Minor damage to both vehicles resulted, they added. Citations for failure to operate on the right side of highway were issued to both drivers, police said.

Portland To Ask Levy for Schools

Portland—The Portland school board Monday night decided to ask voters for a three-year building levy totaling nearly $5 million. The levy would call for $1,650,000 a year and would be a partial continuation of a 10-year levy of $2,500,000 which expires next June. Superintendent J. W. Edwards said there was reason to believe the elementary school enrollment would level off after 1960. He said the high school building program calls for construction of one more school, the southeast high school which is now in its final planning stage.

An average American motorist now pays about 66 cents in motor fuel taxes every time he has 10 gallons of gasoline put into his car.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF
MIKE CONNOLLY reports that at a meeting of Comrades on the West Coast, one character interrupted a solemn address to holler, "One question, Comrade Speaker, and I demand a straight answer. When we overthrow the government, what happens to my unemployment checks?"

And after the meeting, another comrade went up to the information desk and asked, "Do you know of any accommodations where I can put up with my wife?"

It does indeed pay to advertise—as this story from Flint, Mich., emphasizes once again. It was in Flint, in the Daily Journal for April 23, 1914, that the A.C. Spark Plug company advertised in the classified column for a bookkeeper, promising: "This is a fine opportunity for the right young man." Furthermore, "the right young man" applied for the job. His name, Harlow H. Curtice, future president of the General Motors Corp.

Adverse News Turns Stock Market Down

New York—Adverse news accumulated through the session today in sufficient force to turn the stock market down. Rock Island cut its dividend, unemployment jumped to a new high since 1950, a big Belgian producer cut copper prices and the metal declined in the London market. Cities Service cut its runs of crude oil to the refineries, and Trans World Air Lines laid off 80 pilots as an economy measure.

It was the fifth decline in a row, a decline that knocked industrials down nearly 3 1/2 per cent and rails nearly 4 per cent from the highs set exactly a week ago. Oil shares encountered considerable selling with Amstar and Atlantic Refining touching new lows. Today's prices on selected stocks:

Steward will be accompanied by Ward Spatz, Medford, member of the state board of agriculture.

Quashing Contempt Against PTC Denied

Portland—Motions to quash a contempt of court proceeding against Portland Traction Company were denied Monday by Circuit Judge Charles W. Redding. The proceeding was brought in connection with the halting of PTC's Belrose and Oregon City Trolley passenger service. Judge Redding set Thursday afternoon as time for the firm to reappear and tell if it wishes to take the issue to the State Supreme Court or is ready to present defense to the contempt action.

Hunters killed one thousand less deer in New Hampshire in 1957 than in 1956 when more than 10,000 were accounted for. Authorities attributed the decrease to "bad hunting weather on week-ends."

Motion Picture Shown at Meeting

A 20-minute motion picture opposing the recent attempts of Congress to establish a $1 per hour wage law was presented at the Monday lunch of the Jackson County Chamber of Commerce round-table.

The movie, "crossroads," was produced by the United States Chamber of Commerce. It was filmed in a small town which was termed, "Main Street, U.S.A."

After explaining proposed laws concerning wages before Congress last year, a series of interviews was conducted among business owners along the "Main Street." All objected to the legislation.

Main reasons expressed against the laws were forcing businesses to have more self-service; force some businesses out of business by boosting wages beyond proper percentages; force a lay-off of people, using more work on employees kept by the firm; force merger of small firms into larger chains; endanger the existence of many small firms and some medium-sized firms because of higher prices to meet increased wage costs; and force higher prices to consumers to finance pay raises.

JET BASE FOR PAN AM

Miami, Fla.—Pan American World Airways has announced a jet plane overhaul base costing $15 to $20 million will be built here. Construction will start July 1, pending agreement by the Dade Port Authority. Officials said the base will handle the huge jet airliners Pan American plans to start using in October, as well as present propeller-driven planes.

Transit Cooperative Urged at Portland

Portland—Organized labor proposed here Monday night that a cooperative be formed to buy and operate Portland's mass transit system with a plan that would fully protect the pensions of retired bus drivers.

James A. O'Brien of the Masters, Mates & Pilots said a committee of the Multnomah Labor Council should study the cooperative plan suggested by Mayor Terry Schruk as "the only plan I know of that will pick up the pensions."

Mel Lienard, business agent for the Street Carriers' Union, said employees had accepted a traction company offer of an average 10-cent an hour pay boost retroactive to Nov. 1. Included were 20 employees laid off when inter-urban service to Oregon City was halted.
