Peabody Award Goes To Comic Bob Hope

New York — (AP) — Comic Bob Hope failed to pick up his George Foster Peabody award in person Wednesday, but he stole the 18th annual radio-TV award show anyway — by long distance.

Hope, who received one of the 15 Peabody awards for his "contribution to international understanding," was tied up in Seattle because of the premier of his latest movie. However, he recorded a special message for the 800 persons who attended the Peabody luncheon here which was played over a public address system.

Thought As Pilot

Taking note of his frequent trips, Hope noted that his wife "thinks I'm a pilot of United Air Lines."

And in one barb at the critics he said: "You critics have been very constructive — unfortunately, my religion is against suicide."

Dinah Shore was not on hand either to receive a Peabody award for her musical show and she, too, recorded a message of thanks. Miss Shore currently is appearing at a club in Las Vegas.

Frank Stanton, president of CBS Inc., in accepting an award for "the depth and range" coverage of CBS-TV news, noted the network had lost $11 million in its news coverage.

Cert Read Citations

Publisher and TV panelist Bennett Cerf, chairman of the Peabody Awards Board, read the citations and awards were presented by Dr. John E.
Drewry, dean of the University of Georgia School of Journalism which administers the fund left by the late George Foster Peabody.

Other awards included: Television news: ABC, for "Prologue '58" and other significant news coverage by Charles Daly and associates.

"Television entertainment (non-musical): 'Hallmark Hall

Anastasia Riddle Renewed in Court

Wiesbaden, Germany — (AP) — Russian born Paris ballet master Serge Lifar flew here today to appear in one of the most prolonged and intriguing royal mysteries of the 20th Century.

"Is Anastasia, grand duchess of Czarist Russia, alive or dead?"

An attempt to unravel the 36-year-old riddle is now in its 25th consecutive session before the German courts.

The court is reviewing the claim of Mrs. Anna Anderson, 57, that she is Anastasia, daughter of Czar Nicholas II, and that she survived the Bolshevik massacre that killed Nicholas and the rest of the Russian royal family in 1906.

Anastasia's former cavalry escort, Felix Dessel, supported Mrs. Anderson's claim. But Prof. Pierre Gilliard, a former language teacher in the Czar's court, said she definitely was not Anastasia.

Lifar, who last week lost a rapier duel in Paris with the Marquis de Cuevas, declined to say in advance whether his testimony would support or oppose her claim.

Cuba Rebels End Hunger Strike

Brownsville, Tex. — (AP) — Thirty-five captured Cuban rebels called off their hunger strike in its eighth day Wednesday night on learning the United States has banned further arms shipments to the Cuban government of Fulgencio Batista.

The rebels, captured last Thursday as they attempted to sail in an arms laden ship to the aid of Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro, had originally vowed to starve "to the death if necessary" to protest their imprisonment. They had not eaten for two days before their capture, doctors said.

Seventeen had been taken to Mercy hospital where they were fed intravenously while continuing the strike by refusing to take food by mouth.

The rebels' leader, Arnaldo Barron, 34, of New York, and three other ringleaders were to appear in court today for hearing on a habeas corpus proceeding filed by their attorney.

Before breaking their fast the 18 jailed rebels sang their "victory song" and later said a prayer and sang again.

RIGHT AT HOME

London — (AP) — Railway sig-nalman Arthur Barrett has been granted permission to take his job with him when he retires. Barrett and his wife bought an unusual railway station from the state-owned British Railways to convert into a home.
