

Leaders To Learn Camping

Girl Scout leaders, assistant leaders and committee members interested in learning outdoor skills needed to take troops on overnight camping are invited to attend a planning session at St. Marks Guild hall, Wednesday, April 9, from 9:15 a.m. until 2 p.m. Those attending are asked to bring a sack lunch; coffee will be provided. This meeting is for those leaders of Ashland, Medford and the West Siskiyou districts; a similar session will be held April 10 for those of the Grants Pass area, or those who were unable to attend the Medford meeting.

Adults attending will be asked to list the skills they want to learn; and the skills required to take a group of girls overnight camping. An overnight camp session for adult Scouters will be held at Camp Chinquapin on May 9-10. The skills learned in these sessions are necessary when working for the camper's badge and for the annual Girl Scout camporee.

A film "Let's Go Troop Camping" will also be shown. Those adults arriving early in the session will be given instructions on preparing, rolling and tying a bedroll; this will be given by Mrs. Bruce Stuart and Mrs. Peter Zimmerman.

Mrs. William Baker, field director and Mrs. Jerry Gattineau, training chairman, will be in overall charge of the meeting.

Plans are being made also for a day camp outdoor training session to be held Wednesday, April 30, not only for those who will teach at day

Students Spend Vacation Here

Mrs. Charles Capello gave the nominating committee report. Nominated are Mrs. Glenn Cathey, president; Mrs. George Bray, Mrs. Gene Irwin, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Stratton, secretary; Mrs. Bruce Pingle, Mrs. Andrew Hamstra, treasurer; Mrs. Capello, Mrs. Cupples, sergeant-at-arms.

The Lions and auxiliary sponsored an Easter egg hunt Sunday at the City park.

Hostesses for the April potluck dinner are Mrs. Irwin and Mrs. Harris.

Cities Report Shortage Of Capable Domestic Help

By GAY PAULEY
United Press Women's Editor
New York — The woman looking for a capable, full-time maid may find her—if the domestic gets her own room and bath, a television set, air-conditioning and regular hours.

For today's household helper can just about write her own employment ticket in most sections of the country, despite all the labor-saving devices supposed to eliminate the need for servants.

A United Press spotcheck of major cities showed a general shortage of capable domestics. Only Dallas and San Francisco reported a surplus. In San Francisco, the surplus was in the domestic who wanted to "live out."

But the number of domestics has increased rapidly in the post-war years, says the U.S. Labor Department. It said there now are 2,328,000 full and part-time workers, compared with 1,922,000 in 1952 and 1,714,000 in 1947.

Agencies give two major reasons why householders' applications go unfulfilled, even with the increase.

More Families Seeking Help. More families can afford and are hiring part-time assistance. And the increase isn't enough, because workers who at one time may have taken domestic jobs have found better pay in factory, office or store.

"I've at least 1,000 unfilled applications, some of them on file for six months," said Anthony Wagner, president of a New York agency. "There's a big demand for European labor. Some housewives even offer to pay the fare over for a prospect."

"Housewives are begging for help," reported the Miami branch of the Florida State Employment agency.

"Today's domestic has become a specialist," said Jacques Taylor, whose firm hires servants on a regular 50-week a year basis, and then assigns them as job applications come in. "What's become of the maid-of-all-work? She's drawing social security, that's what."

"Most maids don't want to keep children," reported an agency in Nashville. "And they don't want to cook if they have to clean, and don't want to clean if they have to cook."

New York agencies said the specialist most in demand is the housekeeper, and certainly the "housekeeper wanted" ads are plentiful in the classifieds.

One suburban New York housewife looking for a housekeeper advertised, "... pleasant, congenial family... new, air-conditioned ranch house, own room, bath, TV, other help."

Lodge Honors Past Officers; Event Planned

Chicago agency. Salaries vary from city to city, but the average paid the maid who lives out runs from $1 to $1.75 an hour, plus lunch and carfare. A housekeeper will earn from $50 a week on up, with meals and rooms included. And Wagner's agency said a couple taking jobs as butler and housekeeper in the East will earn from $450 to $700 a month.

Mrs. Harriet Buell, an interviewer for the California State Department of Employment, said she could recall when good help was even scarcer than today. She told of one young Irish-born girl who would stare into space as she listened to Mrs. Buell describe a job.

"It finally got me," said Mrs. Buell. "I asked her, 'do you want the position or not?'" The girl answered, "I have to find out if the spirit moves me." Said Mrs. Buell, "usually it did not."

Honored for having March birthdays were Miss Anderson and Mrs. Roy Bratten.

Final plans for friendship night April 16 were made. Committees appointed were: Program, Mrs. John Robison and Mrs. Thomason; invitations, Mrs. Signa Day and Mrs. Weidman; decoration, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. Lee McNew; souvenirs, Mrs. Robert Monsey, Mrs. Melvin Frick and Mrs. John Kime. Refreshments will be furnished by the members. Anyone not having been notified is to take either sandwiches or salad.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Ellsworth Robison, Mrs. Lloyd Jones and Mrs. Roy Bratten.

