Dismissal Demanded On Lana Turner Suit

Los Angeles—Two actions, on file in Superior Court, today called for dismissal of a $750,000 damage suit filed over the death of actress Lana Turner's lover, Johnny Stompanato.

A second demurrer was filed Thursday by restaurateur Stephen Crane, second husband of the blonde film star and father of 14-year-old Cheryl Crane, who fatally stabbed Stompanato last April 4.

Lana's lawyers, including filmland attorney Jerry Giesler, brought the first action Wednesday on behalf of the actress, Cheryl and Mrs. Mildred Turner, the girl's maternal grandmother.

While Miss Turner attacked the damage suit on grounds that it was "unintelligible and ambiguous," Crane charged that the action, filed on behalf of Stompanato's 10-year-old son, was a "sham."

Divorced in 1948
The restaurateur pointed out in his suit that he and Miss Turner were divorced in 1948 and that he had not had custody of his daughter at the time of Stompanato's death.

Furthermore, Crane said he wasn't even at the Beverly Hills home of his former wife when her lover was killed.

The slaying was declared justifiable homicide by a coroner's jury after testimony that Cheryl stabbed Stompanato because she was afraid he was going to harm her mother.

Cheryl now is living with her grandmother, pending a second hearing June 26 before the juvenile court. She was made a ward of the court in the initial hearing.

Money Deposited To Tribe's Credit

Yakima, Wash.—Attorney for the Yakima Indians said Thursday that as a result of action taken by a tribal delegation in Washington, D.C. recently, a $1,500,000 advancement of the $15 million Dalles dam settlement fund has been deposited locally to the credit of the tribe.

Hovis said processing of applications for individual shares amounting to $3,270 from the fund will begin today at the Indian Agency in Tappanish. All applications will be processed in order of receipt by the approval committee.

The attorney explained that although the Bureau of Indian Affairs wished to advance the funds earlier, it was prevented from doing so by the Department of Justice while suits opposing the basis of settlement were pending.

Siskiyou Music Camp Reviewed for Chamber

Ashland—A two-week Siskiyou music camp for junior high, high school and college students is planned for July 6-19 at Southern Oregon college, according to Prof. Glenn Matthews of the Southern Oregon college music department.

He described the new field

Report of Visual Examination Plan Slated at Seminar

A report on the visual examination program of the Winter Haven, Fla., Lions club will be the high light of a post-graduate optometric seminar Sunday, May 25, at the Rogue Valley Country club in Medford.

Speaker for the seminar will be Dr. Edmund F. Richardson, director of the Optometric Extension Program, Duncan, Okla. His report will be based on the "Procedure Manual" recently prepared by the Eyesight Conservation committee of the Winter Haven Lions club.

Optometrists and their wives and assistants from Medford, Ashland, Grants Pass and Klamath Falls, and Yreka, Calif., are expected to attend the one-day session.

Luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. Sunday, with the lecture program to begin at 2:30 p.m. Concluding the afternoon's activity will be a business session of the Southern Oregon Optometric Society, according to Dr. Robert Harland, Medford, president.

The auxiliary of the society will hold its May meeting at the same time. Mrs. Richard Nelson, newly elected president of the auxiliary, will be in charge of the program.

of educational activity at a meeting of the Ashland Chamber of Commerce.

The first camp last year was so successful, Matthews said, that it is being expanded this summer.

Band and instrumental instruction, as well as a vocal clinic and choral activities, will be on the program. Instructors will include Matthews; Clarence Sawhill, director of bands at the University of California at Los Angeles; and Louis Clayson, of the music department, SOC.

Also speaking to the chamber was Miss Claire Hanley, Jacksonville, president of the Southern Oregon Historical society, sponsor of the Jacksonville museum.

She described the steady growth of interest in the museum. A total of 284,468 visitors have toured the museum since it opened, she said.
