

Kim's, Oswald Nab City Bowling Togas

Kim's restaurant claimed the team crown and Vic Oswald the singles title in the Medford Bowling association tournament completed last week end at Medford Bowling lanes. Bill Meyers and Ernie Tyler won the doubles and Jim Sheldon was all-events champion.

Kim's recorded a 2910 pin total, including handicap, 21 better than the Eagles. Oswald with 679 nosed Herman Duncan by one pin and beat third place Linn Mills by eight.

The 1256 by Meyers and Tyler was eight better than the 1248 by Bud Judy and Dick Schachter. Sheldon had 864 compared to the 1852 scored by runner-up Sandy Clave.

Meyers with a 671 in doubles had the best scratch series of the tourney and the top such count for the season at the local lanes. He had games of 245, 235 and 191. Next high was 611 by Mel Mager with handicaps he had a 665 to tie for fourth in singles.

Pel Series Being Eyed By Tornado

Best way to overcome the tall Klamath Falls Pelicans would be to cut them off.

That can't be done literally so a means must be found to accomplish the task figuratively. And this is the way the Medford high basketball club looks at the situation as it preps for the loop leading Pels.

Coach Frank Roelandt said this morning that his Tornado charges will battle to retrieve as many rebounds as possible and he pointed out that the Medfordites will have to shoot and handle the ball better than they have been if they are to upset the elongated Klamaths Friday and Saturday nights in the series at Hedrick gym here.

Best Effort Needed

"If the Pels have a good night, we'll have to have the best ball we've played," the Medford mentor said. But he stressed that the Tornado is now much better prepared than when it suffered defeats at the hands of KF at the start of the Southern Oregon conference chase. He acknowledged that the Medford squad is steadily improving.

Don Bowling, after a fine performance against Crater as a reserve last week, could be a starter against the Pels. He is bidding strong on the basis of his work against the Comets and has been drilling with the top combination. His presence would give Medford a bit more height with which to combat the Pelicans.

The other conference series this week has Crater at Ashland Friday night and the two clubs at Central Point on Saturday. Crater will struggle to pull out of the cellar and Ashland will aim to keep from falling into it.

Old Oregon Law May Mean College Education for Many

McMinnville — An old forgotten law in Oregon statutes has been turned up by a Yamhill county official and it just might mean college education for many deserving youngsters. But for the moment it's a nagging headache for Oregon State college.

Steve Bristol, Yamhill county juvenile officer, was digging through the statute books recently and came across a law which said "each senatorial and representative district in the state shall be entitled to gratuitous instruction in Oregon State college for as many pupils as the district now has senators and representatives in the legislative assembly. Each county in the state shall also be entitled to one free scholarship in said college."

OSC Officials Aghast

Two Yamhill county legislators — Sen. Carl Francis of Dayton and Rep. George Layman of Newberg — promptly nominated three students for free instruction at Oregon State college.

Earl M. Pallett, secretary of the State System of Higher Education, and officials of Oregon State College were aghast. They protested it would cost $54,000 a year. And besides, they contended, the old law was superseded by a later law providing for tuition-free scholarships in an amount representing two per cent of the enrollment.

Yamhill County School Superintendent Lynn Gubser received a letter from Pallett declaring that the state system has not included such scholarships in the budget and that the Legislature would have to provide the money.

Thornton Replies

Layman fired off a letter to Attorney General Robert Y. Thornton who replied the old law is in full force and effect until it is repealed. He said the later law Pallett is talking about, which applies to all state institutions of higher education, did not in any way change the effectiveness of the 1885 law involving Oregon State college, a land grant school.

Layman subsequently wrote to Pallett saying that Pallett's letter to Gubser was "nothing more nor less than an evasion of the Oregon law, and I do not consider your requirements of a $54,000 appropriation to be either practical or sound."

The Newberg attorney added that if the State Board of Higher Education is officially taking the position represented by your letter, "it may be necessary to file mandamus proceedings to compel compliance by the proper administrative officials with the Oregon statute."

Meanwhile, Yamhill county will choose its three scholarship candidates this week by lot, as provided by Oregon Revised Statutes 352.280.

