

No Room for Gloom In Christianity, Evangelist Declares

San Francisco — Billy Graham believes there's no room for a gloomy gus in Christianity.

The hard-hitting evangelist told a rapt audience of 12,500 Tuesday night that their religion should be one of rejoicing, not of sadness.

"Where in the Bible do we see that Christianity is a sad religion?" he asked.

"Even when the earliest Christians were being persecuted for their beliefs, they filled the jails with praises of the Lord.

"Let us rejoice, rejoice, rejoice!"

Graham told once of visiting in a small town and getting off the train. There he saw a friend who was dressed in a black suit, black shoes, black hat and a black necktie.

"I've been converted," the friend explained.

"And do you know what I did?" Graham asked. "I took him right down and bought him a red necktie!"

Some Vacancies

Tuesday night was the third meeting of Graham's six weeks crusade in San Francisco's Cow Palace. There were 4,000 vacant seats, twice the number as on Monday night.

For much of the 45 minutes he spoke, Graham discussed sin and the need for repentance. He noted that most of those who "give their lives to Christ" are under 25.

"Why? Because those who are older find their hearts are cold and hard and dead when it comes to hearing the word of God."

As the group sang a subdued hymn, a few people started down the aisle in response to Graham's plea to be reborn. Soon a few more joined them. In a few minutes, the whole area in front of the podium was filled. Later it was announced that 386 persons had come forward.

The Young

Among them were two girls of about 15. They wore tight black dresses and black shoes with high, spiked heels. One had a close-cropped haircut. Her hair was bleached. She dabbed at her eyes with her fingers. Her girl friend had an arm about her waist. Counselors took them in tow.

Three boys of about 13 or

Korean Gang Steals Communication Wire

Seoul — A gang of six Koreans stole almost two miles of communication wire Tuesday after knocking down the poles, the U. S. Army disclosed today.

The wire, valued at $4,200 was recovered the same day. Communications were interrupted for about 12 hours in the First Cavalry Division area.

14 wearing tight jeans and with duck-tailed haircuts slouched forward, chewing gum with their mouths open. But from the expressions on their faces, it was apparent that Graham's words had reached them.

By and large, those who came forward were ordinary-looking people, much as a crowd that might be shopping on Market st. on Saturday afternoon. But every one of them, it was plain to see, was moved and inspired by the service.

As the "sinners" moved to a side room for interviews with counselors, Graham told the audience quietly:

"The sight you have seen is one of the great hopes of this country — men and women making their way to God. This is the only way our world will emerge from the dilemma it is in."

ILLINOIS VALLEY Rescue Class Discussed

By HELEN BOTTEL

Cave Junction — Only 12 persons attended the organizational meeting for a civil defense rescue class recently.

If a class is to be formed in the Illinois Valley, Rose Turpin, local chairman said, a membership of at least 35 must be assured. Men and women who wish to take the rescue course may sign up with Turpin within the next few weeks.

Karl Rehder, county director of civil defense, and Forest Gardner, deputy in charge of rescue work brought out the rescue truck from Grants Pass, and demonstrated its many uses.

The Soil Conservation week tour committee met Wednesday morning at the home of Les Archer in Draper Creek valley to make plans for the Illinois Valley tour which will be held May 13, in connection with the county-wide Conservation week.

Future Farmers of America heard Andy Lanfore, wild life extension agent from Oregon State college, at a meeting Tuesday night.

Plans for the annual banquet May 3, were discussed there.

day at the Illinois Valley Grange meeting.

Lecturer Mrs. Gilbert Clayton read a history of the National Grange, while Mrs. Isabel Mellow and Elwood Hussey gave brief vignettes of local Grange events over past years.

A rehearsal was held Sunday afternoon for the first and second degree drill team, members of which are preparing themselves to give first degree work in the long form. Instructions were given by Mr. and Mrs. McClintock of Grants Pass. Melvin Gray is supervisor of the drill teams.

Twenty-nine students of the senior American Problems classes at Illinois Valley high school returned Saturday evening from a two day tour of the Willamette valley, where they visited the Oregon state capitol and other state institutions, and several college and university campuses.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed George of O'Brien will go to San Francisco April 25 for the graduation ceremonies of their daughter, Beverly, who is finishing her course at the Dental nursing school this month.

Harvey Peery, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Peery of O'Brien, underwent 3 1/2 hours of surgery in Sacred Heart hospital, Medford, last week.

When Harvey cut his wrist on a broken bottle, the wound healed in such a way that his hand was drawn and his arm shortened. Grafting was necessary to eliminate the trouble. Another operation may be required later, his mother said.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Nune-maker of Dorris, Calif., Sunday visited their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eggerd.

Plans for the Queen's visitation in May were made at the Zuleima Illinois Valley Nile club meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Joe Ollis in Cave Junction.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Petsch at Cave Junction Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Don Bell of Aberdeen, Wash.

Members of the Illinois Valley Federated Women's club who attended the district convocation at Ashland were Mesdames R. J. Heidenreich, Frank Rauber, Earl Boyd, E. J. Wilber, Frank Knight, Jack Spitz, Sam Bunch and Gene Denning.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. Esther Quinn in O'Brien were former O'Brien residents, Mrs. R. D. Swank, her son, Pete Swank, and a friend from Lakewood village, Long Beach, Calif.

Valeria Rauber of Cave Junction, represented the Illinois Valley Chamber of Commerce at the "Winnemucca to the Sea" highway planning session Friday night at Klamath Falls.

Chamber representatives from eastern and western Oregon and California pushed the proposed east-west highway which would connect with Highway 40 at Winnemucca.

Librarian Ann Messenger conducted her first tour of the new Cave Junction Branch library last Friday when the fourth graders from Evergreen school visited the children's room and other parts of the building. They were accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Dave Wilson.

A number of local and Grants Pass Masons attended dedication ceremonies of the new Sidney Croft Masonic lodge at Brookings recently.

Present from the valley were Arthur Kellert, Henry Lloyd, Homer Snider, J. J. Haines, Doyl Hamilton, Ralph Kaiser, Carroll Banks, Jiggs Morris, Bud Hoskins and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Musil. Claude Masters of Grants Pass, a member of the Kerby lodge, went over with the Illinois Valley group.

A work party composed of Grants Pass and Illinois Valley scouts and others interested in youth activities timbered and straightened the old CCC building at Camp Chinquapin last week end, preparatory to transforming it into a shelter for the new youth camp.

Material for the work were donated by mills and other local business houses. According to Marshall Burrows, a member of the youth camp committee, the building is now ready for installation of window glass and re-siding. Another work party is planned later this spring.

Arlene Banks, daughter of Cave Junction Mayor and Mrs. Carroll Banks, has passed her Army tests with grades of "excellent" in all divisions and will enter the Women's Army Corps in June, shortly after she graduates from Illinois Valley High school.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh White of Cave Junction celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary last Saturday night with a quiet evening at home before the television set.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Miller of Cave Junction are home from spending the winter in Indio, Calif.

Mrs. Palmer Lovejoy of Cave Junction, the only woman member of the Veterans of World War I, Barracks in Cave Junction, received her obligation at the regular meeting Tuesday night at the VFW hall.

Mrs. Lovejoy was a nurse in the armed services during World War I.

Also obligated was Leo Fessler of the Illinois Valley. Members made final plans for their picnic and day of gold panning at Browntown, May 4.

The 90th birthday of the Grange was celebrated Thursday at the Illinois Valley Grange meeting.

Lecturer Mrs. Gilbert Clayton read a history of the National Grange, while Mrs. Isabel Mellow and Elwood Hussey gave brief vignettes of local Grange events over past years.
