Newlyweds Living in California

Ashland — Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Celo Harkey are making their home in San Diego, Calif., following their wedding last month in the Assembly of God church, Ashland. The bride is the former Margaret Ann Townsend, daughter of Mrs. Lulu E. Townsend, 247 Third street, Ashland. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Celo Harkey, 665 Clay street, also of that city.

The Rev. Robert Cornwell officiated at the double-ring ceremony held January 17. Mrs. Dorothea Mills played the traditional organ wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Mildred Kerby, who sang.

The bride chose a ballerina length frock of white embroidered tulle with princess lines and worn with a matching bolero jacket. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a tiny crown and she carried a cascade bouquet of orange blossoms encircling a lavender orchid. Her only jewelry, opal necklace and matching earrings, was a gift from the bridegroom brought back from the Orient. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Franklin Hugh Townsend.

Miss Kay Holsapple was maid of honor and Miss Sharon Harden and Miss Mary Shatto were bridesmaids. Miss Holsapple wore a lavender colored frock with matching flower halo and carried a bouquet of matching chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were in pink and carried pink chrysanthemums. Little Christie Hald was flower girl and Tommy Cornwell served as ring bearer. The flower girl wore pink. Miss Nina Harkey, sister of the bridegroom, lighted the candles. She wore a white and silver frock.

Groomsmen were LeRoy Hoepner, Danny Hargis and Gordon Oeser while Bob Harkey and Bill Garrett seated the guests.

Mrs. Townsend chose a gray faille frock with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Harkey wore an aquamarine and pink dress with black accessories. They

New Style Causes Flurry At Annual Fashion Show

Only a few actual chemise or sack dresses were to be found at the annual spring style shows of Medford Junior Service league last week, but they excited more comment than anything else.

Capacity audiences attended all three performances. Luncheon showings climaxed the annual benefit. Funds earned by the project will be used to support the league's kindergarten for hard-of-hearing children.

Decorations were appropriate to the valentine season. Two huge decorative "cages" held artificial birds and the walls were covered with simulated gift boxes covered with foil in various rich colors and bearing the names of firms assisting with the show. Favors for the guests were at each plate.

Mrs. C. B. Collins and Mrs. J. S. Cummins provided commentary, alternating at the microphone for each show, and Abbey Green was at the organ.

Members and their daughters were the models. Members modeling were Mrs. Billy Blackstone, Mrs. Jack A. Edson, Mrs. David Holmes, Mrs. Lon Skinner, Mrs. George Lewis, Mrs. Richard Hensley, Mrs. Walter Graff, Mrs. Robert R. Turner, Ashland, Mrs. Jonathan Middleton and Mrs. Gordon Hudson. Daughters modeling were the Misses Marta and Miki Luther, Susan Graff, Susan Baker, Diane Lewis, Tanya and Vicky Enders and Barbara Whalin.

A unique feature of the show this year was the fact that well known business and professional men chose the clothing. Listed on the program as "fashion consultants" were Floyd Baker, Vinson Vaughan, James Dunlevy, Fred Spiegelberg, J. P. Tobin, Philip Lowery, Robert Taylor, Russell Jamison, John Snider, and James Rowan.

During intermission for all three shows Mrs. Collins took a microphone into the audience to introduce certain guests and ask for comments on spring fashions. Surprisingly it turned out that many women said they did not care for the new chemise dresses, or that their husbands disliked them, but when men were questioned Friday night they reversed the trend and declared themselves in favor of the fashion.

Mrs. Blackstone modeled a navy blue chemise dress made with a deeply-bloused double back, wearing with it a blue and white cloche reminiscent of the '20s. Another chemise was modeled by Mrs. Holmes, this being of orange ice raw silk with which she wore a multiple-strand necklace of beads which hung almost to the bottom of the short skirt.

As usual, some dresses and suits were received with special favor. Mrs. Middleton modeled a dress of floral silk in the new "hot" orange colors which brought comment and Mrs. Hudson received much applause when she appeared wearing a rose pink suit with jacket ties which ended in froths of pink fur.

Clothing was supplied by Pick's, Mann's, Leon's, Rath's, Jean Hart, Frances Furs, Burleson's, Town and Country and Hadley's stores.

