Washington—Dr. James Van Allen, the physicist who equipped the Explorer satellite with cosmic ray counters, on the information they are supplying:

"We're walking around in data up to our ankles."

Corydon, Ind.—Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) on why we lagged behind Russia in the satellite race:

"Someone, somewhere in the bureaucratic maze told the scientists they could not use military missile components for their satellite work. That meant they had to start from scratch."

Bloomington, Ill.—Rep. Leslie C. Arends (R-Ill.) denying we are behind Russia in weapons production, on our ability to strike back, if attacked:

"I think Russia is aware it would be completely destroyed if it attacked the United States."

Hollywood—Dr. Frank Baxter, on why cartoons are being used in a television series on science:

"This series is being made for a broad, general audience. We must present entertainment as well as information."

Brand Inspection Procedure Studied

Salem — Oregon and Idaho livestock officers met in Ontario today to review current brand inspection procedures and types of equipment used by the two states. The officials also discussed the possibility of helping each other in brand inspection and prevention of livestock theft.

A similar meeting with Washington officials is set for Monday, Feb. 17, at north Portland.

Last Jan. 22, the first meeting of this kind was held with California livestock officers in Medford.

Meetings Start to Expedite Building Of Valley Manor

The Rogue Valley Manor Monday night began a series of meetings to expedite construction of the $5½ million Manor. The meeting was held in the First National bank, with executives and personnel of the bank.

Melvin N. Hogan, president of the 36-member board of the Manor, stated that 78 "members" have now signed up for "homes" in the Manor, and that as soon as 64 more members have signed for the retirement home, building will begin. "It is our hope," Hogan stated, "to get construction on the 10 story building started this spring, with a target date for completion set for late summer of 1959."

Walter H. Higgins, executive director of the Manor, explained to the staff of the bank that the site which has been selected and purchased—15 acres atop Barneburg hill—is only 2½ miles from downtown Medford. Higgins showed colored slides of the site with its view of the Rogue valley and surrounding mountains. He stated that each of the 284 apartments will have unobstructed views, since the Manor site is 300 feet above the valley floor.

George Flanagan, trustee and treasurer of the Manor, took the group on an imaginary tour of the proposed Manor, using slides covering the floor plan, facilities and apartments, and the detailed plans in caring for the needs, pleasure, recreation and health of the members.

Man Arraigned on Narcotics Charge

Yreka, Calif. — Edward L. England, 36, Oakland, was arraigned on charges of driving while under the influence of narcotics in Mt. Shasta justice court Monday.

England was arrested by California highway patrolmen acting on information supplied by the Medford police department Friday. England is said to be a partner of Raymond E. Amiotte, 33, of San Francisco, who was arrested by Medford police Saturday morning on charges of forging a doctor's prescription to obtain narcotics.

The two men are suspected of being associated with another man being held by Albany authorities on a narcotics charge. A 17-year-old Oregon youth, arrested with England, was being held for release to his parents.

that the Manor building has been designed by one of the nation's leading architects, John Malone of Seattle, and that every detail has been carefully thought out to provide the greatest possible comfort, beauty, convenience and safety. Flanagan highlighted some of the features of the Manor, including the auditorium, chapel, and infirmary with doctor and resident nurses, dining room, kitchen, club rooms, laundry, air-conditioning, hobby shop and recreation facilities.

Hogan emphasized that the Manor, representing a $5½ million expenditure, will be a "real boost" to the Rogue valley economy and will employ 75 people initially and 100 when the Manor is under way. He stated that other similar meetings will be held in Medford, Ashland and Grants Pass.

In her complaint, Mrs. Marsh alleges the management of the hotel was negligent in placing wax or other

The special damages include $1,468.70 for medical services and $1,500 for future medical services, according to the complaint.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THERE'S A LADY in the suburbs who is determined that when her 12-year-old Herbert grows up, he will be not only a Fred Astaire, but a Winston Churchill. With that in view, she marches him to dancing school every Wednesday afternoon, and sits grimly at the ringside to see that he not only pushes little girls around the room, more or less in time with the music, but engages them in conversation at the same time.

Recently Herbert was executing what he believed to be a foxtrot with a brand new partner when he caught his mother's signal: "Engage her in conversation!" He took a deep breath, and gallantly informed his lady fair, "Say, you step faster than any fat girl I ever danced with!" Bang!

Marlon Brando defines an actor as "a guy if you aren't talking about him, he isn't listening."
