Drivers Licenses Suspended Listed

Salem—The department of motor vehicles has released names of 326 drivers whose licenses were ordered suspended during the period beginning April 30 and ending May 6.

Length of suspension varies, depending on charges involved, recommendation of court, discretionary action by the department or requirements of Oregon law. The department said some of the licenses involving financial responsibility and court recommendations may have been reinstated after suspension was ordered.

The department warned drivers that the penalty for driving while suspended is a jail sentence of no less than two days and up to six months, and there may be imposed a fine up to $500. Under licensing procedures, this will also result in an additional year of suspension.

Those suspended in Jackson county were:

- DRIVING WHILE SUSPENDED—(Includes any conviction for violation of traffic laws involving operation of motor vehicle while driving privileges were under suspension)
- Fink, Robert, 40, Ashland, driving while suspended, 1 year.
  - Kirklin, Jewel David, 23, of 1090 Waverly st., Medford, driving while suspended, 1 year.
  - Nard, Cecil Alexander, 38, of route 2 box 736, Central Point, no operator's license, 1 year.
- DRIVING WHILE UNDER INFLUENCE OF INTOXICATING LIQUOR—(Mandatory suspension)
- Maurer, Roland Albert, 51, box 142, Phoenix, 30 days.
- DISCRETIONARY ACTION OF DEPARTMENT
- Lewis, Jack William, 35, of 136 Highland dr., Medford, driving record, 30 days.
  - McCracken, William Edmund, 77, of 620 West 11th st., Medford, driving record, 1 year.
- FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY—(Failure to show proof of financial responsibility)
- Knapp, Roy Allison, 31, of 2802 Spruettbrook rd., Medford, 30 days.
  - Smith, Ferris, Mary, 28, post office box 665, Central Point.

cial will be Miss Anita Ritchey, Miss Sharon Ritchey, Miss Linda Nelson, and Miss Linda Wilkes. Patronesses will be Mrs. Audry Nelson, Mrs. Betty McGinty and Mrs. Meg Rowan. Miss Mary Lou Garner will orchestrate the event. During the auction and ice cream social there will be free movies for youngsters in room B of the YMCA.

Tag Sale Event
Another event is the tag sale. Several items will be tagged and put on sale at 9 a.m. Each tagged item may be purchased for the listed price. All items that are not sold by auction time will be put up for sale.

The auction Saturday, May 17, will be the main event. It starts at 7 p.m., and all items to be auctioned have been donated by Medford merchants or community citizens. High bidders will receive auction items.

Proceeds from the annual YMCA auction are used to help finance the youth programs of the Medford Y.

Canadian Pacific Firemen Return

Montreal — Canadian Pacific railway firemen returned to their jobs today, ending their three-day strike.

An agreement which made firemen obsolete on diesel locomotives in freight and yard service was signed at 11:59 p.m. Tuesday night.

Firemen hired since April 1, 1956, will be laid off with a preference over new applicants for other jobs with the railway. This affects 73 men. All other firemen, some 2,900, will retain their present jobs.

The Arbuckle Mountains in Oklahoma are generally said by geologists to be the oldest surface formations in the United States.

People of the United States normally consume about 100 million pounds of tea per year, or enough to make approximately 20 billion cups.

The latest census shows the United Kingdom has a population of 51,221,000. Nearly 42 million live in England.

Law Governing Campaign Poster Use Challenged

Portland — The state law that prohibits posting of political campaign posters on rocks and trees in Oregon was challenged here Tuesday by Joseph C. Hawkins, Democratic candidate for Multnomah county assessor.

Hawkins said he believed the law was being misinterpreted by state authorities. He said he has posted his signs only on trees with the explicit and written consent of the owners.

Warning Issued
State Labor Commissioner Norman O. Nilsen said Hawkins was warned about the practice two weeks ago.

"When illegal signs were still in evidence after another warning," Nilsen said, "my office followed the standard procedure of referring such matters to the appropriate district attorney."

Hawkins could be fined $25 for each poster placed in violation of the state law.

