Incidental information:
University of Oregon officials report that the 1958 Rose helpings of soft drinks and Bowl crowd drank 66,598 ate 37,479 hot dogs.
The crowd also consumed 7,070 cups of coffee, 6,614 bags of peanuts, 17,233 ice cream bars and 1,000 sandwiches of assorted kinds.

ON the face of it, it looks like if we could keep enough football games going the food surplus would soon disappear.

MORE incidental information:
Dr. Louis Dublin, a life insurance institute consultant, let go the other day with a statement to the effect that statistics prove women not only are stronger than men but are getting MORE SO all the time.

He added:
"The average length of life of women now is 73 years while man's average span is only 67. Since 1900, the life expectancy for women has risen 25 years while for men it has gone up only 20 years."

TELETYPE chatter:
The janitor of the Iowa state historical building in Des Moines had a bad day yesterday. Nothing seemed to go right for him.

First he goofed and ran up the state flag ABOVE Old Glory.
Then he raised the Stars and Stripes and a short time afterward got a sharp reprimand for putting up the flag of his country UPSIDE DOWN.

HOW COME?
There's this stanza from a famous song of a couple of decades ago:
"The corn she grows,
"Here's how it goes:
"Forty-four gallons to the acre, By Gosh!"

Quiet Rooms Aid Physics Research

Chicago—Two of the quietest rooms in the world are located in the midst of Chicago's noisy State street.
The two rooms, an anechoic or echoless chamber and a reverberation room are new research facilities at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology.
The rooms are so quiet that the noise of an electric clock can be heard in either one of them, according to Dr. Robert W. Benson, assistant manager of the foundation's physics research department.
Used for opposite purposes, the anechoic chamber will absorb 99.99 per cent of the sound within a room while the reverberation chamber will reflect 98 per cent of the sound.

Almost three times as many deaths from automobile accidents occur between seven and eight in the evening as occur between seven and eight in the morning.

SUCCEEDING late Senator Matthew Neely, Democrat, John D. Hoblitzell Jr., Republican (above) is newly appointed Senator from West Virginia. (International)
