

Portland Subdues Spokane 3-2 Second Straight Night

By GENE BRYANT
United Press Sports Writer

The Portland Beavers handed Spokane a 3-2 defeat for the second straight night Tuesday night, thereby moving into a comparatively secure half game lead over the rest of the field in the Pacific Coast League pennant chase.

The Beavers ousted Spokane from top spot Monday night by an .007 percentage margin.

Last night's loss dropped the Indians to a fourth place deadlock with Vancouver while Sacramento and Salt Lake City moved into the second and third positions, respectively.

In other games, the Solons edged San Diego, 5-4, Salt Lake dumped Phoenix, 7-5, and Seattle snapped a three-game losing streak with a 5-2 victory over Vancouver.

Two Games Out
Seattle, in last place, is only two games off the pace while Phoenix and San Diego, a half game ahead of the Rangers, are only one and a half games out of first.

Portland collected 10 hits off four Spokane pitchers, picking up single runs in the third, fourth and fifth innings. John Buzhardt pitched seven innings of shutout ball until Jim Baxes of the Indians blasted a pinch homer with Norm Sherry aboard in the eighth. John Janse was charged with the loss.

Seattle scored twice in the first frame on a pair of walks, two singles and a passed ball, then added single runs in the third, sixth and seventh to drop the Mounties. Art Fowler scattered eight hits and fanned nine in gaining his second win against the same number of losses.

Solons Win In Ninth
At Sacramento, Don Hunter singled home Bob Roselli in the ninth for the Solons' victory. The Padres had led off the eighth frame with four runs, but the Sacs came back with three in their half of the eighth and the winning run in the final inning. Earl Averill homered for the Pads while Kal Segrist hit a roundtripper for the winners. The Solons held a 1-0 lead until Averill unloaded his three-run blast in the eighth.

Phoenix put on a last-half rush at Salt Lake but the Bees hung on for their win. The Giants scored twice in the eighth and added three more runs in the ninth to give 2,457 Bee fans a scare, but homers by Dick Stuart and Paul Pettit in the seventh provided the victory margin. Salt Lake had scored five times early in the game with the help of Giant outfield errors.

BEAVERS SPILL PILOTS
Corvallis — Oregon State upset the University of Portland's powerful tennis team 4-3 Tuesday to avenge a 5-2 defeat last month. Capt. Jimmie Jackson defeated Bill Rose, ace Portland player, in the key match.

Scratch a Wall Streeter
In one of his more relaxed moments, he suggests, "and you might think you've found a human player—a man who likes his odds long and makes his living by conjuring with occult harbingers like sunspots and pigeon flights in Central park."

"Mostly, though, this kind of patter is confined to the bright attitudinizing you find at cocktail parties. Though old hands do develop a 'sixth sense' about the market, they readily confess that making money on Wall Street is primarily a matter of common sense. That and experience."

Rogers, who is financial and business editor of the New York Herald Tribune, thereupon gives the novice some sound advice in language he can understand.

Fund Required
He suggests investing until you have a fund. Then you might do a bit of speculating. He devotes considerable space to growth stocks and warns that many of them offer pitfalls for the investor.

A study conducted by Cunningham & Walsh, an advertising agency, shows that newspaper readership is unaffected by TV in the home. In fact, in 1957, U.S. newspaper circulation reached a new all-time high of 58,000,000 copies purchased daily.

TWO PRESS AGENTS dear to the hearts of newspapermen are Dick Moran and Jim Moran. Moran for his phenomenal gift of gab, and Moran for the screwball stunts he has dreamed up. Latest Moran gambit was a bellicose belle who climbed on to the stage at a performance of "Look Back in Anger" and belabored an actor over the noggin with a rolled-up newspaper, screaming, "How dare you treat your wife that way, you miserable cad!" The papers had a fine time reporting the incident, but then a spoil-sport discovered that Moran, press agent for the show, had coached the gal for the stunt.

Other Moran exploits include walking a live bull through a china shop (not even the handle of one teacup was broken), searching for a needle in the biggest (and most-photographed) haystack in history, selling an electric fan to an Eskimo, and announcing a new hair tonic called "Slo-Gro" ("Use it daily and you'll need only one haircut a year"). Moran thinks this was the ad that convinced Perry Como there was no future for him in the barber business.

Americans Building Up Bank Accounts, Statistics Reveal
By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor
New York—The art of saving, it is said, is becoming quite as respectable as it was in the days of Benjamin Franklin.

