

'Out of This World' Show Held by Kiwanian Dames

Using the timely theme, "Out of This World," Kiwanian Dames gave the annual spring style show Monday afternoon at Rogue Valley Country club. Funds raised will go to the dental clinic which Medford Kiwanis club sponsors for the county. Co-chairmen for the event were Mrs. Paul L. Walker and Mrs. Edward P. Barnett.

A special guest was Mrs. Jack Murton, Gresham, wife of the governor of the northwest district of Kiwanis. Mrs. Frank Benesh, president of Kiwanian Dames, welcomed the guests. Commentators were Mrs. Charles Champlin and Mrs. John Raapke; music was provided by Mrs. Emerson Anderson and Mrs. Kenneth Brown.

The mood of the event was set by Miss Colleen Hope, a guest model, who appeared wearing a "space suit." Miss Hope also served as the annual "mystery model" and when she appeared in an all-white coverall with engulfing helmet topped with two antennae, not one person in the entire assemblage of guests was able to guess her identity.

Other models were members of Kiwanian Dames, their sons and daughters. They wore summer clothing from Mann's, Leon's and Leon's Tots to Teens, Rath's and Burelson's. Johnson and Stewart, Mann's and Leon's supplied shoes; Rath's and Mann's the hats and Mann's Beauty salon styled the hair of all the models.

The models were Mrs. William E. Ruffner, Mrs. Tom Polk, Mrs. A. R. Manno, Mrs. E. Ronald Rice and her granddaughters, Margy and Karen Martin. Mrs. Fred Morlan, Mrs. Robert Church, Mrs. John H. Pletsch, Mrs. William T. Clark and her son, Kent, Miss Molly Walker, Miss Susan Hubbard, Patty and Mike Clark, Cynthia Barnett, Jeanie Woods, Rod Bacon, Gregory Barnett, Cynthia Barnett, Mrs. Jack Edson and small daughter, Lynn. Mrs. Edson and her daughter closed the show. Mrs. Edson modeling a bridal gown while Lynn served as flower girl.

Decorations were "rockets" and other appropriate devices, and each guest received table favors.
