

Oregon Methodist Women To Meet Here This Week

"Paths of Service" is the theme for the annual meeting of the Oregon conference, Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church which convenes in Medford April 24 and 25 in First Methodist church.

Mrs. Rector Johnson, Salem, will be the featured speaker Thursday evening. Mrs. Johnson, a past president of the California-Nevada conference of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, attended the World Methodist conference at Lake Junaluska and the meeting of the World Federation of Methodist Women when it became affiliated with the World Methodist conference in 1956.

The World Federation of Methodist Women is an organization composed of 43 separate units of Methodist women around the world. Five of these units are in the United States, one of which is the Woman's Division of Christian Service. The purpose of the organization is to inspire each other to good works by helping one another through the exchange of news and a clear understanding of others needs. Approximately eight and one-half million women are related to each other through the World Federation of Methodist Women.

Miss Louise Campbell, California, recently returned from missionary service in India, will speak Thursday morning and Friday afternoon. The Rev. David R. Schneider, Chiloquin, who has served as a missionary in Honduras and Guatemala, will address the group Friday morning on "Honduran Paths of Service."

Mrs. Milton Snow, Medford, has arranged special music for the two-day meeting. Mrs. Robert Sage, Medford, is directing a skit on the World Federation of Methodist Women, which will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. Charles Adamson and the three local Wesleyan Service Guilds are planning the decorations and program for the banquet which will be held in First Church Thursday evening. The work of the United Church Women, with whom the Woman's Society cooperates, in the field of migrant ministry will be presented.

sent the first morning by a panel. Friday morning "Paths of Christian Citizenship" will be presented by a symposium team, on which Dr. Milton R. Snow, Medford will appear.

Thursday afternoon, members of St. Luke's Methodist church are planning a tea to be held in First church. The Wesley Foundation in Ashland is also planning a tea and tour of the new building for those who wish to visit the project.

The business sessions will be conducted by Mrs. A. L. Walworth, Salem, president of the state organization. Pledges to mission work in Oregon and abroad will be made at this time.

Approximately 35 members of the executive committee of the organization will arrive Wednesday, April 23, for preliminary sessions. They will be entertained for lunch in the church by Susannah Wesley unit of the Wesleyan Service guild and for dinner in the parsonage by the Ruth Esther and Gladson units. The sessions on Thursday and Friday are open meetings and any interested persons are invited to attend. A nursery will be provided for preschool children.

Club Names Contest Winner

Mrs. D. E. Chapman, Medford Junior Women's club entrant, was named district winner Thursday in a sewing contest sponsored by Vogue patterns. The competition was judged following a fashion show held at the district convention of Oregon Federated Women's clubs in Ashland.

The contest is offered on a national basis for members of Federated Women's clubs throughout the United States. The object is to fashion an "ideal costume for the club-woman's wardrobe." Judging basis was 25 per cent for appropriateness as a club costume, 25 per cent for appropriateness of design and fabric to the wearer, 25 per cent for over-all fashion effect, including selection of accessories, and 25 per cent on construction workmanship.

Mrs. Chapman chose an orlon fabric in white which is machine washable. With her dress she wore a simple black straw hat, black patent pumps and black bag. Red beads at the neckline provided one bright color accent.

Vogue offers the pattern of her choice and a subscription to Vogue pattern book for one year to the winner at the local and district levels. State judging will be from district winners assembled at the state convention in Salem, May 7, 8, 9. The grand prize is a cash award and all-expense trip to the national convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs to be held in Detroit, Mich. in June.

Judging was done by Mrs. W. T. Burnap, Corvallis, state junior director, and Mrs. Gene Chamberlain, Medford.
