Meeting Slated to Discuss Plans for Retirement Home

A meeting to discuss all phases of plans for Rogue Valley Manor, the retirement home to be constructed in Medford, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 27, at the First Methodist church, West Main and Laurel sts., it was announced today. The public is invited.

M. N. Hogan, president of the board of trustees of the non-profit corporation planning the manor, will preside at the meeting. Other officers will discuss various phases of the plans, including Treasurer George Flanagan, and Executive Director Walter Higgins.

Contracts Signed

Hogan pointed out that more than $1½ million in contracts for life occupancy in the manor have already been signed.

Among topics to be discussed will be the economic implications of the $5½ million retirement home to this city and county, the response to the idea noted in meetings up and down the Pacific coast, and other phases of the project, including construction and financing plans, and any questions those attending may bring up.

Hogan said that some mistaken impressions of the project have been current in the community, and urged anyone wishing to ascertain the facts to attend the meeting.

Rogue River — An adult class in clothing will be offered at the Rogue River Civic club under the auspices of the vocational education division of the state department of education, Rogue River school officials have announced.

The class will meet Tuesdays between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. and will start Feb. 11. Fees will be determined later, depending on the number enrolled, officials said.

Clothing problems ranging from beginning sewing to tailoring and pattern making will be offered. Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Farnum, the instructor, at GReenwood 6-5131, Grants Pass.

UNLAWFUL SERVICE

Coats, N. C.—(UP)— Two officials disclosed Thursday that Police Chief Joseph H. (Buddy) Collins had been fired for siphoning gasoline from a fire truck for use in his prowl car.

Ike's Labor Program Believed Due for Trouble in Congress

gressional reaction to President Eisenhower's program of labor legislation indicated today the administration must settle this year for half a loaf or less.

House and Senate spokesmen on labor legislation believe there is a good chance for passage of a bill to safeguard employee welfare if it does not become entangled in more controversial proposals.

There was greater disagreement on other administration recommendations, particularly some of those involving amendments to the Taft-Hartley law and seeking to enforce secret balloting in union affairs.

Both the House and Senate Labor committees have been at work on bills to protect union welfare and pension funds. But both now are tied up with education bills which probably will get priority over labor legislation this year.

The President sent his 10-point program to Congress in a special message Thursday. Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), senior GOP member of the Senate Labor Committee, introduced bills to carry it out.

AFL-CIO President George Meany asserted some of the administration proposals "could easily lead to legislation demaning in effect, licensing of trade unions." He said the labor movement had fought for welfare fund disclosure laws but these were blocked by employers.

The President urged Congress among other things to strengthen federal supervision of union funds and require secret elections of most union officers. He recommended unions be stripped of income-tax exemption and federal bargaining rights if they refuse to file detailed financial statements. He also called for full disclosure of wellfare fund operations.

A widespread Democratic viewpoint in Congress was reflected by Rep. Lee Metcalf (D-Mont.), of the House Labor Committee. He predicted passage of a bill to protect welfare funds but said the rest of the administration program was "a dead letter."

Clothing Drive Set In Area Next Week

Jackson county school children next week will take to school warm, suitable clothing as part of the nation-wide Save the Children Federation clothing drive.

Especially needed are flat shoes, serviceable coats and dresses, dungarees, pants, overshoes and rubbers. Infant and adult clothing is welcome as well as diapers, blankets, and other items. Clothing will be sent to underprivileged areas. The deadline for bringing clothing to school is Friday, Jan. 31.

Alf B. Mekvold, county school superintendent, said all county schools, including Medford public schools, are participating in the drive.

Paper, Bottle Drive Slated Saturday

The Teens Against Polio committee of the sophomore class of Medford High school will conduct a paper and bottle drive Saturday, it has been announced.

Persons wishing to contribute papers or bottles to the drive are asked to leave them on their front porch Saturday morning. The drive will start at 10:30 a.m. and if the articles have not been picked up by 3 p.m., the donors are asked to telephone SP 2-4309 and a truck will be dispatched for them.

The TAP committee plans to sell the papers and bottles and turn the money over to the March of Dimes, the announcement said.

Portland Girl, 13, Gives Birth To Son

Portland —(UP)— Birth of a normal seven-pound son to a 13-year-old Portland girl was reported to police Thursday.

The girl, an eighth grade student, weighed 170 pounds and her mother said the pregnancy was not suspected until shortly before the child was born. The teenager named a 19-year-old former service man as the father of the baby. He is not now in Portland.

The family said they will rear the infant in their home. Both mother and son were reported in good condition.

Morse Attacks Gaither Secrecy

Portland —(UP)— Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) Thursday night attacked "government by secrecy."

He criticized the administration for not making public the Gaither report on national defense.

In a surprise appearance at a meeting of the Multnomah County Democratic Central Committee, Morse said he challenged President Eisenhower "right here in Portland, Ore., tonight . . . to release it. It's a devastating report."

Morse also was critical of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He said he told Dulles at a recent meeting of the Senate Relations Committee that an administration plea of "executive privilege" was equivalent to a citizen "taking the fifth amendment." He said Dulles had refused to answer his questions about differences with Harold Stassen on disarmament.

"That's how far we've gone down the road of government secrecy," Morse said.

He said the reason for the secrecy in foreign policy is that "they know that if the people knew what was behind the scenes, there would be a demand for a great change."

Morse planned to visit Reedsport with Army engineers today and speak in Eugene tonight and Long Beach, Wash., Saturday before returning to Washington, D.C.

South Dakota Girl Believed Kidnaped

Winner, S.D.—(UP)—Authorities today feared a missing farm girl was kidnaped while trudging to school along a lonely section of the South Dakota prairie.

The girl, Leslie Benedict, 12, disappeared Wednesday morning and an air and ground search since then has drawn a blank. Authorities resumed the search today with the aid of bloodhounds, but expressed little hope of finding the girl.

"I no longer believe anyone could be out there," Sheriff James Shoemaker said, "but we're checking to make certain."

The short, stocky girl left home Wednesday morning for a rural school about one and one-half miles away. Her teachers said she never arrived.

About 150 persons from Winner, a town of about 4,000 located 30 miles north of the Nebraska border, and five airplanes searched the rolling countryside Thursday.

Hoffa Takes Over Teamster Control

Washington — (UP) — Jimmy Hoffa, 44, cocky and smiling, took control of the Teamsters Union today under the watchful eyes of a court-backed supervisory board and the judge who set it up.

High AFL-CIO sources expressed strong disapproval of the court-endorsed compromise that permitted Hoffa to take over the $50,000 a year presidency of the nation's largest union with a three-man "watchdog" board to oversea him.

One AFL-CIO official told the United Press Hoffa was "at the wheel with three backseat drivers." AFL-CIO sources said there was no hope the court-approved plan would pave the way for the teamsters early return to the parent labor federation. They were kicked out for corruption last month, with charges aimed mainly at Hoffa.
