

Back Stairs: Once-a-Year Hackings

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Correspondent
Augusta, Ga. — The back stairs at the White House: President Eisenhower's favorite golf course—the meticulously cared-for Augusta National—will be subjected to the hackings of 70 once-a-year duffers next Monday. The 11th annual Augusta Press-Radio Golf tournament will be held there with all but a score of the players admitted hackers. The tournament is one of the few times that newsmen get a chance to play the exclusive National. In 1954, White House newsmen played the course with a special invitation. But they were never invited back. They concluded that they had been too rough on the course. They were puzzled that the local duffers were asked back year after year. However, the explanation was simple. The course is closed for a summer's reconditioning immediately after the newsmen's tournament.

HORN BROOK

Brown Bear Cub Captured

By MRS. H. H. CHAPMAN
Hornbrook — A miniature scene from the Old West was re-enacted in Hornbrook Thursday afternoon when a brown bear cub was captured on Cottonwood creek.

Horse Creek grammar school teams. The Hornbrook boys won 5 to 3, but the girls lost by a score of 10-8. At the regular meeting of the Parents club at the school house on Thursday, the following officers were elected: president, Norma Farmer; vice president, Lorraine Chadwick; secretary, Pat Watt; treasurer, Betty Cross; and parliamentarian, Elsie Hogan. The club is working at present on the plans for the annual school picnic, and also on graduation exercises.

Charles and "Buck" Spearin, cleaning a ditch on the latter's ranch, noticed what appeared to be a dog curled up nearby. A pebble tossed in his direction roused the "critter," and the "dog" became a bear cub. Apparently having emerged from too long before from his long winter nap, the little fellow was sleeping in the sunshine on the bank of the creek. Buck shouted "Get him!" to his dog, Trixie. Trixie, a McNab shepherd, learned that, although small, the cub was full of fight. With one swift swipe of a fore-paw, he sent Trixie reeling backwards head over heels down the bank. She was on her feet in a flash, and soon had the bear treed, and held him there until Buck's son A. W. Jr. (Punky) Spearin arrived with Johnny Sylva. Johnny climbed the tree and sawed off the limb the bear was on, but instantly when his feet touched the ground, he was off again and up another tree, with Trixie hot on his heels. By this time, quite a crowd of relatives and neighbors had collected at the scene.

Word was received here recently by Mrs. Martha Collier of the birth of a son to her granddaughter, Mrs. Richard Nix, at Canyonville, Ore. Mrs. Nix is the former Gail Seymour. The arrival of the baby makes Mrs. Collier a great grandmother for the first time.

One half of the proceeds goes to the local troop, and the other half to the Crater Lake Area Council. Mrs. Ernest Adams, outgoing president, was hostess for the Women's Society of the Methodist church at her home on the Klamath river, Thursday, April 24. This was the first meeting conducted by the new president, Mrs. Henry Clawson. Members attending were, Mrs. Laura Swinerton, Mrs. Minnie Bloomingcamp, Mrs. Bertha Bradley, Mrs. Ardon Burns, Mrs. Harry Chapman, Mrs. Mary Taggart, Mrs. Clara Howard, Mrs. T. D. Killingsworth, Mrs. L. C. Walsh, Mrs. George Braudtacht, Mrs. Cecil Bowman, Mrs. S. D. Haworth, and the Rev. and Mrs. E. V. Hargreaves and daughter, Denise. Mrs. Martha Collier attended as a guest.

At the close of the meeting, the group was addressed by Ralph Leavers, a Shasta Valley rancher who is a candidate for the State Senate seat now held by Randolph Collier. Leavers spoke briefly on the issues facing the voters as regards water, the lumbering industry, and the recreation possibilities of Siskiyou county.

TWO IN ONE
Atlanta — A bandit grabbed receipts from two theaters in a single holdup Sunday night. Police said a man with a stocking over his head entered the office of the Rhodes theater just as the manager of another theater arrived to put his cash in the Rhodes safe. The robber got more than $700, the two managers estimated.

At the recent Milk Creek timber sale held by the Forest Service, the John Wheeler Logging company of Medford was high bidder on the 1,547,000 board feet offered. This is in last September's Bogus burn area. Total bid was $40,927.73. A large number of trucks are involved in the operation, and after crossing the Klamath river, the trucks are coming down the road on the north bank of the river. All persons driving the Copco road, particularly non-residents who are unfamiliar with it, are urged to proceed with extreme caution, as this is a narrow, twisting road, and one-way in many places.

TABLE ROCK Residents Move Away

By R. E. NEALON
Table Rock—Mr. and Mrs. William Isaacs, who have moved to a new home on South Holly st. in Medford, tell us the tough part of moving from the district is the parting with their many friends here, whom they esteem very highly.

Wyoming, and the Dakotas before returning to their homes in Nebraska. Don Wedge was up here last fall with Elgin Robinson on a leave of absence and was so favorably impressed with the country and the way they farm that he returned with his buddies. Of particular interest to them was the equipment used in putting up hay. In their home country hay is put in the barn loose instead of being baled as it is here.

The E. W. Robinson family were last Sunday visitors at the home of Vern Howard family in Klamath Falls. Irrigation by the sprinkler method was started here this week, mostly on new sown alfalfa.

The sudden, untimely death of Harold Gebhard caused a severe shock to his many friends here, where he was well known. He and his wife at one time residing at the Red Skin orchard when it was owned by the late Eddie Carlton. Known as an industrious, hard working man with energy and ability for getting things done, generously making himself available to help out his farmer neighbors during the pinches.

According to reports from the Beagle district, the litter of young coyotes we mentioned last week, contained five black pups and the tunnel to the nest dug through tough soil was some 30 feet in length. Black pups born to a coyote is quite unusual and has caused much speculation among those who know coyotes. Some think a ranch dog might have fathered the litter.

We extend our thanks and appreciation to those who sent us beautiful get-well cards while we were serving out the doctor's sentence. Bessie says it pays to advertise and we should advertise more when we are sick.

Richardson is a former local boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Richardson, and is now a member of a Portland law firm. Don Wedge and Laverne Kyal, recently discharged from the U. S. Marines, visited here Wednesday at the E. E. Robinson home. They were on their way to Vancouver, B. C. From there they intend to visit in Montana.

The A. C. Henderson family are living in the small cottage on the Ray Baker place. Henderson is employed at a Camp White lumber mill. The Sixkiller family, former occupants of the house, are now living in Central Point.