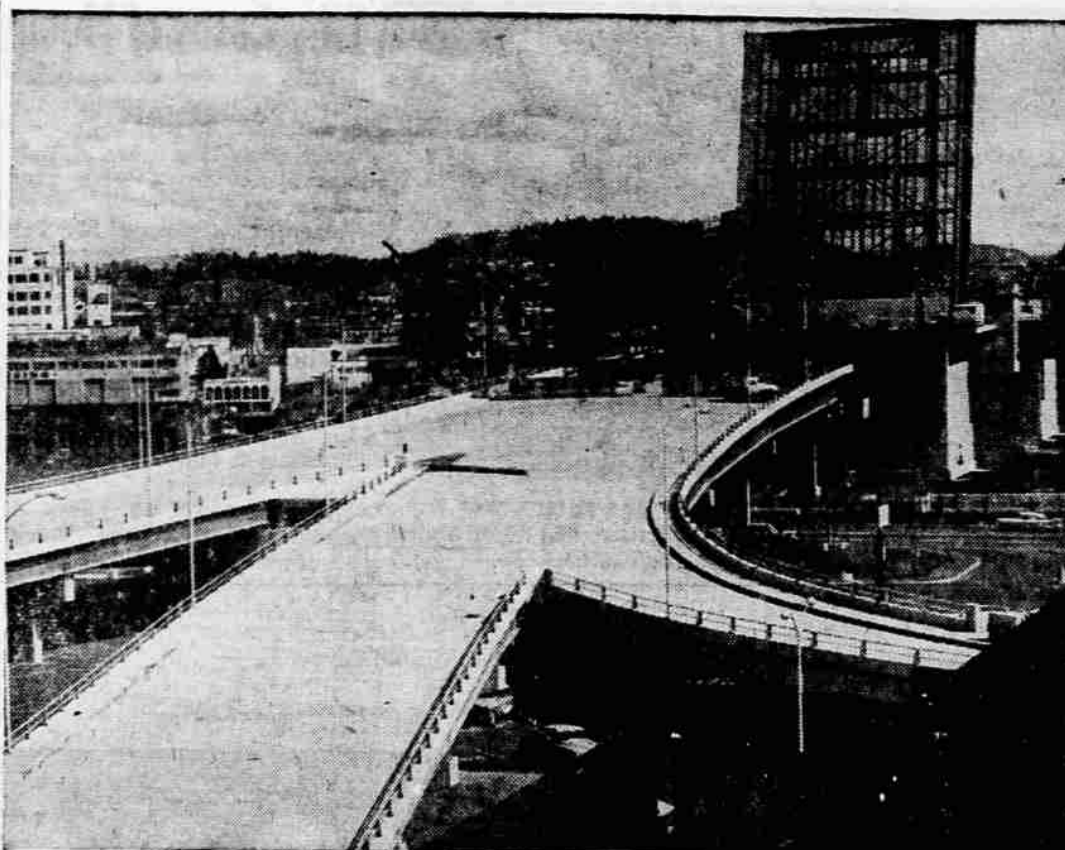

Hawkins commented that "you could bankrupt your opponent by going out on a dark night and posting an armful of his campaign placards." He said the law could keep him from posting his opinion on a tree in his own yard that that was a violation of the right of free speech.

Johnston Sees Need Of Liberal Trade

New York — Eric Johnston warned Tuesday night that the United States will "strangle the free world's economy" if it fails to enact a liberal reciprocal trade bill.

Johnston, president of the Motion Picture association of America and chairman of the bi-partisan committee for international growth, said Russia "is sparing nothing to fashion and mold the weapons to fight" an economic war by which it hopes to take over the free world.

He made his remarks in an address before the Foreign Trade Society and Propeller club of the College of the City of New York.

NEW ARTERY — Nearing completion in downtown Portland is this double lift bridge across the Willamette river. U.S. Steel's American bridge crews are putting the finishing touches on the six-lane span which will be formally opened to motorists with a community celebration May 24. One leaf of the new crossing is shown in raised position.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Teena Paige Sewing Club
The Teena Paige Sewing 4-H club of Central Point held its regular meeting with a mother and daughter tea Monday, May 5, at the home of Carolyn Sidener.

There were 11 girls present and the following mothers attended: Mrs. Pinkham, Mrs. McKay, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Meyers, Mrs. Hutchison, Mrs. Ashton and Mrs. Sidener. Marilou Garner, the county agent, also was a guest.

The president, Vernola Hutchinson, opened the meeting by all saying the 4-H pledge. A short business meeting was held and an introduction of the mothers and members were made by each. The mothers and Miss Garner were presented corsages that were made by some of the girls with Glenna Brown as chairman.

A short program was presented and all the girls joined in singing with Pat McCue at the piano. The girls each modeled the dresses they wore which they had made and Linda Warren acted as narrator for the group telling what kind of material and the cost of each dress. Miss Garner gave a short talk on how the girls could improve on their modeling.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Nancy and Elaine McKay, Pat McCue, Carol Meyers and Carolyn Sidener.

Order To Close Powell Case Denied

New York — United States Attorney Paul W. Williams has denied he was instructed by the Department of Justice to "kill or close" the income tax investigation against Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-N.Y.).

Williams made his statement Tuesday following the appearance before a federal grand jury of William F. Buckley, editor of the National Review.

