New York—Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) in saying this country should stop allowing Russia to assume the United States would not act until attacked:

"This gives her the tremendous advantage of choosing the time, place and method of dealing surprise blows at the free world."

La Paz, Bolivia—Vice President Nixon, in refusing to comment on speculation as to his chances of being named GOP presidential candidate in 1960:

"I have a theory that in the United States those who seek the presidency seldom win it. This is one office in which circumstances rather than a man's ambition determine the result. If he is the right man for the right time, he will be chosen."

Little Rock—Harry S. Ashmore, executive editor of the Arkansas Gazette and winner of a Pulitzer prize for editorial writing on the Little Rock integration crisis:

"I am fortunate in being associated with the owners and staff of a newspaper that expects its editors to face a tragic situation in its own highest tradition."

Chicken Bar-B-Q Training School Scheduled in City

A chicken barbecue training school for representatives from any organization or group in the area will be held in Medford Friday, May 23, from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

The program will include approximately three hours of instruction with the balance of the period devoted to the actual barbecue by trainees. Lunch will be the chicken barbecue.

All trainees will be trained in the fundamentals of barbecuing chickens on large commercial-type barbecue pits owned by the Oregon Broiler Growers association as well as on small backyard barbecue pits.

Charles M. Fischer, poultry marketing specialist at Oregon State college, Corvallis, will be instructor. The event will be held at Bigham hall at the county fairgrounds.

Contact Office
Organizations interested in sending representatives to the school should contact the extension office in the county courthouse prior to May 15. The names and address of representatives will be needed by the office.

A minimum registration of 25 is necessary to hold the school and a registration fee will be charged to cover the cost of the dinner plus a manual.

A barbecue pit unit will be available for rent in Medford for organizations who may plan picnic meals during the summer and fall.

British Railway Men Plan Strike

London — Britain's 350,000 railwaymen mapped plans today for a nationwide strike that could tie up the whole United Kingdom as a bus strike has crippled London.

Today was the day of decision for the trainmen and the Laborite Daily Herald predicted the railwaymen would strike by May 18. The strike would affect almost everyone in Britain, for most travel is done by rail.

A walkout by 50,000 busmen snarled traffic in London's suburbs with five-mile-long lines of cars standing motionless. The "rush hour" stretched out to four and five hours with commuters suffering the most.

The bus drivers and conductors — most of them women — struck for higher wages. They receive an average of $22.40 a week and asked for raises up to $1.47 a week. They rejected a government offer of $1.19.

WELL-CONCEALED AGE

Chicago — The 1918 University of Chicago High school class will hold a reunion May 16. It will be the 40th anniversary for the men but "only the 25th" for the women, who might stay away rather than admit they graduated 40 years ago.

Air Pollution Said Major Problem for Modern Society

Editor's note: Following is the first of three articles on America's air pollution problems. Today—Air pollution and health.

By FRED DANZIG
United Press Correspondent

New York — Air pollution, one of modern society's self-inflicted wounds, has most of our population living dangerously.

Scientists have only recently become concerned about air pollution's effects on our present and future health.

One way or another, we all meet up with air pollution. We may encounter it in heavy traffic, in a crude apartment house incinerator, near an area where garbage, scrap and industrial wastes are burned in the open, around metal smelting, oil refining or chemical plants, near lumber camps or paper mills. Sometimes it can be caused by a neighbor burning leaves, or by a dirt road.

It can come in the form of dust, odors, fumes, gas, mist, smoke, vapors—any contaminant that gets into the air and harms people, plants, animals and property.

The newest aspect of this problem is radioactivity stemming from nuclear testing or industrial uses of atomic energy, but this report is concerned only with "civilian," or everyday air pollution, its effects and what is being done to control it.

Authorities estimate that 10,000 American communities have air pollution problems and 7,500 of this number have fewer than 25,000 residents. So it's not just a big city problem.

More and more, air pollution is being tagged a villain as scientists learn more about it.

Doctors, for example, now recognize a "smog complex"—irritation of the eyes, the nose or throat; chest pains, coughing, shortness of breath, nausea, headaches.

Air pollution apparently has other effects on health, too.

A pioneer in air pollution research, Dr. Paul Kotin of the University of Southern California, believes air pollution and not cigarette smoking to be the key factor behind increase in lung cancer. "Industrialization has brought new substances such as oxidizing compounds in smog which cut down the lungs' defense against cancer-producing agents," said Dr. Kotin.

The American Cancer Society has reported that "the lung cancer rate is lower in rural areas than in urban areas. This is one of the reasons why air pollution is suspected as being a factor."

Dr. Clarence A. Mills, professor of experimental medicine at the University of Cincinnati, created a sensation in Los Angeles a few years ago when he reported that smog caused about 800 "excess deaths" over a three-year period.

Air pollution also affects our pocketbooks. Economists say we each spend about $20 a year because of air pollution—the money going for medical care, cleaning bills, repairs or replacement of property. Pollutants can ruin rubber, damage plants, corrode metals, cut worker efficiency and hinder a city's economic growth.

Industry and government combined spend about 100 million dollars a year on projects and research to clean our air.

The goal is not absolute air purity, an impossibility in a modern industrial society. But scientists are aiming for a level of air quality where no health hazards, economic losses or nuisances are present.

In short, we no longer can afford to tolerate dirty air.

Tomorrow: Auto exhaust and air pollution.

Bolivians Greet Nixon on Tour

La Paz, Bolivia — Thousands of Bolivians greeted U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon Monday with cheers, flowers and confetti on his arrival here from Paraguay.

Communists who sought to break up the welcome were dispersed by the crowd. Three anti-Nixon demonstrators — two men and a woman — were arrested.

The streets of this two-mile high capital — the world's highest — were festooned with flags, bunting, photographs of Nixon and signs reading: "Welcome, Mr. Nixon."

McElroy Asked To Head Off Strike

Washington — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy today weighed a union request that he intercede with four of the nation's biggest missile and aircraft producers to head off a threatened strike.

Labor sources said Machinist President Al J. Hayes and United Auto Workers Chief Walter P. Reuther asked McElroy to put pressure on the firms to sweeten their wage offers before contracts expire at midnight Wednesday.

The two unions have threatened a walkout by 125,000 workers at plants in seven states which could disrupt development and production of the Atlas, Thor, Titan and the

Portland Man Hurt In Logging Accident

Tillamook — Ben Easter, 50, of Portland was in critical condition at a Tillamook hospital today with injuries suffered in a logging accident Monday.

Easter suffered severe, internal injuries, broken ribs and fractures of both legs, hospital attendants said.

Helium gas can be maintained in a liquid state or shielded by a bath of liquid hydrogen, in turn protected by a bath of liquid nitrogen.

Negotiations with Lockheed, Douglas, Convair and North American are deadlocked, Hayes and Reuther told McElroy Monday.
