NOW ABOUT THAT VOTE

Burntwood England — Village councillor Bill Neville complained officially Sunday that all of Burtwood's most secluded country paths are cluttered with waste paper and cans and untidy hedges that ruin ladies' nylons.

"What we want is a nice, well-conducted lover's lane," Neville said, "where people can be alone in comfort."

The Medical Roundup

Pills for Diabetes

Many diabetics are now asking if they can drop their insulin and change to pills of tolbutamide.

Much depends on their age and, of course, the severity of their diabetes.

At a recent meeting in Kalamazoo some 500 physicians gathered to hear Dr. Ernst Pfeiffer, from Germany, and Dr. Rachmiel Levine, of Chicago, tell about their experience with the new drug. They agreed that it is useless for persons who got their diabetes before they were 25. Such persons have a pancreas that does not make much insulin, and so they usually have to keep taking some by injection.

Most of the men and women who get diabetes before they are 40 are also likely to need insulin. They seldom will be able to get by with the drug taken by mouth. If diabetes comes in later life the person's ability to get along with pills will depend on how much insulin, he won't be able to shift to the pills. Also he may not be able to rely on pills if the severity of his diabetes tends to vary markedly from day to day.

But, with all these restrictions, the doctors think about half of the millions of diabetics in the country will be able to use the pills. Apparently, however, one patient in 12 will find that the drug will not help him; one in 12 will be helped for a while, and then the effects will wear off, and a few will have to quit using the drug because of side-effects, such as skin rashes, nausea, and vomiting.

Leaders of French political parties held a series of meetings today to decide whether to accept or reject the government's new plan for settling the crisis with Tunisia.

Gaillard won a temporary victory over his right-wing opponents in a marathon cabinet session this weekend and decided to ask for the vote so he would have a free hand to settle the crisis. The actual voting would come at least 24 hours later.

Jack Marks, Portland zoo director, was informed Friday of the Soviet's willingness in a letter from I. G. Shlyayev of the Central Zoological Office in Moscow.

Marks said plans now were being considered for flying the beavers to Moscow and the bears to Portland. Six animals from each country would be involved.

Billiecat, England — Maurice Cathie, 47, was arrested for riding on a train without shoes or clothing. "Everybody has his own peculiarities," Cathie said, this is mine.