Zonta Announces Coming Events

Plans for the annual treasury dinner to be given by Medford Zonta club and for the Woman of the Year banquet were included in the business meeting of the local group at a Thursday luncheon. The treasury dinner will be held at their Girls' Community club February 27. Husbands of the members will be guests.

The committee to nominate officers for the coming year was elected Thursday. Members are Mrs. Dorothy Ginn, chairman, Mrs. Grace Holmes and Mrs. Celia Martin.

A list of names was distributed so that Zontians may begin sending their magazines to foreign countries under the project "Magazines for Friendship". Included in the list were several doctors in Rangoon, Burma to whom professional magazines will be sent.

Chairman Makes Final Accounting For Annual Sale

Final accounting of the Christmas seal sale was given by Mrs. Allan F. Perry, Jackson county chairman of the sale, at a luncheon last Tuesday.

Mrs. Perry announced that the seal sale totalled $9,800 at the date of the final meeting of the county chairmen. Chairmen who attended the luncheon were Mesdames Robert A. Elliott, Medford, Marvin Kocks, Ashland, John Clark, Central Point, Ted Hoffman, Eagle Point, Bruce Pingle, Butte Falls.

The luncheon was also attended by Mrs. Henry Padgham, president of Jackson County Public Health association, whose sole source of support is the Christmas seal sale. Mrs. Helen Tweedy, the executive secretary of the organization, also attended.

Central Point — Bethels 38, Central Point, and 56 of Shady Cove, International Order of Job's Daughters, held an official joint inspection February 13 at the Masonic temple in Central Point. Mrs. J. Wesley McGill, Beaverton, grand guardian of Oregon, and Dr. L. A. Maulding, Nyssa, associate grand guardian, attended.

Escorted and introduced were Past Honored Queens Phyllis Briggs and Barbara Henderson, Bethel 56; Mrs. Edward Knapp, Bethel 30, Wisconsin; Mrs. McGill and Dr. Maulding; Grand Bethel Messenger Gail Collins, Bethel 38; Past Associate Grand Guardian Andrew E. Stevens, Ashland; Grand Outer Guard L. G. Manning, Medford; and Bethel guardians, Mrs. L. A. Maulding, Bethel 33, Nyssa, Mrs. Ray Briggs, Bethel 56, Mrs. William Askwith, Bethel 38; associate guardians, Wiley Spence, Bethel 56 and Robert Stewart, Bethel 38, who is also worshipful master of Warren Lodge AF&AM, Jacksonville; past guardians, Mrs. John Dunlap and Mrs. L. O. Rogers, Bethel 56, and Mrs. A. M. Setness and Mrs. Richard L. Stratton of Bethel 38; past associate guardians, Allen Rodgers, Bethel 56 and Merritt Swing, Bethel 14, Medford, who is also worthy patron of Nevita chapter, Order of Eastern Star; Mrs. Melvin McGrew, president of Southern Oregon Council of Association and Mrs. Wyles Berry, matron of Nevita chapter.

Miss Kay Askwith, queen of Bethel 38 and her officers were in charge of the opening and closing ceremonies, and Miss Deborah Dunlap, Bethel 56, and her officers exemplified the initiation ceremony for four candidates.

Mrs. McGill presented ceramic plaques to the two queens on behalf of herself and Dr. Maulding. Following the closing ceremony the two Bethels formed a double cross. An original addendum by Mrs. Scott Hamilton, portraying the life of Job, was presented by Bethel 38, and Mrs. McGill and Dr. Maulding were given gifts by both Bethels.

Decorations were in the valentine theme and were arranged by Misses Sharon Anderson, Jeanette Purdy, Helen Goff and their mothers. The refreshments were served by Misses Janet Kilbourn, Penny Taylor, Judy Patterson, Vicki Lester, and their mothers.

The meeting was preceded by a dinner at the Rogue Valley Country club honoring the grand guardian and the associate grand guardian.

Bethel 38 will have a guardian council meeting Monday, February 17, at the temple to work on favors for grand session. Saturday, February 22, junior Bethel will practice at 11 a.m. and Tuesday, February 25, Bethel 38 will be honored at the regular meeting of Nevita chapter. Members are to meet at the temple at 8 p.m. During the next two weeks the Bethel members will work to earn money for the philanthropic fund of the order.
