

Girl Scout Troops Hold Annual Court of Awards

Girl Scout Troops 170 and 11 of Jackson school held a joint court of awards May 15 at the Maurice Ritchey home, 412 Oak street. Troop members planned and presented the program for the evening.

The flag ceremony was presented by Lorraine LeFaive, Sherry Dwight, Catherine Watson and Connie Bittle. Girls of Troop 170 gave a candlelight ceremony in which each girl gave a Scout Law and placed a lighted candle in a log serving as a candle holder. Troop 11 presented a skit in their own words of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Then both troops sang "Girl Scouts Together" and "Peace of the River," accompanied by Jeannette Jones.

Mrs. B. E. Culy, neighborhood chairman, spoke on why each troop holds its own court of awards and reasons for Girl Scouts to work for proficiency badges.

Mrs. Norvel Jones, leader of Troop 170, presented the girls with the badges they had earned, after each girl told of some of the work necessary to earn the badge.

Back yard camper badge was done by setting up an outdoor fireplace, making simple furniture and camping overnight, which included planning and cooking two meals. Girls earning this badge were Sharon Ritchey, Cheryl Rice, Marilyn Anderson, Jackie Ammons and Maureen Kilby.

The cyclist badge was earned by the girls going on bicycle trips, learning the essential parts of the bicycle and knowing how to keep them in good condition, and knowing and observing the rules of safe bicycling. Jackie Ammons, Maureen Kilby, Sharon Ritchey, Cheryl Rice and Marilyn Anderson earned this badge.

Sports badge was earned by Maureen Kilby, in earning it Maureen had to show her ability to play well, know the rules of sport chosen, know the health and safety rules and proper clothes to wear for the sport.

The seamstress badge was earned by the girls collecting sewing equipment for their sewing boxes, knowing seven stitches and using five of them, knowing the sizes of needles and threads, and by each one making a skirt, Cheryl Rice, Marilyn Anderson, Maureen Kilby and Sharon Ritchey earned this badge.

The good grooming badge was earned by the troop members attending the charm school held by the Rogue Valley Girl Scout council during the winter, and by making a good grooming chart. Maureen Kilby, Sharon Ritchey, Cheryl Rice, and Marilyn Anderson received this badge.

Cheryl Rice earned the musicians proficiency badge by using the Major scale, being able to give its relative and parallel minor and to sight read music. She also earned the group musician badge by singing well in a group and by selecting suitable music.

Awards Presented

Troop 11 members were presented their awards by their leader, Mrs. Wilmer E. Warren. The hospitality badge was earned by the girls discussing everyday good manners, asking social behavior questions that puzzled them, and planning and having a surprise birthday party for one of their members. Betty Pace, Lorraine LeFaive, Jeanne Centers, Patricia Warren, Catherine Watson, Caroline Cole, Sherry Dwight, Karen Maxon, Connie Bittle, Jill Whalen, Karyn Fixen, Katherine Vandergrift, and Sonja Vermeulen were presented with this badge.

Most of the troop earned their second class rank by exploring eleven fields of scouting which included arts and crafts, literature and dramatics, music and dancing, community life, international friendship, nature, out-of-doors, sports and games, agriculture, health and safety, and homemaking. Those receiving this rank were Sonja Vermeulen, Katherine Vandergrift, Caroline Cole, Betty Pace, Patricia Warren, Lorraine LeFaive, Jeanne Centers, Catherine Watson, and Sherry Dwight.

After the program refreshments were served the mothers and the girls. The cakes were decorated with little yellow roses. Anita Ritchey attended the punch bowl. Rosann Warren poured coffee and Jeannette Jones served the cake. The girls are members of Troop 158.

Artist Continues Exhibits Here; To Hold Classes

Because of the interest shown in the art exhibits at the Purucker Piano house in recent months, Clifford Platz, who arranges the shows, has made plans to continue them and has added Saturday art classes. A basement studio has been arranged for the artist, and the Saturday classes begin at 2 p.m. They stress fundamentals necessary for any type or style of art work, perspective, balance and color.

