

Extended Study on Glass Fish Floats Starts by College

Corvallis — Those colorful glass fishnet floats that are periodically found along the Oregon beaches are being eyed by an Oregon State college oceanographer for their scientific, rather than the usual souvenir, value.

Dr. Wayne V. Burt, who has been making an extended study of Oregon's ocean geography for the past five years, believes the glass floats may provide some new information about ocean currents.

Because it is generally believed that the floats come from Japan via the main current systems, Burt is also contacting Japanese officials and

Peach Leaf Curl Is Reported in Area

Nothing can be done about peach leaf curl at this time, according to Clifford B. Cordy, county horticultural agent.

Trees so affected have leaves which curl up, turn red and die, he explained. New leaves appear soon afterwards, he added. Trees with peach leaf curl should be kept especially well fertilized and watered. Sprays containing neutral copper can be applied Oct. 15 and again in January, he said.

The county horticultural agent said he has received a number of calls on this problem.

Liberty Ship for Campus Requested

Traverse City, Mich. — Les Bedierman, president of Northwest Michigan College's board of trustees, has asked members of Michigan's congressional delegation for aid in securing a surplus Liberty ship for use as a floating campus.

He suggested that the ship be converted to provide dormitory and classroom space for about 400 students to be taken on 10-week study tours. There would be four sailings a year. Students would aid in manning the ship.

"Think what it would mean for students to be able actually to visit the Parthenon, Rome, the pyramids, the Suez and other historical places," Bedierman said.

OSC, Sweden Plan Research Conference

Corvallis — The Oregon State college school of forestry and the Royal college of forestry of Sweden will be joint sponsors for a Swedish-American forest research and development conference in Stockholm, Sweden, June 3 to 6.

The conference is part of the six-week tour of industrial forestry operations in Europe being sponsored this summer by the OSC forestry school.

The tour will start from the west coast on May 16 and end July 10 in Paris. It was arranged to give American forestry leaders an opportunity to observe and discuss the intensive forestry methods now employed in Europe.

Designed for Leaders
The conference in Stockholm, designed for forestry leaders of both countries, will emphasize the intensive forest management practices and wood processing techniques used in Sweden in the light of their application to forestry operations in the U.S.

Sweden is recognized throughout the world for its highly scientific approach to the problems of forest management and for the integrated character of its wood-using industries, college officials noted.

Dr. Thorsten Streyffert, director of the Swedish Royal college of forestry, will be conference chairman. Dr. J. R. Dilworth, head of the OSC forest management and tour director, will be vice chairman.

Conference Supplement
As a supplement to the conference, a series of forestry seminars will be held at University of Gottingen, Ger-

Grain Elevators Destroyed by Fire

Davenport, Wash. — Fire destroyed two grain elevators near Lamona, in southern Lincoln county Thursday night.

Firemen said the flames continued smoldering late into the night in grain that cascaded from the buildings as the fire consumed the structures.

One of the buildings contained about 75,000 bushels of wheat, barley and rye.

Firemen said the blaze started about 6 p.m. in the 100-foot high elevators owned by the Odessa Union Warehouse Co. A worker at the site reported he saw sparks flying from the roof of one of the buildings as he was leaving work and summoned the fire department.

Ross L. Reiman, Odessa, warehouse company manager, estimated the damage at $200,000 but said the buildings and grain had complete insurance coverage. Cause of the fire was not determined.

WHICH ONE DO YOU WANT?

you can have your dream house—this easy way!

A dream? Not at all. Thousands of people with modest incomes have been able to save the down payment, or the whole price, of the home of their dreams — because they invested in U. S. Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan where they work.

You, too, can accumulate enough money for the down payment on a home. Or enough for your children's college education or a retirement income. And by saving only a few dollars a week, too.

The answer is that you save systematically on the Payroll Savings Plan. All you have to do is tell your pay office how much you've decided to save each payday (it can be as little as a couple of dollars). After that your money is saved for you, before you get your salary. Then each time enough has accumulated, it is invested in a Bond, and the Bond turned over to you.

And remember—your U. S. Savings Bonds now will bring you an average of 3% interest, compounded semiannually, for 19 years and 8 months. That's why the money you put into Bonds now grows to such a surprisingly big sum.

Why don't you start—today? Sign, where you work, for the Payroll Savings Plan. Or, if you're self-employed, join the Bond-A-Month Plan, at your bank.
