Girls Hold Candy Sale

With the launching of the 1958 Camp Fire Girls candy and peanut in Jackson county last week, local Camp Fire Girls, Blue Birds and Horizon club members have joined thousands of girls in their sister councils throughout the United States to do their share in this annual money-raising event.

Mrs. Ruth Gerety, executive director of the Rogue Camp Fire Girls council, urges support of this "worthwhile, character-building youth organization." "You treat a Camp Fire Girl to greater companionship, fun and learning—encouragement that will make them stronger citizens of tomorrow. You are also helping to expand the privileges of membership in Camp Fire to more and more girls eagerly awaiting the opportunity," Mrs. Gerety said.

Awards are given to each girl who sells a certain number of boxes, and each group gets a share in the profits to supplement its treasury for individual group activities.