During June a one-man show of watercolors by Percy Mansver, Hood River, will be exhibited at the Music house. Pre previous show was of watercolors by Ruth Groves, Otis, Ore., and six pictures were purchased by local residents. An exhibit of work by pupils in the city schools, and wood carvings by William Fontaine, Medford businessman, were also well received. Mr. Platz reports.

During July Mr. Platz plans a juried show of work by southern Oregon artists. Persons wishing to submit paintings in any medium may do so. The jury will consist of three to four artists and one or more entries from areas outside southern Oregon. It is hoped that the event will be annual event.

Convention Report Given for Society

Mrs. John Holst, Gold Hill, reported on the annual convention of the National Herb Society, held in Berkeley, Calif., at the last meeting of Rogue Valley Herb society. The meeting was held in Mrs. Holst's home at Gold Hill, and began with a garden tour at 10:00 a.m. After the tour, members and visitors were instructed in herb corsage making by Mrs. Lee Thomas and Mrs. Frank Carson.

Annual Banquet Held Last Night

The annual mother-daughter banquet of Zion Lutheran church was held last evening at the First Methodist church. Mrs. Bruce Braaten was toastmistress.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Irvan Eitrem. Mrs. William Gates presented awards to the oldest grand-mother present, Mrs. Carl Fiehtner; youngest mother, Mrs. Floyd Pawlowski, and to the youngest daughter, Ellen Nunley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nunley.

Mrs. Bennett Austin presented life membership awards to Mrs. Augusta Moore, who was a member of Zion Lutheran church's first confirmation class, to Mrs. Lillian Twite and Mrs. Wendell Matson. Mrs. William Gates accepted the award on behalf of Mrs. Moore, who was unable to attend.

Miss Vera Cingcade, Bible instructor in the county public schools, presented an object lesson.

A group of Methodist women assisted with the banquet.

Rites, Reception Held by Church

Shady Cove-Trail-St. Martin's Episcopal church held confirmation services May 22 in the Shady Cove school, with the Rt. Rev. B. D. Dagwell, bishop of the diocese of Oregon, administering the sacrament of confirmation. He was assisted by the Rev. W. B. MacHenry, vicar of St. Martin's, and Leonard Hanson, acolyte. Gary Monical was organist.

Confirmed were William Brewster, Dorothy E. Brown, Mary F. Massey, Mignon E. Parrick, S. E. Parrick, Allen G. Rodgers, Martha J. Rodgers, Alice Spence and Maude A. Wilson.

A reception followed the service, with refreshments served in the cafeteria. Mrs. MacHenry, wife of the vicar, and Mrs. Everard Brown, president of St. Martin's guild, poured. Guild members assisted in preparing and serving the refreshments.

This was the bishop's last official visit to St. Martin's church since he is retiring in the fall.

Italian Voting Procedures Described by Rome Visitor

By MARGARET SCHULER
Rome—You must vote in Italy if you are eligible. If you don't you must explain why you did not, and if you haven't a good reason to give the mayor, you receive a "did not vote" remark. This is entered for five years on a "good conduct" certificate. This would be like having to list traffic violations on a car license in the U.S.

As over 90 per cent of the Italian voters are expected to go to the polls today—Sunday, May 25, and Monday, May 26, it must work. Returns will not be in until Wednesday night, and because of the complexities of the election laws, the actual results will not be known before June.

The entire process of voting is quite different from that in the states. There are no primaries; the Senate and Chamber seat elections are separate. Minimum age for voting is 21, but to vote for senators, a person must be 25. Many candidates run for both Senate and Chamber. There is no limit to the number of constituencies in which a candidate may present himself.

Here are some of the laws covering Italian voting: Persons or organizations caught giving gifts in the week before elections are subject to jail terms up to five years, and fines up to $3,200. A person, threatening his relative or family, to influence voting, is subject to a five year jail term. Sale of alcohol is banned on election day.

