

Russia, Red China, Yugoslavia Engaged in Big Party Dispute

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Correspondent

Soviet Russia, Red China and Yugoslavia are engaged in the biggest Communist Party dispute in years.

Charles M. McCann

The dispute centers on the persistent refusal of President Tito of Yugoslavia to abandon his policy of independence and submit himself once more to Kremlin domination.

Involvement also, however, are other issues which appear to include: 1. The dissension in Soviet leadership between Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and the still-powerful "Stalinist" faction in the Communist Party

Presidium and Central Committee.

2. Relations between Russia and Red China.

3. Negotiations between Russia and the Western allies for a summit conference on means of reducing world tensions.

What approaches the importance of a party crisis started brewing last November when Tito failed to attend the big Communist Party congress in Moscow and his representative refused to accept the resolutions approved by Communist leaders from all over the world.

Enrages Soviet Leaders

Tito then enraged Soviet leaders by proclaiming a party platform at a Yugoslav Communist Party congress last month which emphasized his determination to pursue his own course.

Communist China brought the dispute to the boiling point last week when it made a savage attack on Tito.

Soviet Russia then went to the attack. Its propaganda organs threatened that Russia might withdraw all aid to Yugoslavia.

It is now reported that Khrushchev has sent an "ultimatum" to Tito, in the name of the Russian Central Committee, threatening to read him out of the world Communist movement.

It is reported that one factor in a tangled situation is that Khrushchev is under heavy attack by the "Stalinists" in the Kremlin.

The leader of the Stalinists, who favor a return to old-fashioned harsh dictatorship and demand a tough, uncompromising stand in the cold war, is Mikhail A. Suslov, a secretary of the Communist Party Central Committee and a leading member of the ruling presidium.

Red China Attacks Tito

Red China is supporting the Stalinists by taking the lead in the attack on Tito.

But the Chinese Reds appear also to be making a new bid to be recognized as at least the equals of the Russians as authorities on Marxian doctrine and possibly as the real inheritors of doctrinal leadership which Josef Stalin held until his death.

The negotiations for a summit conference are involved for two reasons. One is that the Russian Stalinists favor a cold war policy so tough that fruitful negotiations with the Allies would be impossible. The other is that Red China seems to fear that its own interests would be hurt by any agreements which eased the cold war.

Caught in the middle in the dispute is Polish Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, who has won at least partial independence from Kremlin rule. Gomulka is under steadily increasing pressure to toe the Kremlin line.

What all this is going to add up to remains to be seen. But Tito appears to be as tough as he was when he successfully challenged Stalin's authority in 1948.

Quotes From the News

By UNITED PRESS
Bogota, Colombia—William Key, Vice President Nixon's administrative assistant, on reports an attempt would be made to assassinate Nixon today:

"We had a report there possibly would be violence in Caracas, specifically that an assassination attempt would be made."

Nixon, the same reports: "I would say that this is routine—a routine threat. If we changed our plans every time something like this came up, we wouldn't do anything."

Washington—William O. Walker, president of the National Newspaper Publishers association and publisher of The Cleveland Call and Post, urging other Negroes to set up an organization to combat the Negro crime rate:

"If Negroes could populate schools at the same rate that they do jails we would be the best educated people in the world."

Des Moines, Iowa—Dean Chaffin, president of the National Automobile Dealers association, on the modernistic automobile:

"I like the plain, simple automobile myself. But anything new like that, chrome and gadgets, seems to attract the buyers."

Civil Air Patrol, State Board Airs Rescue Dispute

Portland—Officials of the Civil Air Patrol and the State Board of Aeronautics met at Portland airport Monday to mull over a squabble between the Oregon wing of the CAP and Earl Snyder, director of the state board, arising from rescue efforts of Mrs. Bruce Davis in eastern Oregon last month.

Snyder had accused the CAP with delaying and hampering the search for the Fresno, Calif., woman. The CAP said the charges were "sheer nonsense" and that it was "shocked" by them.

Still Recovering

Mrs. Davis was rescued after spending three days beside the wreckage of her husband's plane in the wilds of eastern Oregon while he went for help. Mrs. Davis is still recovering from injuries at a John Day hospital with her husband, an orchestra leader, but is considered in good condition.

The participants at Monday's meeting agreed to discuss the Davis blowup with an eye toward bettering relations for further search and rescue missions. A lack of adequate communications between all parties participating in the search effort was cited as one of the problems which caused the state board-CAP flareup.

Unknown Soldier Of Europe Picked

Epinal, France—A U.S. Army General walked past a row of 13 flag-draped coffins Monday and gently placed a wreath on the fifth from the left. He thus designated the European theater's selection for the Unknown Serviceman of World War II.

On May 26, at a ceremony on ship board off the coast of Virginia, a Congressional Medal of Honor winner from the Korean war will choose between the bronze coffin selected Monday at Epinal Battlefield Cemetery and one sent from the Pacific theater.

The one chosen will be entombed beside the Unknown Soldier of World War I in Arlington National Cemetery on May 30, Memorial day. The other body will be buried at sea.

The Pacific theater unknown will be chosen May 15.

Maj. Gen. Edward J. O'Neill, a veteran of the Anzio, Italy, landing and now commander of the Army communications zone in Europe, selected the coffin from the 13 containing the remains of men who never have been identified.

