Gold Hill Sewing Classes Hold Fifth Annual Show

Gold Hill—Happy Mother's day was the theme for a spring fashion show and tea given recently in the Hanby school gymnasium by girls of the seventh and eighth grade home economics classes. The affair was arranged by their teacher, Mrs. Shirley Anderson and Mrs. Andree Beman, school secretary, who is also 4-H sewing leader for this age group.

Invitations for the occasion were designed by the girls, and the guest list included mothers and close relatives of each student. About 70 attended.

Miss Mary Lou Garner, Jackson County 4-H agent, attended the event by special invitation.

Narrator for the show was Miss Jan Newland, eighth grade student. She modeled red "slim jims"; Miss Vervia Beman modeled play separates of multicolored polka dots on white. Ponchos were shown by Miss Marion Payne, Miss Jenny Lou Thompson and Miss Joyce Dye. Miss Bonnie Knapp wore a gay cotton print, trimmed with pink tape. Miss Linda Ramsey appeared in a printed cotton sundress trimmed with red, and a black cotton blouse, with white skirt was modeled by Miss Charlotte Dollin. Miss Marie Jones modeled a red blouse and skirt of red and white daisy print. Miss May Brown followed, wearing a white cotton square dance blouse and grey cotton skirt.

Appearing in a second garment she had completed was Miss Dye, in a blouse of watermelon red cotton with black and white printed sail cloth skirt. Miss Mary Beth Bailey fashioned a versatile brown cotton sheath dress with reversible jacket to match. Miss Knapp also wore a cotton sheath frock of blue with a wide white collar. Miss Barbara Allen wore a blue cotton dress fashioned with full skirt, and Miss Dye modeled next a blue cotton with a skirt of pressed pleats. Miss Judy Force wore a pink polished cotton frock designed with a black cummerbund, and a sheath dress of embossed cotton, topped with white collar was modeled by Miss Judy Whaley.

Miss Mary Governor had sewed yards of frothy white lace on the cotton plisse "baby dolls" that she modeled. A pink nailhead taffeta skirt with sleeveless blouse was worn by Miss Sue Woodward, and Miss Marion Payne, modeled a white blouse and cotton skirt. Miss Carol White selected for the fashion show a pink cotton dress striped with white and silver, and a lavender skirt with white blouse was worn by Miss Harriett Foley.

Date frocks were also modeled, and each girl was escorted from the platform by one of four young men attired in suitable clothes. They were Clayton Banery, Kerry Koopman, Delmar Smith and Joel Morris.

Miss Jenny Lou Thompson wore a white pique sheath topped with a reversible black and white cape. Miss Harriett Foley chose a princess frock of black and white cotton Drugs are destroyed or eliminated rapidly by the body and for this reason it is necessary to administer them periodically for them to be effective. In some cases a dose must be increased as the body builds up a tolerance. In the case of drugs like morphine, cocaine, etc., this tolerance causes the body to become habituated to the action of these drugs and withdrawal from them becomes painful. The condition is known as addiction . . .

Among the most important medicinal constituents of plants are the alkaloids. They combine with acids to form salts . . . they have a bitter taste, they are used in their salt form. Alkaloids are very potent and some are deadly poisons. The alkaloids end in 'ine' such as Atropine, Codeine, Morphine, Quinine, etc. . . .

Griffin Creek Club Holds Style Show at Gymnasium

A spring style show was held Wednesday by the Griffin Creek School Mother's club at the school gymnasium featuring fashions from the J. C. Penney company in Medford.

Mrs. Wesley Ober was commentator for the show and Mrs. Roy Sander was the fashion selector. Models included Mrs. Russell Fowler, Mrs. Randolph Huggahl, Mrs. Sam Harbison, Mrs. Harold Edmonds, Mrs. E. D. Davis, Mrs. Louis Parsafas, and two teenagers, Miss Judy Riebe and Miss Ailene Doran. Three children also modeled. They were Karen and Sharon Huggahl and Robin Davis.

Included in the program in addition to daytime and casual wear was a beige chemise spring flowers by sixth, seventh and eighth grade girls.

Refreshments were made by the seventh and eighth grade girls and served by the sixth grade students.

Miss Barbara Shatz presided at the crystal punch bowl loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Mildred Black. Miss Toni Morrow poured coffee. A silver coffee service was loaned by Mrs. Ralph Bell. Assisting at the serving table was Thomas Davis.

Maroon parrot tulips arranged in an antique brass vase and used for the centerpiece on the serving table were furnished by Mrs. S. M. Christensen.

A white picket fence and trellis in which spring flowers of different shades were entwined provided a background for the models. A ramp was constructed by Al Beman for the event. He also was in charge of the lighting.

Guests were seated at small tables on which were name cards and nosegays for each woman. The individual nosegays were arranged to make up the centerpiece at each table. These were made of dress worn in 1925 by Mrs. L. G. Frink at her wedding. The dress was modeled by its owner.

Music was played during the event by Mrs. Steven Whipple on an organ loaned by Furucker's Piano House. Entertainment was under the direction of Mrs. Randall Leon. It included dances by Carole Leon and Jerry Chennault and Nicolee Ober and Joyce Leon. The two dance teams are pupils of Colleen Hope. Cassy Large, pupil of Miss Pat, also performed. In charge of the stage decorations and favors was Mrs. A. E. Eitemiller. Members of various committees in charge of the show were Mrs. Harold Kenyon, Mrs. Frink, Mrs. George Rode, tables, Mrs. Morris Tucker, Mrs. Tom Helman, Mrs. Joe Killingsworth, Mrs. Huggahl, Mrs. Edmonds, Mrs. Fowler, decorations; Mrs. Galen Knox, Mrs. James Davidson, tickets; Mrs. Thomas Lewis, Mrs. Gary Gleaves, coffee; Mrs. Gerald Gleaves, Mrs. Rosalee Pruitt, Mrs. Herbert Merriam, cakes; Mrs. George Large, music; Mrs. Walter Roemer, Mrs. Large, publicity.

Mrs. Lawrence Youmans was in charge of the eighth grade students who served. Chairmen of the program were Mrs. John Marler and Mrs. Huggahl.

Mrs. Large, president of the club presented Mrs. J. E. Moir a bronze statuette of a Girl Scout honoring her for her work with the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Lyle Heidemann introduced the retiring officers.

New officers installed were Mrs. Edmonds, president; Mrs. Youmans, vice-president; Mrs. Gerald Gleaves, secretary, and Mrs. Roemer, treasurer.