Simpson Named to Convention Group

Ashland — Hugh G. Simpson, director of information at Southern Oregon college, was appointed chairman of the District XIII National Convention committee of the American College Public Relations association at the annual conference at the University of Oregon Jan. 26-28, according to Neal O. Hines, district director.

College and University public relations, news bureau, and directors of information personnel from Washington, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and California as well as Alaska were represented at the conference. Also present were a number of Oregon figures and public relations officials from industrial fields.

Simpson was appointed to the nominating committee for next year's ACPRA, District XIII officers; the site selection committee for the 1959 north-

Phoenix Giants Classed As Baseball Experiment

By HAL WOOD

Phoenix, Ariz. — One of the great experiments in the ever changing baseball picture will take place here this year when the Phoenix Giants open their first campaign in the Triple-A Pacific Coast league.

Probably never before in history has a Triple-A club

Sarah Churchill Shows Annoyance

New York — Actress Sarah Churchill had reporters and photographers thrown out of an airport waiting room today when they tried to take her picture and ask her about her recent Los Angeles arrest on a drunk charge.

Miss Churchill showed annoyance when she was greeted by newsmen after a flight here from Los Angeles. Before it was all over she had lost what remained of her temper.

Miss Churchill told the newsmen she expected to leave Thursday for the Riviera, near Monte Carlo, where she will vacation with her parents, former British Prime Minister and Mrs. Winston Churchill.

She answered the question and posed willingly for photographers after she first got off the plane. But when they followed her into a private airport room in the terminal she refused to pose and asked them to leave.

attempted to operate in a city that will be quite thoroughly exploited by the San Francisco Giants, Cleveland Indians, Chicago Cubs and Baltimore Orioles before the season opens.

"But we are optimistic," says Rosy Ryan, general manager of the local Giants, a farm team for the San Francisco Giants. "We don't know what to expect in the way of reaction, but there appears to be a lot of enthusiasm for the club right now."

Ryan, who handled the Minneapolis club for the New York Giants last year, said there is no way to compare the local situation with what his office did at Minneapolis, New Park Possible

"We had 6,500 box seats for sale there," said Rosy. "And here we have only 970. But an indication that there is interest might be gleaned from the fact that we already have sold $23,500 worth of season tickets."

The local park holds only 6,800 fans, but there is a plan before the city council now to build a new park for 1959 that will seat between 12,000 and 15,000.

"We are in here with the approval of the Pacific Coast league on a one-year basis," said Ryan. "The understanding is that we should have a new park for 1959 that would meet Triple-A standards."

The odd thing about baseball in this state is the fact that Arizona has spent many years building up the climate as a fine training camp aid, and now with the four major league teams training here, the Phoenix club, of all things, will go to Sanford, Fla., to train at the Giants' minor league camp.

McLoughlin Wins Dual Match; Frosh District Tourney Next

McLoughlin ninth grade wrestling team defeated Hedrick 37 to 15 yesterday as both squads wound up their dual match seasons.

Both will compete this Saturday in the freshman district tournament at McLoughlin gym.

The Bulldogs of McLoughlin finished their dual slate with eight wins and no setbacks. Hedrick won three, lost four and tied one.

Yesterday McLoughlin took nine of the 12 matches, five by falls. The Hornets nabbed two wins by falls.

Crater, Ashland, Klamath Falls and Grants Pass also will enter teams in the district tourney. The competition will open at 11 a.m. and afternoon and evening sessions are slated.

Porter Proposes Firm Policy on Kickback Money

Washington, D. C. — Rep. Charles O. Porter (D - Ore.) has introduced proposed legislation (H. J. Res. 515) designed to establish a firm United States policy with respect to payment of bribes and kickbacks inside or outside the United States. The joint resolution was referred to the House Committee on the Judiciary.

Porter's resolution asks the Congress of the United States to adopt a policy stating that payments of bribes to government officials or civilians by a citizen or resident of the United States is contrary to existing policy.

Specifically, the Congressman believes that such payment "is not legitimate, ordinary, necessary, or proper expense of such trade, business, or activity under any circumstances." Porter says the payment, at any time, is contrary to the national interest and the public welfare.

