Transport Limps To Home Base On Three Engines

Travis AFB, Calif. — A crippled C97 transport with 58 persons aboard limped home to a safe landing Saturday after a harrowing six and a half hour struggle across the Pacific on three engines.

The plane, enroute to Hickman Air Force Base, Hawaii, had passed the midway point between California and Hawaii when one engine caught fire and another started "running rough."

The big double-decker Military Air Transport Service plane landed safely here at 8:38 a.m. p.m. with only three engines working.

The plane, military counterpart of the Boeing strato-cruiser, carried 49 passengers and nine crewmen.

The model has been plagued with engine trouble in recent months. At least eight of the big planes have crashed or developed engine trouble during Pacific flights within the past year.

Runaway Prop — On April 26 a C97 turned back to Hawaii after developing a runaway prop.

Saturday's drama began shortly after 2 a.m. p.m. as the four-engine craft headed from Travis to Hickman. At that time the plane was just past the midway point on the 2,200-mile flight, but 38 minutes short of the "point of return," a point calculated on fuel and wind conditions behind which the plane would not have fuel enough to return to its original base.

'Bubble Chamber' Will Aid Studies

Schectady, N.Y. — The General Electric company's research laboratory has donated a "bubble chamber" to the laboratory of nuclear studies at Cornell University.

The heart of the bubble chamber is a glass-ended cylinder about six inches in diameter containing liquid hydrogen in which the tracks of fast-moving nuclear particles can be observed.

The device has been used during the past two years in connection with experiments on the laboratory's 300-million-electron volt synchrotron which accelerates electrons to extremely high speeds and directs them at a target.

Jobless Still Up At Month's End Statistics Show

Washington — Unemployment was still climbing at the end of March, a Labor Department report indicated Saturday.

An increase in layoffs was reflected by the fact the number of new claims for unemployment compensation went up last week. They rose by 17,500 to 421,900, reversing a two-week decline.

For the month as a whole, new claims fell by 14,000, but their upward trend at the end of the month — at a time when seasonal factors usually reduce joblessness — darkened the recession picture somewhat.

The Labor department said there were sizeable increases in new claims last week in New York, which reported 4,700; Pennsylvania, 5,900; Maine, 5,400; Michigan, 3,700; New Hampshire, 2,700; and Missouri, 2,200.

Other Economic developments — Housing experts predicted between 100,000 and 150,000 additional new dwelling units would be built this year as a result of a seven-point program announced Friday by President Eisenhower to stimulate homebuilding. Among other things, the President eliminated the two percent down payment on GI home loans.

The Commerce and Labor departments estimated that spending on new construction of all types for this year's first quarter was three percent higher than that for the same three months of 1957. The upsurge, to an estimated $9,700,000,000 was attributed mainly to higher costs, primarily on public housing and highway projects, rather than to an increase in physical volume of construction.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn accepted congressional Democrats of putting on a "legislative medicine show" with their anti-recession proposals. He called on them to "get to work on the carefully prepared recession cures submitted by the administration."

Stevenson Called Demo's Big Hope

Chicago — Adlai E. Stevenson, twice defeated in his bids for the presidency, remains the Democratic party's "best hope in 1960," according to Sen. Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.).

Neuberger said Friday it has become increasingly apparent the 1960 nominee will not only carry the election but will be a person of "extraordinary talent and foresight."

The Oregon Democrat said that "recent international developments in the field of nuclear testing only serves to heighten the wisdom of what Stevenson said during the 1956 campaign."

Stevenson had made nuclear controls an important issue in the 1956 campaign and warned repeatedly of the dangers of strontium-90.

"It's my opinion Stevenson continues to be the best hope of the Democratic party," Neuberger said.

Bituminous coal production in one year was about 392 million tons, or about 2.5 tons for every man, woman and child in the United States.

Weather Changes Halt Speed Test Of Jet Tanker

Yokota Air Base, Japan, Sunday — A change in weather conditions early Saturday forced a last-minute postponement of a record-breaking, non-stop Tokyo to Madrid flight by a U.S. Air Force KC-135 jet strato-tanker.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said that the takeoff was now set for early Monday, which seems "favorable" weatherwise, or for Tuesday.

The spokesman said, a change in the weather, mostly wind conditions forced a delay.

The strato-tanker, with Eubank at the controls arrived at Yokota Wednesday from Castle Air Force Base, where the 93rd Bomber Wing is based.

Brig. Gen. William E. Eubank, Jr., and his crew, who plan to fly over the United States on a 11,487-mile non-stop trip from Japan to the Spanish capital, are attempting to break records set by a Navy flight from Columbus, Ohio, to Perth, Australia, and another Air Force General Curtis Lemay, who piloted another KC-135 last year on a 6,325-mile flight.

New Sea Limits May Chop Area For Fishermen

Seattle — The regional office of the Washington Department of Fisheries was told Friday that if the proposed 12-mile jurisdiction on territorial waters is approved by the International Law commission, fishermen will lose about 4,500 square miles of trawl fishing area off Vancouver island.

The statement was part of a report given at a meeting here by George Johansen, secretary of the Alaska Fishermen's union, and Dayton L. Alverson, of the state fisheries agency. Johansen and Alverson have been in Washington, D.C., conferring with congressmen and the state department on the proposed agreement, which is opposed by the Pacific Northwest fishing industry.

The 80-nation International Law commission is currently meeting in Geneva, Switzerland.

Johansen and Alverson said the fishing industry has the support of coast states congressional delegations. They said the congressmen will demand that the proposed 12-mile agreement must have congressional ratification.

DEFINES "EXECUTIVE"

Washington — The government Saturday won't classify anyone as an executive unless he makes at least $80 a week. STOWAWAY POSES PROBLEM

London — British officials had an attractive Yugoslav woman stowaway on their hands Saturday and they didn't know exactly what to do with her. Black-haired Salopek Marja, 22, stole aboard the Swedish ship Ivan Gorthon March 11 at Rijeka. Officials were undecided whether to keep her aboard the ship or imprison her while arranging her transport back to Yugoslavia.

THE 80-nation International Law commission is currently meeting in Geneva, Switzerland.

Johansen and Alverson said the fishing industry has the support of coast states congressional delegations. They said the congressmen will demand that the proposed 12-mile agreement must have congressional ratification.

The Ways of The Lord

I asked God for strength, that I might achieve—
I was made weak, that I might learn humbly to obey
I asked for help that I might do greater things—
I was given infirmity, that I might do better things
I asked for riches, that I might be happy—
I was given poverty, that I might be wise.
I asked for all things, that I might enjoy life—
I was given life, that I might enjoy all things.
I got nothing that I asked for—but everything I had hoped for.
Despite myself, my prayers were answered.
I am, among all men, most richly blessed.