Persons voting under false names are given sentences. Election frauds, for influencing voting a certain way, are punished by jail terms. One law forbids anyone to carry sticks into the polling booths.

And to protect state property, voters not returning pencils given to mark their ballots are fined 3000 lira or $5. Elaborate precautions are taken to insure order inside and out. Anyone disturbing the polls is given five year jail terms.

Religious ministers, public officials or other persons in public office trying to force voters to support a certain candidate gets up to three years jail term.

Ballots are compiled in screened booths like the U.S., and handed sealed, to vote tellers. Two representatives of each party check on the tellers' work.

Today is quiet in Rome. The noise of leaflets has been swept away, and not knowing that thousands of voters are deciding whether Italy will be Christian Democratic or Communist, one would think it is an ordinary Sunday.

Reception Honors Medford Woman

Mrs. Clayton Walker, Medford, district deputy oracle of the Royal Neighbors of America, was honored at a reception given by Mistletoe camp May 28. Mrs. Walker will leave June 22 for Los Angeles to attend the supreme camp convention.

The serving table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of purple and white Canterbury bells, these being the lodge colors.

Members from Central Point, Ashland and Jacksonville attended, and each camp presented Mrs. Walker gifts. She spoke briefly. Mrs. Lenore Broili, Ashland, a past state supervisor, also spoke.

Mrs. Carl Pearson, program chairman, presented Mrs. Frank Ward of Central Point who sang, the Jacksonville camp presented a stunt imitating the television program, "To Tell the Truth." Mrs. Floyd Bewley played piano selections.

The serving committee was Mrs. Thomas Mee, Mrs. Bewley, Mrs. Pearl Miller and Miss Blanche Arnold.

Jaycettes Session To Be Wednesday

Medford Jaycettes will meet in the home of Mrs. Arthur Van Leeuwen, 1110 West Ninth street, tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. This will be a work meeting in preparation for a coming rummage show; members are asked to bring their rummage for the show and casual dress is in order.

Chapter CP Will Meet Wednesday

Chapter CP, PEO sisterhood, will meet Wednesday, June 4 at the home of Mrs. V. H. Wilson. Mrs. A. R. Schoenberg will be assistant hostess. A program on the secretary of labor will be presented by Mrs. W. C. Knope.

FARMERS PACKING CO. will be CLOSED THURSDAY June 5 in memory of JOHN CEARLEY

A reception followed the service, with refreshments served in the cafeteria. Mrs. MacHenry, wife of the vicar, and Mrs. Everard Brown, president of St. Martin's guild, poured. Guild members assisted in preparing and serving the refreshments.

This was the bishop's last official visit to St. Martin's church since he is retiring in the fall.

Men Make Better Antique Collectors

New York — (UPI) — Men make better antiques collectors because they don't bargain-hunt as women do, says one dealer.

"It takes a man longer to make up his mind to buy a particular object," said Mrs. Mary Muller, one of 125 exhibitors in the New York Antiques Fair. "But in the end he will get a really good piece of antique pewter, silver or furniture because he will pay more."

"The average woman antiques enthusiast has quantity rather than quality as her goal. She'll gather every parweight or miniature glass slipper, she can find and put them on display, whereas a man will collect only the best examples in his field of interest."

"But you can't say all men

First Doughnut Girl To Retire This Year

Boston — (UPI) — The original "Doughnut Girl" of World War I retires from the Salvation Army in June after 40 years' service.

Miss Stella Young, serving with the "Sallies" was passing out doughnuts to doughboys on the Metz front in 1918 when a cameraman snapped her picture. The photograph was published by newspapers throughout the United States and she became known as the original "Doughnut Girl."

Recently her job has been statistician at the Boston Headquarters of the Salvation Army.

are better collectors than all women, and you have to give women credit for one thing. They usually start their husbands collecting."
