

8,016 Pounds of Clothing Collected

Children in Jackson county school collected 8,016 pounds of usable clothing during the recent "bundle days" program, the county school superintendent's office reported. Participating schools, which included most of the schools in the county, collected 311 bundles, or four tons, of clothing which was sent to the Save the Children Federation headquarters in St. Louis, Mo. The non-profit non-sectarian organization maintains a stockpile of clothing to meet emergencies in 34 countries, including the United States. Several county schools have participated in the drive in past years.
