

Oregon Prep Tracksters Set Sports World on Ear

By HOWARD APPLIGATE
United Press Sports Writer
Portland — A couple of young prep athletes have set the Oregon track and field work on its ear this spring. They're already talking about a 3:50 mile in the future for one. The other is the fastest sprinter in Oregon high school history.

The miler is Dyrrol Burleson, a 17-year-old from Cottage Grove high school. The sprinter is Jim Puckett, a tiny kid from a high school in eastern Oregon so small that even some Oregonians never have heard of it. Puckett did the 100-yard dash in 9.3—twice. Coaches high on Miller Burleson, on April 25 at Corvallis, ran the fastest high school mile in history—4:13.2. This came two weeks after he ran a winning 4:16.9 against a collegiate field in the annual Willamette relays at Salem.

SLIDING INTO SECOND on a double is Los Angeles Dodger Gino Cimoli as Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski waits for ball. Dodgers won 9-5 and snapped Pittsburgh's winning streak at six straight. (International Soundphoto)

A complete dual track meet schedule among Southern Oregon conference teams was suggested Saturday at the Medford high-Klamath Falls engagement. We've felt for some years that such a program would be a good one. It not only would provide another championship to seek, along with those of the Rogue relays and District 6 A-1 meet, but it would help solve scheduling difficulties.

The season should be lengthened by a week to enable players to get in better condition. Under the proposed amendment no football game would be allowed until the second Friday in September. Under the present regulation grid practice may start on Monday of the week in which Sept. 1 occurs and the first game is allowed after two weeks of practice. The new Aug. 24 starting date would refer to any school activity practice.

If the state meet continues to be held at the end of May, where it was moved this season, there'll be plenty of week ends to run off such a slate. We think the idea worth discussion next Saturday when a conference meeting will be held at Crater High school in Central Point. The meeting at Central Point will concern mostly the fall and winter sports program of the league schools, particularly junior varsity and freshman slates. It is set for 10 a.m.

MOST VALUABLE
Jack Brown, now pitching baseball for Southern Oregon college, won most valuable player honors several years back while competing for Sturgate Air Force Base in England in a basketball championship play-off. There were 40 Army and Air Force teams entered in four leagues and the top team in each league vied in the titular tourney. Brown's team was runner-up.

PELS NET CHAMPS
When Klamath Union High school tennis team defeated Ashland once and Medford twice last week end, it sewed up the Southern Oregon conference championship. Attention is now focused on the district tournament at Medford this week end.

NILES PICKS OSC
Bob Niles, who was captain of Klamath Union High school's state championship basketball team this year, has announced he'll attend Oregon State college. Bob, who now stands 6 feet 6 inches, attended Medford schools through the ninth grade.

EARLIER GRID PRACTICE
Oregon high schools will be permitted to begin football practice on Aug. 24 if the delegate assembly of the Oregon School Activities association approves a constitutional amendment at its spring meeting. The amendment results from sentiment in various sections of the state that practice time prior to the first game of

TRIPLE PLAY
John Kjos, first baseman for Wilson high in the Portland Interscholastic league, came up with one of those real rarities last week. He made an unassisted triple play.

HEART OPERATION ON TV
New York — New Yorkers will see a heart operation on television tonight sponsored by the New York Heart association. The operation will be performed on a Chinese-American girl, Mabel Chin, 3½, who was born with a defect which makes her heart pump harder than normal.

Women Molested On Portland Streets
Portland — Three women were molested in the southwest district early today and police said the descriptions given by all three women matched a description of a purse snatcher reported Monday night. Mrs. Hazel Stevenson was robbed of her purse as she was getting into her car at Southwest Fourth Avenue and Mill Street. The three women who reported they were molested frightened their assailant away with screams or auto horns and were not harmed.

thinks the youth has a great future and is capable right now of even better than his sensational 4:13.2.

Since many milers don't reach their peak until their mid-20s, there is talk of perhaps a fabulous 3:50 for Burleson some day.