Three Initiated At University

Salem — The spring semester at Willamette university saw three southern Oregon students initiated into Greek letter groups.

Miss Ann Garner, daughter of Walter Garner, 2009 East Main street, Medford, was initiated into Delta Gamma sorority. Richard James, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim James, 209 Fifth street, Phoenix, is a new member of Sigma Chi and Greg Milnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Milnes, 15 North Groveland avenue, Medford, was initiated into Phi Delta Theta.

The latter is also a new pledge of Phi Mu Alpha, national music honor society.

Many of the new spring hats look like wigs, made of flowers. These are concoctions of delicately-hued blooms which like turbans cover almost all the hair.

Gardeners Hear Member Speak On Wild Flowers

Mrs. Frank Carson gave an illustrated talk on wild flowers with slides at the meeting of Medford Garden club Thursday at the Court-house auditorium. She was assisted by Mrs. E. L. Ekerson.

Mrs. Rookard Ostrander introduced Mrs. William H. Naylor, who exhibited a large collection of bird figurines that she had acquired while in Germany.

A large display of miniature flower arrangements in ceramic and antique containers was exhibited by the members.

Mrs. Carson, membership chairman, introduced and presented corsages to Mrs. Jack Moran, Mrs. Forest Van Vleck, Mrs. Carroll Miller, Mrs. A. C. Allen Jr. and Mrs. W. A. Shutt, after which they were accepted and welcomed as members of the Medford Garden club by the president Mrs. Gerald VonTing.

Guests introduced were Mrs. L. H. Espey, Mrs. Norvel T. Jones, Mrs. William L. Dunivent and Mrs. Leo Mansfield.

Winning prizes were Mrs. Clifford Griffiths, and Mrs. L. P. Rentchler.

Appointed on the nominating committee were Mrs. Charles C. Starns, Mrs. E. F. Archer and Mrs. C. L. Miller.

Mrs. VonTing has asked that all annual reports and scrap books be turned in at the next meeting.

It was announced that the annual flower show will be held at the Red Cross building April 26.

The tea and social hour was in charge of Mrs. Harry Olsen, assisted by Mrs. Harry Bryant, Mrs. Thomas Cardona, Mrs. A. G. McMillin, and Mrs. Glen Holst, who made the arrangements for the sale.

Mrs. I. D. Fitzgerald, Siskiyou district director, and Mrs. Charles Stearns poured.

The Reber family arrived in Portland March 27 by train and were met by the Leschenskys there. They will spend three weeks in the valley and cards.

Medford School to Observe Boys'-Girls' League Week

Plans for Boys' and Girls' league week at Medford High school are nearing completion, according to Miss Sue Knight and Bob Gee, general chairmen. Miss Knight is president of Girls' league.

The week of April 14-18 has been set aside for the various activities. Monday is to be a "Grubby Day." This will be a dress up day, and a king and queen of the "Grubs" will be crowned at an assembly during registration room period. A sack lunch day is planned for Tuesday. This is the day when all noon hours are combined into one and sack lunches are eaten on the field.

Boys will present a talent assembly Wednesday for Boys' league. Highlight of Girls' league week will be the annual teas and style show Thursday. This year, for the first time, there will be two teas. Mothers of sophomore girls will be honored at a tea at 1:30 p.m. and the tea for mothers of junior and senior girls will follow the style show, which is set for 2:30 p.m.

Miss Sue Martin is general chairman, with Miss Mary Campbell and Miss Delores Williams assisting. The tea will have an Oriental motif, and will be served in the cafeteria.

The style show, with the theme "Around the World," will be presented in the auditorium with Miss Joyce Gilinsky and Miss Marianne Samuelson as general chairmen. Clothing made by students in sewing classes is to be modeled by the students.

A field day and dance Friday will end the week. Organizations of the school will enter teams in track and field events. Climaxing the entire program will be a girls' date "cotton and cord" dance in the boys' gymnasium.

EVE NYE REPRESENTATIVE

REPUBLICAN — FOR STATE

If you want PLAIN GOOD GOVERNMENT without frills or extravagance, and a warm, sympathetic understanding of YOUR problems, EVE NYE should be YOUR choice. She believes in...

1. That government should be kept as close to the people as possible.
2. That the state has an obligation to its citizens to (a) Provide personal and property protection. (b) Promote conditions which offer the maximum opportunities for economic, physical and cultural well-being.

To carry out these broad responsibilities, she believes that we must:

1. Adopt a tax structure which distributes the burden more equitably than presently.
2. Provide a favorable tax climate for industry, both large and small for more and better job opportunities.
3. Pass laws which protect the rights of both labor and management.
4. Provide for wise use of natural resources.
5. Assume a humane and long-range approach to social problems—particularly with regard to the aged and the handicapped.
6. Provide a system of education which will develop the highest potential in each student, eliminating extravagance and duplication through improved administration and organizational procedures.
