JACKSONVILLE Projects To Be Shown

By BETTE HOSKINS
Jacksonville—One of the highlights of the final meeting of the Jacksonville Parent Teachers association, set for Wednesday, May 14, will be the display of the projects from the high school departments of industrial arts, science and art.

Dough Popular On Gift List

Washington—Dough in one form or another is tops on the gift list of U.S. servicemen overseas, the Red Cross learned in a recent poll. "The guys who don't want it in the form of a postal money order would like it in the shape of homemade cakes or cookies," said one soldier in Europe.

Mrs. Helen Broadbeck, Jacksonville high school commercial teacher, has been elected secretary of the Oregon Education association, Jacksonville county unit, and was installed into office at their spring dinner meeting at the country club in Medford April 30. Mrs. Broadbeck was elected by the county unit of OEA teachers.

William Seymour, mathematics instructor and coach at Jacksonville High school has enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps and will be leaving here in September for Air Officers Candidate school in Quantico, Va.

About 13 eighth graders from Ruch School paid a get-acquainted visit Thursday in preparation for entering freshman classes here next term.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Schireman announced that a son was born to them May 3. The baby has been named William Edgar. Schireman is the assistant coach and physical education instructor at Jacksonville High school.

The Jacksonville School Teachers' organization, recently formed here, elected as their president Fred Beuhling; vice president, Kenneth Toner; secretary and treasurer Mrs. Jack Long; publicity Mrs. Clara Wendt and Francis Guidry.

Purpose of the group will be to carry out the policies of the school and gain other advantages to benefit the school, its students and faculty members.

On Wednesday, May 7, the lumbering unit of the first year industrial arts class, with their instructor Lee Harter, took a field day trip to the Medford Corporation saw mill and watched the handling of the logs from the pond to the green-chain. More than 20 students made the trip.

On Tuesday, May 6, Harter's second year industrial arts class visited Clogston's cabinet shop to see production type machinery for cabinet making in operation. There were 8 students in this group.

Carl Totman's general science and biology classes had two special speakers last week. They were Charles R. Shepard, game biologist of the Oregon State Game commission and Cole Rivers, fisheries biologist also from the Game commission. They spoke on conservation and problems confronting them in their activities, especially in recreation and resources.

A stork shower, honoring Mrs. Harvey Hueners, the former Carol Iverson, was held at the home of Mrs. W. E. Long on the evening of May 6. Mrs. Long's daughter, Miss Karen Frohs, was assistant hostess. Guests present were Mrs. Hueners Sr. and daughter Charleen, Mrs. Arthur Iverson and son Mike, Mrs. Sid Hammond, Mrs. Bobbie Miesner (former Roberta Wicksten) of Anaheim, Calif., Mrs. Sofia Robbins, Dianne Robbins, Sue Boardman and Mrs. Dale McCay. Guests unable to attend sent gifts. Pink and yellow tulips from Mrs. Long's garden enhanced the spring color scheme and table motif.

Money orders, the Red Cross said are easier to cash than checks, since a fee is generally charged for checks. The servicemen stressed that they prefer their fresh-from-the-oven delicacies individually wrapped in tin foil, packed carefully in metal containers, and shipped by air mail. This avoids the disappointment of finding crumbs instead of finding Mom's special brownies.

Other items on the most wanted list are hometown newspaper subscriptions, magazines, and photographs of the kids and pets.

Gifts of a "local" flavor range from skindiving and fishing equipment for the Caribbean area to jackets and cameras for Alaska.

Two universal dislikes are cigarettes and any items which smack of the military. A serviceman in Turkey reported however, that "what this country needs is a good cigar."

In Europe, the list of articles labelled most undesirable include watches, ties, cameras, and sporting goods. All can be obtained at the PX at lower prices than prevail at home.

Source of Eel Power Described

Seattle, Wash.—A researcher at the University of Washington Medical School thinks he knows where electric eels get the shocking power with which to stun their prey.

Dr. John Luft, who reported on an electron-microscope studies he made of shock-producing tissues of electric eels, explained that the sea animals use about three-fifths of their body length as an electricity-producing organ.

He said "battery" tissues in eels are specialized modifications of ordinary muscle tissue, which are arranged so that the electrical output of individual cells is discharged cumulatively instead of separately.

"Electrical impulses are a feature of all living cells," Dr. Luft said, "and every muscle-fiber cell has a small electric potential across it of about one-tenth of a volt."

But in eels, he explained, the electric cells are arranged "so that the 'batteries' can be said to be 'wired in series' to apply the total shocking effect."

"In this way," he said, "5,000 cells in a row along the eel's tail create a shocking power of 500 volts."

An eel produces enough electricity to light an electric light bulb intermittently,
