Heart Fund Report Given at Meeting

A report on the Heart Fund campaign outside the Medford area in Jackson county was given by Mrs. Earl Reymers at the executive board meeting of the American Cancer society recently.

A report also was given on the campaign for the "Seven Danger Signals" of cancer. Early diagnosis and treatment mean that half the people who now get cancer could and would be saved, she said.

Cancer Sabbath has been set on April 12 and Cancer Sunday on April 13, according to John Dellenback, president of the group. Local ministers are cooperating with the observance, he said.

The annual tea will be held April 18 at Hillcrest Orchards starting at 2:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend, Dellenback added.

Arkansas ranked eighth among states in the production of strawberries in 1956 by growing 13,600,000 pounds.

Improvement in Mill Prices Seen

More optimism and some improvement in mill prices were seen in the lumber industry last week by two weekly lumber market news services.

Crow's Lumber Market, Portland, reported a slight increase in the price index for the two-week period ending April 3, the first such rise since early February. Production at the small mill level was down slightly, it said, but with demand from the east and midwest holding steady, the prices showed some improvement.

Random Lengths, Eugene lumber market news service, noted a great degree of optimism in the industry last week, although there was little material reason for it.

The service reported that the week was slow in terms of actual trading. The overall bullishness was attributed largely to fair order files at the mills and to the hope that improved weather in the consuming areas would lead to an increase in buying.

Judy Garland Turns Over Jewels In Lieu of Bond

New York—Judy Garland went to court in a sack Thursday and meekly turned over to the state of New York her diamonds, her pearls, her rubies and her fanciest night club costumes.

The temperamental singer, who flounced off a Brooklyn night club stage Sunday night, was called up to answer charges she owes the state $8,673 in income taxes left over from palmy days, primarily her smash hit appearance in the vaudeville Palace in 1952.

The gowns and jewelry were picked up at her hotel later in lieu of $10,000 bond to assure her appearance for further questioning by tax agents next Monday.

Miss Garland had originally refused to talk to tax agents. They swore out a warrant for her arrest. Then she agreed to appear in Supreme Court, Queens, Thursday morning. When she didn't appear, deputy sheriffs went to her Manhattan hotel. Her attorney assured them he'd bring Miss Garland right along, and he did.

Her only words in court were "yes, sir," when the judge asked if she were willing to turn over her possessions as bond.

Gowns Also Taken

They included a diamond bracelet, valued at $18,000, she said was given her by her estranged husband, Sid Luft, a wrist watch given her by her mother on her 21st birthday, a string of pearls and other diamond and ruby trinkets. The tax men also latched on to a group of on-stage gowns valued at $350 each.

The sack she went to court in was strictly fashionable, a purple chemise dress, topped by a red and blue hat.

Taxpayers Asked To Retain Forms

Portland—A reminder to Federal income taxpayers to retain their copies of returns during the current tax season was issued today by District Director Ralph C. Granquist of the Portland office of the Internal Revenue service. Records of income and expense used in preparation of the return also should be kept, he said.

"Tax forms and records must be preserved for at least three years from the deadline date, April 15, in case any question concerning a return should arise," Granquist stated.

"Beyond this requirement, however, taxpayers should find that retention of their copies of returns should help them in filing next year especially if there is little or no change in their financial status. In addition, the Revenue Service suggests that records of 1958 expenditures—canceled checks, receipts, notations of contributions, sales taxes and other levies, interest payments and other deductible items—be retained with the return copy for ready reference in computing 1958 Federal and state returns."

Communications Expert Named

C. R. Roberts, who has been early night operations manager at the Seattle, Wash., Western Union office, has been appointed district sales manager for northern California, western Nevada and southern Oregon, W. S. Fowler, general manager of Western Union's Pacific division, San Francisco, has announced.

Roberts will visit Western Union offices in the district and will assist business firms with their communications problems. He will work with F. H. Gray, local Western Union manager.

Jacobs entered the Western Union service nine years ago as a relief manager. His appointment is one of several positions established throughout the country to provide business firms with advice in the field of written record communications.

He will study the communication needs of business firms, and recommend to them those Western Union services which apply to the firm's own method of doing business.
