

An open house on March 27 observed the fortieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Stocks, 2411 Table Rock road. Their three children and nine grandchildren were in Medford for the open house and a family dinner.

Annual Climbers Listed For Background Screens

By EDNA KING MANDEVILLE
In my last article I told you about a number of climbers that could be most useful in beautifying your garden and screening out unwanted backgrounds. Today I shall write about some special favorites of mine that I am sure you would enjoy in your garden.

First, there is the black-eyed susan vine which is also called thunbergia. A more attractive little vine I never did see. The flowers have black centers with white, yellow and orange petals. Unless encouraged to climb, it will trail along the ground. It is very effective in a rock garden.

Then there is the old-fashioned nasturtium. The single variety is more of a climber than the double. This is one of the few climbers that produces flowers that make excellent cut flowers. As you know, it comes in many lovely colors.

I think the all-time favorite among climbers is the morning glory, whose beautiful colors add something to any garden, even while screening out an unwanted view. And what a choice of colors there are! In blue we have the heavenly blue, summer skies, and blue star. For red there is the lovely giant scarlett O'Hara. Then there is a distinctly new color for morning glories — candy pink, clear and sparkling like the pink of cherry blossoms. The Cornell morning glory combines red and white, having large red flowers banded with pure white borders. And of course we cannot forget to mention the loveliness of the giant pure white flowered morning glory called pearly gates. I know you'll share my enthusiasm for these colorful varieties.

And with all this beauty, there is now still another entirely new morning glory to take its place proudly on this impressive list. The new sunrise serenade morning glory, recently developed by the plant breeding experts, is being introduced this year for the first time. Furthermore, if you've never seen a fully double morning glory, you've really got a treat coming when you grow sunrise serenade. Its flowers are so completely double and so ruffled that you'll think you are growing carnations on a vine! Each blossom measures from 1½ to 2 inches across, with many petals giving a delightfully ruffled effect as beautiful as the name implies. In addition, sunrise serenade offers a full range of lovely colors, perfect for ground cover or for climbing. I'm sure you'll want to be the first in your neighborhood to enjoy the exciting adventure of seeing this beauty unfold in your garden!

I wouldn't want to close the subject of climbers without a brief mention of the annual sweet pea. These climbers are grown primarily for their flowers, which add a colorful touch to gardens and bouquets. The choice of colors is almost limitless. Two expertly developed varieties of the past few years are the multiflora and the heat resistant floribunda strains. You'll be missing a great deal if you don't try them yourself.

One final word: there is a decided advantage in using annual rather than perennial climbers. Just as you might desire new spring clothing each year, so too might you prefer a change of color or

Couple Holds Open House On Fortieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Stocks celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary Sunday, March 23, with open house at their home, 2411 Table Rock road.

The couple were married at Epworth, Iowa, March 23, 1918. They came to Medford in June, 1927 where they have made their home since.

Mr. and Mrs. Stocks have three children, Ardo B. Stocks, Sacramento, Calif.; Mrs. L. A. Rose, Grants Pass, and Kenneth M. Stocks, Coos Bay, Ore.

Saturday evening a family dinner was held attended by the three children, nine grandchildren, and Mrs. Stock three sisters. The sisters are Mrs. Orin Albin, Canon City, Colo.; Mrs. L. C. Taylor, Medford, and Mrs. Ira Woolfolk, Brownsboro. Members of the families of Mrs. Stocks' relatives were also present at the dinner. Others attending included Mr. and Mrs. John Juergens, Fresno, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Stiehler, Grover City, Calif., cousins of Mrs. Stocks; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frye and daughter, Roxanna Knight, cousins of Mrs. Stocks' mother.

A bouquet of flowers similar to those carried on her wedding day were presented Mrs. Stocks by her grandchildren. Golden wedding colors of yellow and white were used in the floral arrangements in the room and on the table.

About 90 guests called during the open house. One display during the event was the wedding picture of the honor couple.

Delegates To Attend Corps Rally

About 22 delegates of the Home League of the Salvation Army will attend a rally in Roseburg for the corps in southern Oregon Monday, April 14. Officers from divisional headquarters in Portland will be present at the rally.

During the past three months the Home league has participated in various community projects. Easter the league filled Easter baskets for distribution to the three Medford hospitals, nursing homes in Medford and Jacksonville and the county farm home. The baskets were also distributed to men attending Easter services at Camp White and the youngsters who attended Sunday school. More than 600 baskets were distributed in this manner.

The League has also made and distributed layettes to needy families and in February distributed Valentine gifts to various groups in the valley.

They also sponsored several "Galloping Breakfasts" which raised funds for foreign missionaries of the Salvation Army. The drive, concluded on Easter Sunday each year, raised $75 for this fund.

Society to Hear Missionary Talk

Mrs. Robert Peterson, Grants Pass, will be guest speaker for a meeting of Woman's Society of Christian Service Tuesday, April 15 at 1 p.m. at First Methodist church. Mrs. Peterson will return to the mission field in India this summer with her husband, Dr. Peterson.

Mrs. George Roseberry, who is in charge of the day's program, says that Mrs. Peterson will speak on her work in India and will show her colored slides. Mrs. Richard Fanger will lead the afternoon devotions.

The prayer circle will meet at 10:30 a.m. in Meeker Memorial chapel, followed at 11 a.m. by the business session in the Schweitzer room. Mrs. John Poage and Circle 1 will serve the lunch at 12:15 p.m. in the dining hall. A nursery attendant will be available all day for pre-schoolers.

Friends and members are invited to attend the meetings.

Blue Star Mothers To Sew Thursday

Blue Star Mothers will meet at the home of Mrs. Helen Watson, 617 Catherine street Thursday, April 17 at 10 a.m. for a work day. Ditty bags for use at Camp White domiciliary will be made. Plans for the annual Blue Daisy sale May 23-24 will be completed.

All members are urged to attend this meeting. Luncheon will be potluck.

Here are a few examples of the four types of drugs:

Palliative—morphine — for the relief of pain and caffeine in shock.

Prophylactic—vaccines such as typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox, etc.

Restorative—Such as iron salts used in anemia to restore the blood to normal condition.

Curative—Such as sulfanilamide, which acts against streptococci.

The parts of plants that have medicinal value are dried and then known as crude drugs. From crude drugs medicinal preparations are made . . . some of these crude drugs come from such plants as roots of dandelion, pokeweed and leaves of jimson wood, etc. . . These come from all over the world as opium poppy from China, digitalis leaves from Europe and from India nuxvomica seeds the source of strychnine.
