

Economy Due To Resume Climb Around Mid-Year

Washington — President Eisenhower's top economic adviser in testimony published Tuesday predicted the economy will resume its upward climb around the middle of the year.

The forecast came from Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers. Saulnier testified on Jan. 16 before a House Appropriations subcommittee considering a $375,000 appropriations request to finance the work of his office.

At the same time Budget Director Percival P. Brundage commented that predictions by government economists of when the slump will end range anywhere from immediately until next fall. Brundage's estimate is July 1.

Promotions Listed By District BLM

Several recent promotions have been announced by the Medford district of the bureau of land management.

William Donovan, former staff forester in the Medford office, has been transferred to the unit forest of the northwest unit of the district. The unit is located in northwest Josephine county.

Jack A. Tompkins, former northwest unit forester, has been transferred to the northeast unit. The unit is located in the Butte Falls and Evans' creek areas in Jackson county. Tompkins is now the senior unit forester on the staff.

Dwight L. Putnam has been appointed as a temporary staff forester for the Medford office, according to Ross Youngblood, district forester.

Youngblood said the transfers resulted from the recent promotion of William B. Jore, former unit forester for the Medford northeast unit, to be district forester for the BLM in the Ukiah, Calif., office.

Alternative To Coexistence Told

Portland — Charles A. Sprague, former Oregon governor, said Monday that this country's alternative to coexistence with Russia is "death to one or both" nations.

Sprague, publisher of the Oregon Statesman in Salem, spoke at the annual conference of Chamber of Commerce managers from Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

He said that "preserving world peace and at the same time saving the institutions we hold dear will tax the talents of our leaders for generations and the intelligence and spirit of our people."

Sprague warned against asking Congress for local federal projects which might add to inflation. He said this country must maintain its economic strength.

"If untimely or imprudent local demands impair that strength, they weaken our nation for the international competition into which it is now thrust."

1,346 Businesses Issued Licenses

City business licenses issued since Sept. 1 total 1,346, according to City Recorder Darrell Huson.

He said total fees collected amounts to $25,565.26, or slightly more than $19 per license. The total does not include returns made to hotel, motel and apartment house operators under an amendment to the license ordinance passed by the council late in August last year.

Business firms operating in Medford must have a license, Huson said. The fee will be prorated to Sept. 1 this year so firms will not be assessed for a full year, he explained.

Los Angeles — A threatened strike of 263 pilots against Western Air Lines has been rescheduled for Thursday.
