College Announces Concert

Ashland - The Southern Oregon college music department will present the Little Symphony orchestra and the College choir in a concert at 8 p.m. Sunday, May 18 in Churchill hall auditorium. Dr. Herbert Cecil will conduct the orchestra and Oscar C. Bjorlie will direct the choir.

The program will consist of three parts, the first of which will be a group of five selections sung by the choir. Included in these numbers are songs by Will James, A. Kopylof, and R. W. Williams; an American folk song, "Black is the Color;" and a spiritual, "Ezekial Saw De Wheel."

Selections played by the orchestra will be featured in the second part of the program, including pieces by Saint-Saens, Moussorgsky, Richard Strauss, and Leroy Anderson.

The concluding and climatic part of the program will combine the choir and orchestra to present four choruses from Handel's great oratorio, Messiah, including, "For Unto Us a Child is Born," "Behold the Lamb of God," "Surely He Hath Borne Our Griefs," and the well-loved "Halleluja" chorus.

The public is cordially invited to attend the performance for which no admission will be charged. Members of the audience will be given the opportunity as they leave the auditorium to contribute to the orchestra scholarship fund. It was announced.

Spring Housecleaning
Vacuum, brush or shake draperies and slip covers before putting them in the washing machine. Remove hooks, mend any rips and, by all means, review the washing instructions that came with the fabrics as well as those of the manufacturer of your washing machine and gas dryer. Some fabrics that are not soiled can be freshened in the gas clothes dryer without washing. Slip covers can be more easily smoothed and stretched to fit if they are removed from the gas dryer while slightly damp. This saves ironing, too.

Blackboards for the schools have been called obsolete and those with a green background are claimed to be easier on the eyes and for general vision.