Puckett performed a 9.5 hundred on April 19 in a meet among small eastern Oregon schools. He did it again May 2. Not State Mark

He attends Cove high school and first attracted Oregon interest last year when he was timed in 9.9 for the hundred. When he was first timed in 9.5 three stop watches were on the same mark and the course was measured for accuracy afterwards. There was no wind. Puckett did 9.4 with a 15-mile per hour wind at his back.

Ironically, his mark does not go down as an official Oregon prep record. They have to set the marks at state meets, under state rules. The state record of 9.9 was set back in 1934 by a fellow named Bobby Grayson of Jefferson high, Portland, fullback at Stanford. It has been tied only since in a state meet.

New York — It was a medical consultation in a cemetery.

SPORTS

This was the room, still decorated with mementoes of the past, from which the destinies of the Brooklyn Dodgers were guided for so many years. Only now two solemn doctors sat behind the desk once occupied by a pair of beaming baseball barons named Branch Rickey and Walter O'Malley.

And neither of them gave Roy Campanella much chance of ever walking again. "Total recovery would be very unusual," said one as they announced that the former Dodger catcher, paralyzed in a January 28 auto accident, had been transferred from a suburban hospital to a New York rehabilitation center.

Three Months Long
"Three months is a long time," he added. "If he regains no more function than he has now, he could never walk again even with braces." It was a somber setting. Rain beat a dull dirge against the windows of the office on Brooklyn's Montague Street. The large, glass-topped desk was barren of the little personal items it bore in the days when the loquacious Rickey and the smiling O'Malley held forth from behind it.

There were a lot of ghosts in the room as the doctors told softly how Campanella, three months after his injury, still can move only his shoulders, elbows and wrists. This was the room where roly-poly Roy's voice squeaked high and merry every time he held court at contract-signing time. This was the room where he cried when Rickey told him, back in the long ago, that he was being returned to the minors to break the color line in the American Association.

"There is no way to tell how far back he can come," the doctors admitted. Roy came back when Rickey sent him out. Came back to play a major part in five Brooklyn pennants and its only world championship.

The gold-embossed certificates which proclaim those triumphs of the past still hang behind the big walnut desk even though the Dodgers are 3,000 miles away in Los Angeles and Campy lies motionless in a hospital bed just across the East River in Manhattan. Even if . . .

But, they hinted, Roy will be a long time coming back this time—if he ever does make it. "Ten years ago he would have spent the rest of his life in bed," one of them injected a hopeful note. "But now we will work out self-help devices for his hands so that possibly he can feed himself and maybe, eventually, even type and live a useful life." There's a long fight ahead of him, longer and harder than any he ever faced at

Huskies Drop Ducks Out of First in ND

Eugene — The Washington Huskies knocked the Oregon Webfoots out of the top spot in the Northern Division baseball race Monday with an 8-3 thrashing here.

Huskie hurler George Kritsonis scattered 10 hits for his second victory of the season against no losses. Ron Whitaker gave up most of the 11 hits to Washington and took the loss.

Local Men Top Jaycee Links Tiff

Glen Keyes and Alan Holmes, Medford, took team low net honors, Holmes the low gross prize and Bob Shangle individual low net Sunday in the Oregon State Junior Chamber of Commerce Golf tournament at Rogue Valley Country club. Keyes and Holmes netted 157 and Shangle 73. Holmes had a 79 gross. Other team scores were Ken Jensen and George Gant 163 and Chuck Robbins and Jim Lawrence, Lake Oswego, 180 net.

The Webfoot defeat slipped them half a game behind Oregon State, now in first place. Idaho defeated Washington State 5-3 in another Northern Division game Monday.

The victory was Washington's third in eight games. The Huskies started off with two runs in the first inning, including a triple by George Grant. He stole home. They added four more in the fourth with Floyd Harrington hitting a two-run single and Don Daniels homering with one man aboard. Oregon finally scored in the seventh after a double by Jim Rice and a triple by Ed Griener. Larry Hughes capped the Huskie scoring in the eighth by doubling in two runs.