The casket was borne through a row of soldiers at present arms. It was to be flown to Naples to be placed aboard the destroyer Blandy.

Georgia-Pacific, Sanitarians Agree On Waste Disposal

Portland—Georgia-Pacific Paper Co. and the State Sanitary Authority reached a compromise settlement Monday on the firm's disposal of wastes at its Toledo, Ore., plant.

Under the agreement, the company agreed to construct a smaller lagoon for storage of wastes and the Authority agreed to allow emptying of the larger lagoon into the Yaquina river if it contained only rainwater and other natural accumulations.

The company had petitioned that a March 12 order of the Authority be amended to allow discharge of the rainwater mixed with wastes from the 35-acre larger lagoon. At the opening of Monday's hearing the State Game Commission and the Oregon Oyster Company objected to this plan.

Will Build Dike

After a recess was called the compromise was reached under which the firm will build a dike within the present lagoon resulting in a small seven-acre lagoon to contain wastes. Under the plan the large lagoon would be emptied to the ocean and the new dike built. Wastes emptied into the small lagoon would then be pumped to the ocean while the large lagoon would fill only with rainwater and other natural accumulations and could be drained to the river.

If an emergency occurred where more storage space was required, the drain to the river would be closed and the large lagoon used for waste purposes. This would be pumped to the ocean.

Father-Son Team Admits Holdups

Sacramento, Calif.—A father and son bank-robbing team from Utah have signed statements admitting at least five holdups in California and Utah during the past year, according to the FBI.

The suspects were identified as Guy W. Sheldy, 41, who operates an airport in Kearns, Utah, and his husky son, Jerry, 18. They were brought here for arraignment before the U.S. commissioner.

The two bandits were captured Monday just 11 minutes after they took more than $18,000 at gun point from the Bank of America branch at Fairfield.

Poice said Sheldy's airport had been operating at a loss, so he and his son took to robbing banks to pay off creditors. The five robberies netted them more than $30,000, including the $18,700 in Monday's holdup.

Authorities said the Sheldys admitted robbing a bank in Loomis, Calif. last week; a Sacramento bank in March; and the Walker Bank & Trust

UMC Funds Support Oregon Agencies As Well As Local Ones

United Medford Crusade funds not only support the work of agencies in Jackson county, but go a great deal of the way in helping Oregon Chest agencies in Portland and the Willamette valley.

This was the conclusion of United Medford Crusade Chairman Dick Travis, and other UMC workers following a recent visit to some of the Oregon Chest agencies.

A great number of children of Jackson county are being taken care of by these agencies. Latest available figures on Oregon Chest Child Care agencies show that Jackson county received services for 105 children during the last year, representing 16,197 days of care.

Seven Are Visited

Of the 16 agencies served through the Oregon Chest, seven were visited by the Medford group. Representing the United Medford Crusade were Travis, general chairman, Glenn Jennings, Tom Ness, Dick House, Jay Elliot, Ken Cook and Herb Partridge. The trip was financed by the representatives and by California Oregon Power company. No United Medford Crusade funds were used in the visitation, Travis pointed out.

The group learned that the cost of a day of care for one Oregon Chest agency was $2.85, although in some cases the cost rose as high as $5.50. Using the $2.85 as a mean figure, the cost of the days of care furnished Jackson county residents amounts to $46,161.45. Of this amount Jackson county united funds pay 40 per cent or $18,452.40.

Through state wide support of the Oregon Chest agencies, many independent fund drives are eliminated. Without the United Fund, the agencies and others would be completely dependent on making independent drives, Travis noted.

Independent drives, United Fund officials pointed out, would be more expensive than a United Fund.

Meatcutters Threaten Strike

Portland—Meatcutters today threatened to strike against the Oregon Meat Council Saturday at midnight if agreement is not reached on a new contract.

Amos R. Buck, secretary of Meatcutters Local 143, said some 200 meatcutters employed at Safeway Stores, Inc., warehouses, engaged in supplying hotels, ships and sausage kitchens have sought a $15 weekly pay boost. They now get $103 a week. The contract expired May 5, Buck said.

Three Injured in Car, Tractor Crash

Three people were injured when a car collided with a farm tractor about 5:55 p.m. yesterday on Highway 99, about a half mile south of Talent, according to state police.

Otis Paul Turner, 19, of 1327 Morrow rd., Medford, and a passenger, Anna Marie Therres, 20, Ashland, both received minor injuries. Jeannette Therres, 19, also of Ashland, suffered facial and leg cuts. All were taken to the Ashland General hospital by Litwiler ambulance and were treated and released last night, officers said.

Driver of the tractor, Larry Robert Anderson, 17, of 1234 Coronado ave., Medford, was not injured, state police said.

Some damage resulted to both the tractor and car, they added.

The tractor was in the outside lane, travelling north when struck in the rear by the northbound car, officers said.

"I will veto any increase in Income Taxes . . . I will veto any State Property Tax . . . I will propose a homestead exemption from property tax for people over 65 with less than $150 monthly income."

THE GILL PERFORMANCE

In the senate he opposed the Surtax in 1955, voted against the income tax increase in 1957, led the fight that reduced tax rates in the 1957 Special Session. Senator Gill wrote the legislation in 1957 which removed the authority of the state to levy a property tax. The 1957 Senate passed, by a vote of 29 to 1, the bill, authored by Warren Gill, to provide a homestead exemption (but the bill was killed in the House).
