Public Relations Director Urges Republicans to Read

"Some of the worst informed people in Oregon are the so-called 'good Republicans' said Wallace Hunter, Salem, public relations director for the party in Oregon during a meeting of Jackson County Republican Women held yesterday noon in the Red Cross building...

"When the opposition makes a statement which is misleading, or untruthful, only an informed Republican can answer authoritatively." To illustrate his point, Mr. Hunter said that most of the residents of Oregon do not know the true story of what went on at the recent special session of the Oregon legislature...

Mr. Hunter urged his listeners not only to read newspapers and magazines thoroughly, but to listen to the radio and television, to clip articles which have factual information which may be useful, and make a file to which reference can be made at future times when information which may be useful, and make a file to which reference can be made at future times when information is needed...

Mr. Hunter spoke briefly about catch phrases and slogans which are often misleading and said party members should have enough information to talk back. He illustrated this with the phrase "fat cats" which some use in reference to the Republican party...

Chapter Conducts Ritual

The home of Mrs. Richard Henselman was the scene of a pledge ritual held by Alpha Rho chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. As Mrs. Daniel Kidd, Mrs. James Tengesdal and Mrs. Henselman played and sang background music, Mrs. Doris Lassen of Ashland conducted the ceremony by memory.

Mrs. Richard Riggs and Mrs. William Werner pinned the golden pledge emblems worn throughout the pledge training on Mesdames Louis Cranston, Allen Sterton, Lynn Myers, Donald Madden and James Redden. Then the chapter president Mrs. William Tyner conducted a ceremony formally installing Mrs. James Callan as chapter sponsor. Women attending the meeting were in formal gowns.

The table was covered with the crested Beta Sigma Phi ritual cloth. Decorations also included the traditional black tapers and yellow roses.

Mrs. Fred Danielson and Mrs. Tengesdal gave the evening program titled "Pictures." They showed reproductions of many famous masterpieces.

Mrs. Paul Antony, ways and means chairman, announced that each member is responsible for doubling two dollars given her. Mrs. Danielson, social chairman, said that plans are being made for the chapter birthday party. Details are to be announced later.

Guests for the evening were Mesdames W. H. Fisher, Maynard Paup, Paul Dix, Raymond Morton, Curtis Buterfield, Donald Lue, Mark McKenzie, G. J. Adlfinger, Lawrence Allan, J. C. Chapman and C. J. Marrs. Special recognition was given Mrs. Scott Davis, director of Beta Upsilon chapter; Mrs. John Roberts, Ashland's City Council president; Mrs. Treavell Turpin, valentine princess from Xi Mu chapter; Mrs. Bob Norris, valentine queen from Alpha Rho chapter and Mrs. T. L. Shoop from Alpha Beta chapter.

Cohostesses for the evening were Mrs. Tengesdal, Mrs. Antony and Mrs. Harry Barker. Mrs. Callan poured. Mrs. Danielson will have the next meeting in her home with Mrs. Herman Schroeder and Mrs. Jerome McDougall as co-hostesses.

Good Teaching To Be Subject Of Conference Eight Jackson county teachers will attend a three-day conference on improving teaching to be held February 19-22 in Portland. Approximately 400 educators from Washington and Oregon will consider the theme "Focus on Good Teaching of All Children" according to Cecil W. Posey, executive secretary, Oregon Education association.

Those participating in the program include Dr. Claude A. Buss, history department, Stanford university; Dr. Leslie M. Chase, child service director, Portland Public schools; Mrs. Joy Gubser, Oregon State department of education; Earl L. Hutchins, director, educational diagnosis of exceptional children, Longview, Wash.; Dr. Alice Keliher, school of education, New York university; Dr. R. E. Lieuallen, president of Oregon College of Education, Monmouth; Dr. H. Gerthorn Morgan, Institute for Child Study, University of Maryland; Dr. Ralph Tyler, director, center for advanced study in behavioral sciences, Stanford.

NEA national president, Dr. Lyman V. Ginger, will present a major address on "Teaching as a Profession," Friday evening. Participants will discuss in small group sessions such topics as (1) conducting teacher-student conferences, (2) discipline, (3) guidance, (4) helping the gifted child at the secondary level, (5) helping the slow learner, (6) meeting the limitations of time, (7) evaluating and reporting pupil progress.

