Fun to Embroider

SF Cable Car In Wild Trip

San Francisco — A cable car plummeted out of control down the steep Hyde St. hill Tuesday night, but the gripman managed to stop it at the Aquatic Park turntable before any of the 12 passengers were hurt.

The cable car reached a speed of 40 miles an hour during its wild five-block descent. The hill is one of the steepest in San Francisco.

Among the 12 passengers were two guests of the State Department, Hammed Hashmi of Delhi, India, and Vira Poomviset of Bangkok, Thailand. It was Poomviset's first day in the United States.

The cable car went out of control just as it began its descent. Gripman James C. Hutchings shouted to the passengers to be ready to jump.

Two blocks later, the cable car hit a taxicab, breaking a front window. "The brakes wouldn't hold," Hutchings said. "We may have gone off the rails. But we were going nearly 40."

A cable car normally travels at nine miles an hour. At the bottom of the hill, the cable car careened into a right angle turn so fast that it appeared in danger of overturning.

However, the turn served to slow the cable car up to the point at which Hutchings could stop it. He turned the car around at the terminal and took it back to the car barn without incident.

Chancellor To Seek More Federal Aid

Portland — Chancellor John R. Richards told the State Board of Higher Education here Tuesday that he plans to set up a committee to help draw more federal science research funds to Oregon colleges and the University.

Dr. Richards said there was every reason to believe that Oregon's share of the funds could be increased as research facilities have improved. He commented that "in medical science we have moved from a position near the bottom to one in which we are at a median level among medical schools of the country."

He predicted a research budget of more than $2 million within ten years in a program employing more than 500 researchers.

President Accused Of Wishful Thinking In Business Upturn

Washington — The AFL-CIO accused President Eisenhower today of combining "wishful thinking with implications of dangerous political deception" in predicting a mid-summer business upturn.

In testimony prepared for the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, AFL-CIO chief economist Stanley H. Ruttenberg also charged the administration with ignoring "reality."

Ruttenberg said "at a time when the nation's problems require honest reporting and hard headed solutions, the prospect of next November's election returns seems to have directed the administration to lull the American people with soothing optimism."

He said tax cuts were needed for low and middle-income bracket families. But Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.) of the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee said if the government is faced with a deficit for the fiscal year starting July 1, he would favor raising taxes.

The administration was also attacked on its space-age program to produce more scientists by the top Republican on the House Education Committee.

Rep. Ralph W. Gwinn (R-N.Y.) said the new school bill is misleading, misleading, dumfounding and demoralizing. Gwinn said it won't cure the existing education "crisis" but will create "another crisis" — federal control.

Farm law writers were ready to bury the hatchet and concoct a "catch-all" farm bill containing new benefits for every major farming area. The new effort to reunite the once-potent farm bloc began with a meeting of the House agriculture subcommittee.

Chairman John C. Doerfer of the Federal Communications commission went before a House commerce subcommittee which gave him the opportunity to deny or defend charges FCC members accepted color TV sets and other "favors" from the broadcasting industry.