Legislation Ties In

Porter's resolution would cover the situation "whether the trade, business, or other activity concerned is being carried on within or without the United States."

The proposed legislation ties in directly with newspaper accounts last summer that an American firm reportedly paid nearly $1 million in "kickback" funds to Latin American Dictator Rafael L. Trujillo, ruler of the Dominican Republic. Porter's inquiry concerning the alleged payment brought a State Department commentary that the department had not been in communication with the Internal Revenue Service on the matter.

Later, a U. S. Treasury Department official sidestepped any answer "in view of the secrecy provisions of the Internal Revenue Code." He did note that "ordinary and necessary" business expenses are tax deductible. Porter said he intended to press for legislation which would clearly outline U. S. policy and "put an end" to expenses which now qualify under the existing law.

Gunman Wanted for Kidnaping Gives Up

Paducah, Ky. — Gunman Carl Burton, 24, wanted for kidnaping a Missouri state trooper, surrendered meekly to authorities here Tuesday night and said he was glad "it's all over."

Burton, his hands over his head walked into police headquarters and told authorities: "Here I am, I give up." Later, he added, "I'm glad it's all over."

The gunman was arraigned immediately before U. S. Commissioner Herbert Melton Jr., and was charged with violating federal kidnaping laws and transporting a stolen car across state lines. He was bound over to the federal Grand Jury on a $35,000 bond. Melton said that he would seek life imprisonment for Burton.

According to estimates by the United Nations, the total population of the world increases about 100,000 a day.

Florida Shivers As Mercury Drops

By UNITED PRESS

Florida shivered in one of its coldest winters on record, but forecasters predicted some relief today for the frozen southeast.

Over night temperatures again plunged into the 30s as far south as Southern Florida, damaging the state's tourist industry, and crops and killing cattle.

A warming trend from the Midwest was expected to reach the Atlantic Coast later today, moderating the three-day cold wave.

The Florida cold wave, third of the season, forced tourists to don furs, froze tender vegetable crops and blackened cattle ranges. Cattle were reported dying by the hundreds on the ranges.

Council-Manager Government Plan In 1,556 Cities

Chicago — A total of 1,556 cities and towns in the United States and Canada have the council-manager plan of government. Of this number, 104 places decided in 1957 to operate under this plan, according to the International City Managers' Association.

More than one-half, or 776, of these 1,556 communities adopted this plan during the 10-year period from 1948 through 1957, representing an average annual gain of 78 cities. California leads with 179 places under the council-manager plan, followed by Maine with 131, Texas with 126, Michigan with 115, Pennsylvania with 86, Florida with 83, and Virginia with 68. The population of all places with council-manager government now totals over 31,000,000.

The first council-manager charter was adopted by popular vote 46 years ago. Now 47 per cent of all the cities in the United States over 25,000 have council-manager government, and 42 per cent of the cities between 10,000 and 25,000 have this form of government. These and other developments are reported in the Association's new directory "Recent Council-Manager Developments and Directory of Council-Manager Cities," 339 Managers Appointed

A total of 339 city manager appointments were made in 1957. Of this number, 194 men entered the profession for the first time. It is significant that 67, or approximately one-third of the newcomers, had been assistants to managers. Seventy-nine per cent of all city manager appointments in 1957 were from outside the city. More than one-half of the men entering the profession for the first time were under 40 years of age.

In Europe more than 1,200 cities and counties have appointed managers since the end of the second world war. A total of 1,534 cities, counties, towns, and rural municipalities in five European countries have a form of local government that closely resembles the council-manager plan in the United States and Canada. These countries are Norway, Sweden, Ireland, Finland, and Germany.

ROB ROY LEADS

Miami — The classy 43-foot yawl Rob Roy fought to hold its early lead today as a fleet of 19 sailing yachts rode a cold northwest ocean wind toward the finish line in the 20th annual Miami to Nassau race. The blue-hulled Rob Roy, owned by August Boorstein of the Knickerbocker Yacht club, N. Y., shot ahead of five Class A rivals after the starting signal at noon Tuesday. It was reported 30 minutes ahead of David J. Morrison's 45-foot sloop Salty at dusk.
