Vitamin C Content Said Insufficient

Brookings, S. D.—In one well-fed country, one-fourth of the families short themselves on vitamin C simply because they don't eat the right foods, according to Mrs. Jane Meyer, nutritionist at South Dakota State college.

Mrs. Meyer said a few persons in the United States even reach the extreme of getting scurvy, a disease resulting from an acute lack of vitamin C, but there are many milder deficiency cases that usually are not recognized.

"If you don't have all the pep and energy you need, it may be a vitamin C lack," Mrs. Meyer pointed out.

The solution, she said, is easy. One medium sized orange will give all the vitamin C necessary for one day. The average size serving of broccoli will supply over half the requirement.

Mrs. Meyer stressed that vitamin C content is an everyday requirement—"we can't store vitamin C."

Fad For Motor Scooters Spreading in U.S. Cities

By CLAIRE COX

United Press Correspondent
New York—(UP)—A new transportation fad has been imported from Europe—a motorized version of the bicycle—built-for-two.

Along with thousands of sports cars zipping along the nation's highways and fleets of roaring motorcycles are more than 500,000 motor scooters, both foreign and American made.

It is a common sight to see a couple out for a date on a motor scooter in European towns and cities. Sometimes they take one or two kids along for the ride.

Now the idea is catching on in the United States, said Stanley A. Barr, director of the American Motor Scooter club. Barr and quite a few other motor scooter owners take their girls out for dates on their breezy scooters. He predicted there would be a million scooters on U.S. roads by the end of 1958.

Costs $400
"At first a girl may say 'no' to the idea," he said. "You have to talk her into just one ride. Once around the block usually convinces her it's okay to take a longer ride."

The motor scooter is a sort of cross between a bicycle and a motorcycle, but the rider does not sit astride. He puts his feet on a little floor in front of him and operates the gas and brake levers with his hands.

A scooter costs about $400 and travels up to 100 miles on a gallon of gas, at speeds up to about 50 miles per hour. Most scooters have two seats—one for the driver, and a cushion behind for the passenger. Some scooter owners have dinged up their vehicles with signal lights, chrome fittings, bumpers and flashy hub caps.

Barr said some farmers use scooters to do their daily chores. Commuters drive to and from railway stations on scooters. A Park Avenue resident uses a "beat-up" old scooter to lick the New York City parking problem. Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.) has a scooter. So does Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, although no one has seen him arrive at City Hall on it.

Clubs Formed
Scooter club chapters across the country include both men and women. Among the scooterists are doctors, lawyers, an importer and a truck driver, who likes to ride his scooter for recreation.

Most women scooter owners live in or near big cities, Barr said. They use their scooters to go to work and do the family shopping.

The club sponsors week end camping trips and Sunday afternoon jaunts. It also publishes a magazine called Scoot.

"The chap who owns a motor scooter is truly independent," Barr said. "He has a sense of personal freedom. He is much freer than a motorcycle rider because he can wear regular clothes. He can park any place. He can travel off the road. He doesn't have to worry about traffic. He can always sneak through."

"We don't want to deride motorcycles, however. It is unfortunate they have had the publicity they have. Loads of decent people ride motorcycles, but the scooter is in a class by itself. It just can't be compared with other means of getting around."

Groups Announce Consolidation; Election Planned

Officers will be elected at the Tuesday, June 3, meeting of Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, Medford, at the VFW hall, 42 North Front street, at 8 p.m.

Elections will be held due to the consolidation of the post and auxiliary of Central Point with Crater Lake post and auxiliary. All members of the former Central Point VFW auxiliary are eligible to attend this session and vote.

Card Party Held By Women's Club

Cards were played Monday evening at the meeting of the Scottish Rite Women's club.

Mrs. George Carleton won the pinochle prize with Mrs. Frank English winning at canast and Mrs. Laurence Edwards, bridge.

The Scottish Rite men joined the women for refreshments.

Mrs. Fred Scheffel was hostess with Mrs. H. L. Alford and Mrs. R. D. Chamberlain assisting.

Canned vitamin talk

Any day now a door-to-door peddler may ring your bell and try to sell you some vitamins or nutritional supplements. He will be very convincing because he's a trained salesman. But keep this in mind. It is quite unlikely that your physician would ever prescribe his product. No matter what the peddler says, chances are, he lacks professional knowledge of what he's selling. So, if you need vitamin preparations (your physician is the best judge) get them from a registered pharmacist. Then you know what you're getting and you get your money's worth every time.
