Grange Notes

Gold Hill Grange
Members of the Gold Hill Grange were surprised at their regular meeting Jan. 16 by the arrival of a delegation of about 100 persons from nine subordinate granges in Jackson county.

The visitors included Oregon State Grange Steward Roscoe Roberts and masters from eight local granges. They were Bob Bitterling, Pomona; Herb Carlton, Upper Rogue; Otto Niedermeyer, Central Point; Carl Christensen, Live Oak; Cyril Farnsworth, Griffin Creek; Menno Bachmann, Upper Applegate; Charles Johnson, Phoenix and Clifford Moore, Eagle Point.

Roberts, in his talk, stressed community service, more members, greater attendance and the importance of making the meetings interesting. He said, in a report from a California grange, they were giving credit to the HEC for increased membership. Roberts also called attention to the County Officer's conference to be held soon.

Ada Page, who is also active in VFW Auxiliary work, presented a resolution sponsored by the Eagle Point Grange, which calls for a 400-bed hospital to be established at Camp White, where building and plumbing facilities are already available. Both Bitterling and C. C. Hoover spoke in favor of the resolution, which they said would be a great asset to this area. Over 1,000 persons had been questioned on the matter and not one objection was raised, according to Hoover. The motion was passed unanimously and visitors expressed approval of the resolution.

The lecturer's program was given by a group from Central Point and Delmar Smith gave a talk on rock collecting. Mrs. Otto Niedermeyer and Mrs. Fred Kuest sang two duets, with Mrs. Smith at the piano.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served in the dining room by Josephine and Maryann Loeffler, assisted by Sue Allemen, Bertha Potter, Lucy Edgington and other HEC members.

The Medical Roundup

by Walter Lowrey

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic
Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

MORE ABOUT HEREDITY
One day, as I was chatting with one of America's very able and fine psychiatrists, I asked him why so many of his fellow psychiatrists were playing down the facts of heredity. He said, "Well, first, I think, we feel it is just too discouraging to say to a patient that, because his family is shot full of psychosis, he and some of his children could get the disease. This is no way to begin trying to help him."

Second, if I could not more or less close my mind to the importance of heredity, I would get so discouraged I could hardly go on trying to help many of my patients. "Third," and here he blushed a bit, "there is so much insanity in my family that, when I look at my children I feel happier saying to myself that psychosis is due mainly to environment. Finally, some of my colleagues and I are trying to raise money for research in psychiatry, and if you admit that insanity is hereditary, everyone will assume that little can be done, and hence no one will give you any money."

The reason I keep fighting for truth in this field is that, all my life, I have been a student of science and the history of science, and I cannot remember any situation in which men were able to learn much when they refused to face some facts which they personally did not like. In science, one must accept facts, no matter how disturbing they may be; one must accept them instantly, even when they show that all one's work done for several years back must have been wrong because it was based on a wrong supposition.

Why Do We Rap Wood?
People ask me why, when we brag about our health, we should rap on wood? Because it is my only superstition, for years I kept searching through the literature on medical folk-lore to find out why so many of us do this trick. Eventually, I found that we don't do it right. The way we do it cannot do any good. Usually, we rap wood lightly after we have said something such as that we "haven't had a cold yet this year." To do it right, as we talk, we should take a big stick and bang on the side of the house and make a noise that the devil cannot hear. The old idea was that if the devil were to hear a man bragging in this way, he would say to one of his minions, "Just watch me, and see what I will do to that fellow who is so cocky! Watch me while I take him down a peg!"

Dr. Alvarez hopes his readers will understand that it would be impossible for him to answer requests for information or to attempt to diagnose by mail.

Shady Cove Grange

The Shady Cove Grange met Saturday evening with a potluck supper.

At 8 p.m. Master Ed Houston called Grange to order. A seating drill was practiced with Reed McKay directing and Nanny McKay at the piano.

Mrs. Isabel Wenderlich's application for membership was read.

Ed Houston was reappointed to the Rogue River Basin Flood Control and Water Resources association.

HEC Chairman Old Houston reported on HEC from the County Council meeting held at Phoenix last Saturday.

Eight members from Shady Cove were present.

Mrs. Athel Dudley was reported on the sick list. Pomona will meet at Roxy Ann Saturday, Jan. 25 for an all day meeting.

FPC Decision Said To Be Disappointing

Portland - Rollin E. Bowles, chairman of the legislative committee of the Oregon Iszaak Walton league, said Tuesday he was "disappointed" that the Federal Power Commission would recommend construction of Nez Perce dam.

Bowles made his statement in connection with an FPC decision Monday which refused a license to a private firm for the Mountain Sheep-Pleasant Valley project on the Snake river. The FPC indicated it opposed the project because it did not include a high dam at the Nez Perce site.

"We know and every responsible agency knows that the Nez Perce will eliminate the salmon runs in the Salmon and Imhaha rivers," said Bowles. He said the summer steelhead runs in the Columbia are dependent in the main upon the Salmon river.

ODD MUSKRAT
Dead Creek, Vt. - Carl Smith was skinning a muskrat when he got down to the shoulders and found that neither pulling or cutting would separate the pelt from the carcass. Examination revealed the muskrat was "wearing" a canning jar rubber. Smith said the muskrat probably had burrowed its head and forelegs through the jar ring and grown into it so that it was constricted and concealed within the fur.

Other plans formulated by the officers were designed to stimulate attendance and add interest to programs at Grange meetings. A variety of social and fund-raising events were also outlined for the year. Endorsement of the membership will be sought for the proposed program of projects and activities.

Twelve officers attended the planning session at which Worthy Master Menno Bachmann presided. Refreshments of cakes and coffee and an informal social period concluded the evening.

Secretary Irene Culy wishes to remind all Grange members that 1958 dues are now payable and that Upper Applegate's goal is 100 per cent paid up membership.

Japan will constitute the theme for the display table at the meeting Jan. 24, and members are requested to bring items of interest for exhibit, according to HEC Chairman Edna Sawyer. Sisters Maude Bachmann and Lula Brown and Brothers Menno Bachmann and Forbes Brown will constitute the serving committee for this occasion.