Books are being written about it. And the statistics show that Americans are building up their bank accounts.

Donald I. Rogers has just written a book about saving money and investing it to make the necessary nest egg for eventual retirement.

The new volume published by Henry Holt and Company is entitled "Make Your Income Count."

Having shown how to accumulate some money, Rogers proceeds to show where to put it. He explains the values of common stocks, extols the value of dollar averaging, delves into the many mutual funds and their variety of investment, warns against the pitfalls of penny stocks, reveals the extent of the over-the-counter market, and gives a lesson in puts, calls, shorts and warrants.

Wrong Idea
In a chapter entitled "Do-It-Yourself Investing," he scotches the idea that Wall Street plays stocks as horse enthusiasts play races.

Glendale Captures Subdistrict Title

Eagle Point—Glendale High school has wrapped up the Rogue league and District 6 A-2 Southern division baseball championship.

The Pirates clipped Eagle Point 7 to 0 last night to record their fifth victory against no losses in the circuit.

Glendale did all its scoring in the early innings, collecting 10 hits while its own pitcher, Moschkau, held the Eagles to five. Cliff Worley homered for the Pirates. Moschkau and Coate each had a triple and a single and Wes Young slapped two singles.

Eight of the Glendale hits were off Eagle starting hurler, Jim Nease. Bill Turner entered the game in the third inning with no outs and a man on third base. That runner failed to make home and Glendale went scoreless over the remaining three frames.

Moschkau struck out seven and walked three batters. Glendale combined four singles, a walk, an error and two groundouts for its four runs in the first inning.

Eagle Point meets Butte Falls today in a non-league game.

Oregonian Clubs Drop NWL Frays

By UNITED PRESS

A pair of 10-inning games featured action in the Northwest League Tuesday night and in each game the Oregon teams came out on the losing end.

Lewiston topped Salem 6-5 in 10 frames and Tri-City nipped Eugene 6-4 in an extra inning. The Lewiston victory enabled the Broncos to hold their first place lead by one game over Wenatchee which handed Yakima an 11-4 defeat.

Lewiston got its run in the tenth when Tony Santino beat out a bunt. He was forced at second by Arnie Hallgren but Hallgren crossed when Bruce McIntosh and Hillis Lane bopped singles.

Tri-City got two runs in the tenth to take Eugene. Two errors, a single and a sacrifice fly by Dick Minice sent the Braves' runs across.

Joe Drotar received credit for his third win of the season when he replaced Jim Vogelsang in the sixth and went the rest of the route.

Wenatchee crashed through with four runs in the first frame and was never headed in its victory over Yakima. Larry Helms belted a three-run triple in the big inning. Reliever Duane Richards took over for starter Dave Skaugstad in the third. Richards allowed one run in the frame but then strung out six scoreless innings as Wenatchee coasted in.

Red Blanket Bids High for Timber In Rogue Forest

Red Blanket Lumber company of Prospect was high bidder May 5 for 21,900 M board feet of timber in the Red Blanket creek sale, in Prospect ranger district of the Rogue River National forest, according to Forest Supervisor C. E. Brown.

On Friday, May 2, the same company was high bidder for an estimated 7,200 M board feet in the Dead Soldier unit of the Union Creek district of the national forest.

The company's high bid for the 21,900 M board feet was $414,320 based on $20.20 per M for 13,300 M of Douglas fir, $29.30 per M for 3,800 M of pine species, and $7.15 per M for 4,800 M of white fir and other species. This was a raise of 29 per cent over the appraised price of $320,120.

Oregon Veneer company of White City was next highest bidder. Other bidders were Ross Lumber company of White City and Continental Timber company of Medford.

The purchaser of the large tract is to build 11.8 miles of standard permanent forest road into the timber. According to Brown, the estimated cost of the required road construction is $162,300. The company will have four years in which to build the road and log out the timber designated for cutting.

Bidding on the smaller sale of May 2 was much more active. The timber in this sale was mostly Shasta red fir and white fir appraised at $3.30 per M. It was bid in at $15 per M. Total sale value was increased by the bidding from $28,385 to $106,775.

Next highest bidder was Ross Lumber company. Other bidders were Timber Conservation company of Central Point, B. F. Nork of Shady Cove, Burrill Lumber company of White City, Double Dee Lumber company of Central Point, and Continental Timber company of Medford.

Brown pointed out that 25 per cent of the stumpage return from the sales, as from all national forest timber sales, will be returned from the federal treasury through the state to the counties within which the Rogue River National forest is located.
