by Southern California's surprisingly strong Trojans, 52 to 51, at Pan-Pacific.

Bruin guard Walt Torrence stole the ball and dropped in the winning field goal with 30 seconds to go to give the Westwood squad the victory.

Trojan forward Jim Pugh managed to get off a jump shot with two seconds left to play but the ball hit the rim and bounced off as the gun sounded.

The lead changed hands frequently during the second half after the Bruins held a slim 25-19 lead at intermission.

Idaho Winner
At Pullman, Idaho's Gary Simmons dumped in 25 points to lead the Vandals to an 86 to 67 rout over Washington State. Idaho held a 42-28 halftime advantage and was in control most of the way.

California connected on 40 per cent of its field goal attempts to post an easy 60-24 victory over Stanford at Berkeley. The Indians hit on 48 per cent of their shots from the field but a solid California defense limited them to only 44 field goal attempts. The Bears led at halftime, 32-24.
