

Private Group Asks To Build ER Center

Portland—An organization of private investors said today it will propose to the Portland city council that it be permitted to build, with private funds, an exposition center at Delta park to seat 50,000 persons and to be ready by next spring in time for the Oregon Centennial.

Put Portland First, Inc., said that if the city would agree to the proposal, the investors would ask in return: A 50-year franchise and lease on the Delta park site at $1 per year; and an agreement that if the Pacific International should deed its property to the city, then the city should, in turn, deed the PI property to the corporation.

Although the city has already begun site clearing for its own exposition center between the Broadway and Steel bridges, the corporation suggested that it buy the site on a dollar-for-dollar basis and that it would build multiple housing there.

Firm Tone Develops As List Strengthens

New York—The stock market developed a firm tone near closing time today. Strength in a few pivotal issues helped sustain the industrial. These included Du Pont, General Electric, American Can, and U.S. Steel. Rails changed little except for Norfolk and Western, off more than a point, and Union Pacific held about unchanged.

A few bright spots developed here and there. Kennecott declared the usual dividend of $1.50 and the stock rose more than that. American Motors turned very active and firm when its president said the company plans to seek credit arrangements which will permit it to make dividend payments.

Fire Levels Large Shed at Klamath

Klamath Falls — A spectacular fire Thursday night and early today destroyed a shed about three blocks long and a large amount of finished pine lumber at the Car-Ad-Co Company mill on the northwest outskirts of the city.

John Moehl, manager, said there was no immediate estimate on monetary loss. Cause of the blaze was unknown.

The blaze broke out about 10:30 p.m. and was still burning brightly five hours later. A fog settled in about 3:30 a.m.

One estimate said there was more than one million board feet of finished lumber in the shed.

Firemen saved a mill, a box factory, two large turpentine storage vats and nearby homes. City firemen were helped by volunteers, the Oregon Tech fire department, the Merrill fire department and the local Air Force.

Driver Training To Be Offered To Many

Salem—Prospects that high school driver education courses will be offered to a record number of Oregon boys and girls this fall appear good, state traffic safety officials said today.

Starting July 1, financial assistance will be available for the courses to the extent of 75 per cent of the cost up to a limit of $20 per pupil. Funds come from an additional $1 fee on each driver and chauffeur license issued by the state.

To qualify for money, a school district must conform with standards by the state department of education.
