Will Travel

This is a plea for help! We're a new shop in this great metropolis of Medford and we need jobs to keep our trail little shoppe open.

If you have a beat-up old board in the cellar, why not have a sign on it, if you're getting tired of looking at that old antique rocker, why not have a sign for it? You've seen a vacant spot in a field where you might like to have a sign? Let us put one up for you. We need jobs—Sir, Women and Child.

We do signs, commercial art portraits, murals, silk screening, car stripping. You name it, we do it.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN CALIFORNIA'S Harry Oliver launched his unique "Desert Rat Scrap Book" in 1946, he ran this "Editor's Prayer" on Page 1 of his first issue:

"Dear Lord: I only want you to go 50-50 with me. If you will keep me from getting greedy, I will try to give my 60,000 readers (Lord, I stretched it a little) clean, good fun and fan their interest in the many wonderful things you have put out here in your desert.

"You keep me from getting too graspy, and making this paper a monthly instead of a quarterly. I in turn promise to keep people interested in plants, animals, and beauty of this wonderful country. I will only tell authentic lies. I will be the best god-dern publicity agent for your desert you ever had."

Bill Vaughan tells about an exasperated father who yelled upstairs to his errant offspring, "OK! This is the last time I'm going to tell you for the last time!"

Kilowatt Kremlin Feared By Senator

Washington — Sen. Henry Dworshak (R-Idaho) fears that the Northwest Public Power association is promoting establishment of a "Kilowatt Kremlin" that would usurp Idaho's water rights.

He charged in a statement Friday that the association has "declared war on the water users of Idaho," in a letter written by "Association Secretary Gus Norwood to members of Congress in opposition to a bill which would add safeguards to western state water rights.

"This attitude," Dworshak said, "poses a threat to every headgate in Idaho."

Norwood's letter, Dworshak said, "is a definite indication that this public power group now believes it is bigger than the individual states, and its promoters are preparing a bill to set up a regional power empire which would trample states' water rights under the heel of a government-controlled all-powerful power agency.

Elks Eye Clinic Gets $100,000

Grants Pass — Hal Randall, Salem, reported to the Oregon Elks association here Saturday that the Elks eye clinic for needy children at the University of Oregon Medical school had received more than $100,000 in donations from Oregon Elks lodges during 1957.

Randall made his report at the annual mid-winter session of the association. He told delegates that the clinic added 845 new patients during the year, provided 2020 treatments to previous patients, and performed 96 major eye surgeries. All the treatment is free.

Pass Resolutions On Forest Lands By Wool Growers

Phoenix, Ariz. — The National Wool Growers association went on record Friday favoring legislation to stabilize and clarify the status of permittees on national forest lands.

The resolution was one of a number passed by the association as members concluded their convention here. Also passed was a resolution urging the Bureau of Land Management to "honor their cooperative agreements with users," and to safeguard conservation and provide for range improvements.

The resolution points out that the Taylor Grazing act was passed to create stability in Federal range use. The wool growers oppose the bureau "acting as agent for any users in order to circumvent the statute of limitations, to evade the stability provisions of the basic act, to reopen adjudicated allotments after the three year period, or otherwise attempt to redistribute range once allotted."

Other resolutions: Opposed condemnation of Federal lands by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife service for use as wildlife refuges; ask the Bureau of Land Management to maintain and police adequate trails for the movement of livestock at all seasons of the year, and oppose creation of a wilderness preservation system.

Don Clyde, Heber City, Utah, was re-elected president of the association, along with other officers.

W. H. Steiwer of Fossil, Oregon, was elected an honorary president of the association.

Pollution Work Set For Willamette

Portland — The Oregon Sanitary Authority Friday ordered communities along the Willamette river to proceed with pollution collection. It said Willamette pollution is still "detrimental to fish life and to recreational enjoyment."

The authority noted that millions of dollars have been spent to clean up the stream but it said millions more would have to be spent.

The authority ordered these firms and communities to reduce pollution by 35 to 100 per cent: Oregon Pulp & Paper Company of Salem; Spaulding Pulp & Paper of Newberg; Publishers Pulp & Paper of Oregon City; Zellbach of West Linn; and the cities of Milwaukie, Oswego and Portland.

Eugene and Salem were also directed to revise and improve sewage treatment facilities. The Portland residential district of Dunthorpe and the city of Newberg were also ordered to provide additional treatment.

Douglas Hurts Nose In Auto Collision

Washington — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas suffered a bloody nose and a slightly wrenched back in a minor automobile accident Friday. But he was able to carry out his daily judicial duties at the court.

District police said Douglas was returning to the court from a visit to Walter Reed hospital when a car driven by a 15-year-old youth careened out of a side street and hit his car broadside.

SENTENCE TWO
Berlin — East German Communists have sentenced two high East German church leaders to a total of three years and three months imprisonment and a $2,500 fine for smuggling currency. A Communist court in Magdeburg sentenced Kurt Gruenbaum, president of the Evangelical Church of Saxony, to two and a half years in prison and a $2,500 fine. Dr. Siegfried Klewitz, counselor of the church, received a nine-month term. Both were released on parole.

Young Republican To Aid Hatfield

Salem — Jack Miller, Salem, president of Oregon's Young Republican organization, will manage Secretary of State Mark Hatfield's campaign for the Republican nomination for governor.

Ex-Gov. Elmo Smith, Albany, is chairman of the Hatfield campaign.

Miller said he will resign his Young Republican post at a meeting of the state executive board Sunday. He is vice president and general counsel of the State Finance company here and will volunteer his services to Hatfield.

Miller added that most workers on Hatfield's campaign would be volunteers. Current plans call for opening an office here in about 10 days and a Portland office next month.

Hatfield faces opposition from State Treasurer Sig Under for the nomination.

Personnel Layoffs Announced By Firm

Milwaukie, Ore. — John Gray, president of Omak Industries here announced personnel layoffs today amounting to about one-quarter of the total work force at two plants in the Milwaukie area.

Gray said about 125 persons would be laid off in accordance with seniority standings. He estimated the layoffs would last six to nine months. Lack of activity in the lumber and pulp industries which the firm serves was blamed for the curtailed operation.

Emperor Penguin Dies In Portland

Portland — Another Emperor penguin died here Friday and still another is suffering from aspergillosis and is expected to die, according to the officials of the Portland zoo.

The two birds were among those suffering the dreaded lung disease earlier but had appeared to be responding to treatment. They were both fat and active before taking sudden turns for the worse.

ONE MAN LAW
Gastonia, N.C. — Police Sgt. J. E. Mosteller collided with another vehicle on his way home from a Boy Scout safety lecture Friday night. He promptly charged himself with driving through a stop sign.