Buckley, who was questioned about mailing copies of an article on the Powell case to the grand jury investigating Powell's taxes, has charged that the Powell investigation was suppressed by the Eisenhower administration as "most probably an act of political gratitude."

Phil Silvers Show Called One of Most Stylish and Civilized Hours on TV

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Correspondent

New York — I knew everything was well in hand Tuesday night when Phil Silvers, accompanied by his goggle glasses and a d con-man grin, bounced into place on CBS-TV for a special show. Silvers stayed for an hour in something he who took over the CBS-TV "Red Skelton" show and then turned out an admirable half-hour. I liked particularly Donald O'Connor and Sid Miller in their take-offs of Louis Prima and Keely Smith and some of Berle's one-liners like "One great thing about this Los Angeles smog — it hides the Dodgers."

William Ewald called "Phil Silvers on Broadway" (sub-title: "An Intimate Extravaganza") and to pour down an opinion quickly, I would tab it one of the most stylish and civilized hours of the TV season.

In a way, the Silvers show struck me as very much like a low comedy version of the Victor Borge show seen on CBS-TV earlier this season. Like Borge, Silvers concocted a visual meat that was strong on pace and snap and variety. Like Borge, Silvers was not interested in parading a sloppy glob of "stars" on stage, but rather in turning out a show. A show it was.

Three-Second Bits
The hour was so replete with riches that Silvers could afford to toss away three-second bits that other shows might have lingered over: Silvers quick-tinkling the piano keys ("Give my best to Victor"), Silvers (unreeling a smidgin of soft shoe, Silvers running down to his audience to talk to visitor Polly Bergen) "I know you Emma—or is it Emmy?"

Inevitably, some of the bits were a little off the mark. For example, a sketch about a camp director trying to con some parents into sending their boy away for the summer was a trifle in spots. And one routine in which Silvers got into a tangle of arms and legs with some stagehands had the shopworn air of an old burlesque bit and even worse, of an old TV bit.

No Feeling of Let-Down
But the rhythm of the hour was so swift that there never was a feeling of severe let-down. The dancers pranced on fast and leggy, a 12-man choir boomed out a sentimental tune and walked off to reveal that five singers in the rear had no pants on, the sponsor's product took an amiable kidding, four members of the Sgt. Bilko platoon appeared to aid in the clowning. In particular, I enjoyed the Silvers' routine based on the first singer ever faced with the lyrics of "Ol' Man River."

There were reports before the show that if this Silvers show were successful, Silvers might do a series of one-hour specs for CBS-TV next season. As one comedy-starved member of the TV audience, I hope the reports are true.

Berle for Skelton
Along with the Silvers' special, another show made the night one of the best of the season. Milton Berle headed a group of other performers

San Francisco's Golden Gate bridge was built by Joseph Baermann Strauss, who died in 1928.

Wild Party Brings Princeton Action

Princeton, N.J. — Thirteen students at Princeton university have been disciplined in connection with a reported wild party in a dormitory attended by two stripteasers.

Six of the students were expelled, four suspended and three placed on probation. All were seniors and juniors. Names of the students were not released.

One of the performers was identified as Mrs. Judy Rhee, of Philadelphia. The other was known only as "Bubbles."

F W WOOLWORTH CO

39 NORTH CENTRAL AVENUE MEDFORD, OREGON

An OPEN LETTER

To Voters from

EVE NYE

This campaign has been a wonderful experience for me because it has given me an opportunity to meet a great many people and to discuss their problems with them. I've found that many of the same problems affect us all, either directly or indirectly.

Everywhere I go people are thinking and talking about a sales tax to relieve property or income taxes, or both. They feel, that since our tourist industry is the 3rd largest in the State, Oregon is making a mistake in not asking out of state people to contribute to our economy, since we contribute practically everywhere we go outside Oregon. Also they feel that our transient help, which takes thousands of dollars in wages every fall, should make a small contribution toward the government whose services they use.

I've pointed out that unless a sales tax were drawn so that it actually would reduce our present taxes, it would not be desirable and that in the final analysis, it will be up to the people of Oregon to make that decision.

In my visiting about I've talked to merchants who are struggling under a disadvantage because of their inventory tax, and to other business men who are worried about the probable increase in their unemployment compensation rates.

I've talked to parents of school children who are concerned about what the new school district reorganization law will do to them, and to many others, whose problems are very real and very serious.

It makes me even more keenly aware of the size of the responsibility I'm offering to shoulder in representing them. The bright note, of course, is that they all think Oregon is a wonderful place to live and wouldn't exchange it for any other, but they'd like a few changes made. Naturally I'm not making big promises about that I'll do when I get to Salem, but knowing the problems of Jackson County residents, which after all are pretty much the problems of Oregon generally, is going to help me a lot in working toward a healthier economy for the entire state.
