

TRIAL—Charles Starkweather, 19, of Lincoln, Neb., has gone on trial for his life in Lincoln, following a murder spree during which he is alleged to have slain 11 persons.

Grange Notes

Central Point Grange

Overseer Ben Dorris conducted Friday night's meeting in the absence of Master Otto Feldmeyer, who, with his wife, is on a trip to Washington, D.C. State Steward Rose Roberts of Roxy Ann Grange was escorted to the master's station.

Agriculture report by Arnold Bohnert stated farmer's outlook for first crop alfalfa hay was poor; Fred Kuest reported beef on strong uptrend. Edwin Gebhard reported orchardists see a brighter looking future for the pear market. The display table by Delmar Smith, with his hive of bees, gave an interesting insight into the production of honey.

Mrs. J. W. Weidman, HEC chairman, announced the next club meeting to be a work day at the hall.

Mrs. Gaston Floux's program opened with Mrs. O. T. Wilson reading an original Mother's Day poem by Mrs. Scott Hamilton. Corsages, made by Mrs. Charles Jantzer, were pinned on Juvenile Matron Mrs. Morris Frink and Mrs. Wilson, the only great-grandmother present.

Mrs. Effie Kurts presented her music students, Misses Kathy and Collene Barr and Aubrey Evans of Medford, who entertained with several numbers. Don Lacy, Crater High school, introduced a member of his speech class, David Mack, who spoke on "The Voter's Responsibility."

Roberts informed the members on different angles of Grange insurance. Mrs. Walter Marge, reception committee introduced Live Oak visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Luce. Luce spoke on the water resources and flood control project of the Rogue river basin and expressed deep regret of the loss of the valuable member, Harold Gebhard.

Delmar Smith, reporting on the community project, stated eight loads of gravel had been used for improving roadways in the Central Point cemetery, also work was done in cutting out mistletoe.

No illnesses were reported by Chaplain Mrs. Anna (Chet) Wendt. A motion to change State Grange Convention was voted favorably, as a request to be made at the state session in June.

Under good of the order a package was presented to go to a handicapped party from the Juvenile Matron as one of this year's projects.

On the subject of the handicapped, Eric A. Allen informed members what had been done in this line towards getting a toy manufacturing plant established in the county where several hundred handicapped could find employment. Allen stated that a party from an Eastern concern had already interviewed interested parties along this line and a worthwhile sum had been pledged for this project.

A letter was read from the state master urging all with petitions to get them in to headquarters.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Foote, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Colpits. Mrs. O. T. Wilson, Reporter.

Upper Rogue Grange

Upper Rogue Grange held its regular meeting Thursday, May 1, and enjoyed a surprise visitation by other Grangers of the county. A total of 114 members and guests attended including Roscoe Roberts, State Grange Steward; Robert Bitterling, Pomona Grange Master; and the following Masters of subordinate Granges in the county: Al Sims, Roxy Anne; Cliff Moore, Eagle Point; Ed Houston, Shady Cove; Merton Bradshaw, Lake Creek; Charles Foote, Gold Hill; and Albert Strauss, Sams Valley.

The legislative committee called attention to the primary election May 16 and to various school elections this month. The insurance agent explained the "uninsured driver" provision being offered by the Grange Insurance association.

The dining room was decorated and refreshments served by a committee consisting of the Schuders and the Vaughns.
