

Ten Medford Pupils To Participate in Model UN Meeting

Medford High school will again participate in the annual International Relations League conference from Feb. 20 to 22 on the University of Oregon campus. The theme of the eleventh annual conference is the same as last year, a "Model United Nations."

Each participating high school in the state has been assigned to represent a member of the United Nations during the three-day session. This year Medford High school's IRL will act as delegates from the U.S.S.R.

Students selected to represent Medford will be Eric Eitrem, Jim Frohnmayer, Marsha Williams, Marsha Minshall, Nancy Wilson, Randy Peterson, Harlow Head, Nancy Becken, Sandra Arant and Lynn Ann Latham.

Delegates from all countries will take part in caucuses, plenary sessions, security council, three political committees, and general assemblies. The conference will open Thursday evening with an informal reception for all delegations in Gerlinger hall.

At 9 a.m. Friday the Model United Nations will get into full swing. The opening plenary session of the general assembly will meet in McArthur court Friday afternoon to hear the guest speaker and consider various draft resolutions passed in the committee and council meetings that morning.

High Point of Conference
The high point of the annual conference is the traditional IRL banquet Friday evening in the Student Union ballroom. Special entertainment has been planned. IRL state officers will be nominated Saturday morning and additional planning sessions and discussions will be held. Medford is a member of the nominating committee.

The conference will close Saturday afternoon with a meeting of the general assembly, at which time a crisis will be presented and an extraordinary session will be held.

Again this year an award will be offered to the delegation whose performance receives the highest rating. Last year Cleveland High school, Portland, won the award. The award will be an engraved trophy to be permanently retained by the winning school.

Mrs. Justin B. Smith of the Medford High school faculty, and advisor of the IRL, will accompany the group.

Advertising Goal Reached by Club

Program advertising goal for the 1958 Kiwanis Kapers has been surpassed, Kapers Chairman Glen Allen and Kiwanis President Bill Singler announced Friday.

They said that advertising had reached an all-time high of $5,045 with a slight increase over that amount probable in the next few days. A goal of $5,000 had been set. Gordon McKenzie and Frank Kennedy headed the committee for advertising solicitation. Tabulations were made and reported by Curt Nesheim and Fred Morlan, Kaper cochairmen.

The show, "Krazy Kapers of 1958," will be presented on Feb. 26, 27 and 28 and March 1 at Medford high school auditorium. Income from the Kapers has been earmarked for the dental clinic for needy youngsters being sponsored by the service club, Allen and Singler pointed out.

Tickets for the show are available from any Kiwanian.

POLE BASE ESTABLISHED

London—A Russian expedition has established a planned base at the so-called "Pole of Inaccessibility" at the Antarctic continent and has started construction on the site, Moscow Radio said today. The broadcast said the new base, named Sovetskaya, will play "an important role" in scientific studies performed as part of Russia's contribution to the current International Geophysical Year.

Heart Research at University School Continuous Project

Portland—For the layman absorbed in the daily routine of making a living, a visit to the University of Oregon medical school these days is an interesting and enlightening experience.

Although only five minutes from downtown Portland, there is "another world" to be found at the medical school—a world of dedicated men and women scientists who are constantly studying and probing as they seek the answers to heart and other diseases.

Take, for instance, Dr. Ototaka Higashi and Miss Karen Marie Karlson who are working together in the coagulation research laboratory, which is under the direction of Dr. Arthur J. Seaman, associate professor of medicine. "At Home"

Dr. Ototaka is from Japan, Miss Karlson, from Oslo, Norway. But they are "at home" in their research laboratories at the medical school, where they speak a universal language of scientists.

Dr. Ototaka, mid-mannered and serious, is a member of the faculty at Tohoku university hospital in Japan, and has been at the University of Oregon medical school the past 18 months under a grant from the Oregon Heart association. Miss Karlson is also supported by the Oregon Heart association. She was working as a technician for Dr. Paul Owren in Oslo when she first met Dr. Seaman, then a Fulbright scholar studying Dr. Owren's methods in prevention of second attacks for healed coronary heart patients through the continuous use of anti-clotting drugs.

Dr. Seaman returned to Oslo a second time under an Oregon Heart association grant. During this visit he arranged for Miss Karlson to come to Oregon and assist him in his work at the medical school's coagulation research laboratory.

Dr. Ototaka is studying the feasibility of advance prediction of intravascular clotting during life. If some system for identifying persons having great hazard for clotting can be discovered, it would be impossible to institute preventive therapy, it was explained.

Dr. Ototaka and Miss Karlson symbolize what is transpiring throughout the world
