

Russia's Trade-With-Aid Offensive Believed Proving Harmful To West

London — Soviet Russia is stepping up a worldwide trade-with-aid offensive which officials here believe

Election Planned For Local Jaycees At Tuesday Meet

An election of officers will be held at the regular Medford Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday, April 22.

Presidential candidates are Art Van Leeuwen, 1110 West 9th st. and Donald Carlon, 106 Elm st.

Other candidates are Calvin McKibben, 3672 Bursell rd., Central Point and Charles E. Henry, 349 Lindero st., Medford, first vice president; John C. Anicker Jr., 113 Laurel st., Baynard Gilbert, 615 Oakdale dr., and John Foster, 238 King st., second vice president; Leiland Carpenter, 929 Mt. Pitt st. and Richard Lamont, 2234 Roberts rd., treasurer; and Brian Mullin, route 3, Box 207, and Wallace M. Long, 16 Eastwood dr., secretary.

District Judge James M. Main talked on the administration of justice in Oregon during Tuesday's meeting of the Medford Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Judge Main, who is a candidate for circuit judge, Jackson county, is a member of the legislative interim committee and chairman of the trial courts' subcommittee. He discussed the major problems facing the committee and possible solution. These include delay at the appellate level, problems involved in the juvenile code, delay in trial courts and problems of uniform traffic law administration.

The committee has held hearings with charitable, juvenile, parent-teacher and traffic safety groups to determine recommended procedures, the district court judge told the Jaycees.

MacLaren Escapee Taken at Pendleton

Pendleton—Police said a 16-year-old boy, arrested here for excessive motor noise in a motorcycle, was an escapee from the MacLaren school for boys. The boy was returned to Woodburn Wednesday.

Officers said the boy admitted taking a truck near Woodburn, a motorcycle in Portland and a wallet containing $155 from a Hermiston man in his home on Monday.

is hurting the West more than the Sputnik successes or the propaganda offer to halt nuclear tests.

Its main targets are the "under-developed" and "uncommitted" countries.

Chief among them are the United Arab Republic, India, Afghanistan and Indonesia. Western officials are convinced the Soviet's main goal is to push their political influence in these countries at the West's expense.

But Moscow's tireless carpetbaggers and aid dispensers are striving to extend it to areas which the West hitherto has regarded as its own economic preserves — including Latin America, North Africa, Ethiopia, Saudi Arabia and newly independent Ghana.

Moscow also is working unflaggingly — but with less spectacular results — to step up its trade with Western Europe.

Finland Increases Exchanges
In 1956 this totaled $3,349,300,000 or 4.1 per cent of Western Europe's total trade.

Incomplete figures for 1957 show the percentage last year slipped back to 4 per cent. Only Finland and Iceland sharply increased their trade with Russia.

But 1958 may show a new upsurge, partly as a result of a new commercial pact just signed by Russia with West Germany, under which trade between the two will be almost doubled this year.

The U. S. State Department estimated last January that the Soviet bloc has handed out a total of $1,800,000,000 in the past two years in aid to under-developed countries. Most of this has been in the form of long-term credits at the extremely low interest rate of 2.5 per cent. By far the biggest chunk, $760 million, went to Egypt and Syria, now the United Arab Republic.

Egypt's economic tie-up with the Communist bloc, which began in October, 1955, has been full of jokers for the Egyptians. The price of goods shipped to Egypt by the Soviet bloc has jumped 40 per cent within a year. Delivery on some machinery has been subject to delays up to three years and prices more than doubled after orders were placed. Russia reportedly has fallen far behind schedule in oil deliveries to Egypt.

Offer to Libya Renewed
Recently Russia renewed an offer of $28 million in aid to Libya — an offer that was rejected two years ago.

Reports reaching Britain last week said more than 100 "Communist bloc" technicians currently are working on construction of a new port on the Red Sea coast of Yemen. Indonesia has received $110 million worth of economic aid from the Soviet bloc in the past two years.

Brazil recently received an offer from a Russian trade agency for a $560 million reciprocal trade and payments plan, although Brazil no longer has diplomatic or trade relations with Russia.

The big Soviet commercial mission in Buenos Aires has been dickering with Argentina for sale of some $40 million worth of railroad equipment, oil drilling rigs and other industrial goods in exchange for Argentine hides, wool and linseed.