League Endorses Change Of Loyalty-Security Rules

Last week the League of Women Voters of the United States went on record as believing the federal loyalty-security program should be modified to provide the greatest possible protection for the individual. This viewpoint was reflected in the Medford league, which last fall finished a two-year study and discussion of the federal loyalty-security programs.

The consensus of members of the Medford League was forwarded to the national office of the League of Women Voters where they were evaluated with conclusions of leagues throughout the United States.

In announcing the position, which reflects the national league membership, Mrs. John G. Lee, national president, said, "In the interest of strengthening national security and maintaining our traditional concepts of freedom, the League of Women Voters of the United States believes the federal loyalty-security programs should be modified so as to:

- 1. Limit the coverage to sensitive positions and provide for more realistic classification of information; 2. Institute more uniform procedures in the administration of the programs; 3. Apply 'common sense' standard in judging the individual; and 4. Develop procedures that will provide the greatest possible protection for the individual."

Mrs. Lee's statement was made on behalf of the National Board, meeting in Washington this week. She said that the board has made a careful analysis of the reports of member-thinking and finds clear member-agreement on the four points mentioned. She also said that the League is now ready to support or oppose action by either the executive branch of the federal government, in line with the league position.

Mrs. Lee continued: "The position which the league has reached comes as the result of four years of study by our members in the field of individual liberties as related to the public interest. The latter half of this study has been concentrated upon an evaluation of the federal loyalty - security programs, with recognition of the need for safeguarding national security and protecting individual liberties."

"Over 1,000 local Leagues took part in the examination of the federal loyalty-security programs, the conditions they were intended to meet, and their operation. Members considered varying points of view in regard to present need and changes suggested. Reading and discussion were supplemented by the use of expert source, including individuals actually carrying out the programs as well as a variety of authorities in the field."

"In the spring of 1937, at the request of the Commission on Government Security, the league submitted to it an interim report which showed emerging areas of agreement by December, an overwhelming majority of the local Leagues reported the conclusions of their members. The position announced last week by the national board reflects these conclusions."

The Medford league will hold a general meeting at Rogue Valley country club Saturday, February 22 at 12:30 p.m. A panel discussion on party politics will be presented following luncheon.

Housekeeping Hints Given by Professor

St. Paul — Kathleen Jeary, assistant professor of home economics at the University of Minnesota, suggested these shortcuts to add to the homemaker's leisure hours.

- 1. Select proper equipment. As an example, use a long-handled rather than short-handled dust pan. 2. Watch your body mechanics. Use leg muscles instead of back muscles to lift. 3. Rearrange kitchen supplies to help banish household fatigue, keeping them at point of use. 4. Get the whole family to cooperate.

Bethel to Hold Skating Party; Plan Initiation

Bethel 55, International Order of Job's Daughters, will hold a skating party tonight in Ashland. Girls attending Pythian building at 7 p.m. are asked to meet at the Pythian building at 7 p.m. for transportation.

Thursday night members of the Bethel will attend a meeting of Roxy Ann court, Order of Amaranth, and will hold initiation for a class of Bethel candidates.

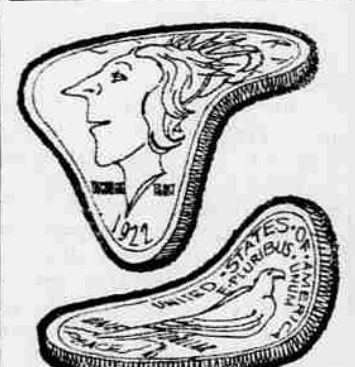

Junior Bethel night was observed at the last session, with a dinner for parents preceding the session. Mrs. Harold Gordon, guardian, gave the agenda for the coming grand session to be held in Medford April 10-12.

Junior Bethel officers serving for the evening were Gail Crenshaw, Sharon Hamm, Lana Merrifield, Dorothy Arney, Sandra Sanner, messengers; Margaret Tizekker, chaplain; Heather Rode, treasurer; Marlys Brown, recorder; April Owens, inner guard; Janet Turner, outer guard; Karen Mayfield, musician.

Queen Patricia Hansen announced that go-to-church Sunday will be observed March 2.

Following the meeting Miss Glenna Hobbs and Miss Sandy Thurston gave a dance. The dining room was decorated in the valentine theme.
