

'Parade of Homes' On Show Program

A special feature of this year's Medford Home Show will be the "Parade of Homes," a preview public showing of homes now being built in the Medford and Rogue valley area.

The majority of the homes in the "Parade" will be finished and completely furnished with many of the newest innovations in household appliances, furnishings, and decorating schemes. Other homes still will be in various stages of building progress, showing some of the newer building techniques used.

Lists of the homes showing will be distributed at the Home Show, and directional signs will be placed along the way to aid viewers in locating them.

The third annual Medford Home Show will be held at the Medford National Guard Armory on South Riverside ave. from Thursday, May 15, through Sunday, May 18. The show opens at 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday and at noon Saturday and Sunday. Other special features include kiddie-rides, the internationally-traveled California Redwood Lighthouse, a variety stage show, and special garden exhibits by local nurseries and garden clubs.

watershed which will be destroyed if the present policy of immediate liquidation is adopted.

"I am convinced from long experience among the Indians living on the reservation that they are not ready at this stage to handle their own affairs. They are immature and incapable of negotiating sale of their rights piecemeal," he declared.

Surgeon Says Indian Bill Means Disaster

By SID HOLLINGSWORTH
Camp White — A major disaster threatens this state if the liquidation of the Klamath Indian reservation goes into effect in August without drastic modification, Dr. G. H. Adler, government surgeon at the reservation for 14 years, believes.

when the bill was introduced to grant the Indians local autonomy in liquidating their claims, he said.

Indians Divided

"There is a division among the Indians themselves over the program offered originally in Washington. Many of them feel that the plan was hastily presented and that it should extend for 25 years or more under the sustained yield principle.

"This would conserve the timber stand and protect the

Dr. Adler, in an interview, outlined the need for an adequate law which will protect not only the Indians but the entire lumber industry from further market depression.

Dr. Adler has been living at Camp White since he left the reservation in 1957. He is familiar with every aspect of the Indian problem and regards the action contemplated in the beginning as ill advised and calculated to result in disaster both to Klamath county and the Indians themselves.

Be Deprived

"They would be deprived of such benefits as medical and hospital attention and the sustained yield from the systematic sale of their timber rights. The money they receive from quick sale of these rights will be spent and the Indians will be wards of the state in no time," Dr. Adler stressed.

There are 2,500 Indians on the reservation now and the timber, which is one of the last remaining stands of virgin pine, is valued at more than $100,000,000, he emphasized.

The present plan was presented to congress in 1954
