

Portland Edges Seattle 4 to 3 In PCL Thriller

By United Press International
Only two games were played on Monday night's abbreviated Pacific Coast League docket, but they turned out to be a pair of thrill-packed contests.

San Diego pushed over a pair of runs in the ninth inning to nip Spokane, 3-2, while in the other game, Portland edged Seattle 4-3 when Ed Winceniak singled home the winning run with two out in the eleventh inning.

League-leading Phoenix and second-place Vancouver swing back into action to head tonight's games. Phoenix will meet cell-dwelling Seattle, while Vancouver trails the Giants by a game - will face the seventh place Portland Beavers.

San Diego and Spokane will have a second go tonight and the Sacramento-Salt Lake City game will round out the action.

San Diego handed Spokane ace Dick Hanlon his fourth setback Monday night. Hanlon has won six. The Pads opened the scoring with a run in the second but Spokane grabbed a 2-1 lead in the sixth with hits by Jim Baxes and Norm Sherry sparking a two-run outburst.

Padre benches strength proved to be the difference, however, in the ninth, after Larry Raines singled, Manager George Metkovich sent in Hal Naaragon and Rudy Regalado to pinch hit and both delivered singles. Fred Hatfield's sacrifice fly brought in Padre run number three.

Hadwoodshick pitched eight frames and took the win. But it was Pete Wojey who shut the Indians out in the bottom of the ninth to preserve the victory.

The Seattle-Portland contest was see-saw all the way. The Rainers grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first with a single by Jim Dyck the key blow. The Beavers tallied one in the third, a tying marker in the wild fourth which saw a Beaver double-steal, and a goahead run in the sixth. The Rainers knotted it up in the bottom of the sixth with another single by Dyck doing the damage.

That ended the scoring until the eleventh when Nini Tornay doubled and Winceniak singled him home. Reliever Bill Henry won the contest, which saw the Beavers vacate the PCL cellar, and the Rainers moved in.

The Linescore:
 San Diego 3 12 1
 Spokane 2 7 2
 Woodshick, Wojey (9) and Jones, Averill (9); Hanlon, George (9) and N. Sherry.

(11 innings)
 Portland 4 8 0
 Seattle 3 7 3
 Garber, Henry (8) and Tornay; Kutyna, Pilette (10) and Dotterer.

Paul Harney, Dick Chapman and Gene Sarazen turned in creditable scores but it was the lesser-known golfers who stole the show in the sectional qualifying trials for the 1958 National Open championship.

Harney, fully recovered from a recent appendectomy, record of 4 wins and no losses.

About 3,000 canoes are manufactured annually in Canada.

led the 29 qualifiers in a field of 175 at Detroit Monday with a 35-hole score of 139. Chapman, former U.S. and British Amateur king, posted a 136 while 56-year-old Sarazen, a two-time Open champion, fired a 140 among the dozen qualifiers from the New York metropolitan area.

However, the outstanding aggregate score was credited to Robert E. Goetz of Tulsa, Okla., who recorded a 67-67—134 over the Oaks Country club course in his hometown.

Lee Mackey Jr. of Birmingham, Ala., and Franklin Keller of Webster Groves, Mo., two other relatively-unknown pros, turned in 65's to tie for the day's best single rounds.

Mackey wound up with a 135 qualifying score and Keller had a 144 aggregate.

Most of the tournament pros competed at Detroit, where Doug Sanders won the Western Open Sunday. Sanders qualified with a 145. Lloyd Mangrum, the 1956 Open King, wound up second best behind Harney with a 140, while other leading qualifiers there included Tommy Bolt (141), Doug Ford and Don January (142 each), and Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Jay Hebert (143 each).

Among the "name" golfers who failed to qualify were Sam Parks Jr., the 1935 champion; Tony Manero, the 1936 winner; Dow Finsterwald, Jackie Burke, Johnny Revolta, Willie Turnesa, Mike Homw, George Bayer, Mike Souchak, Art Wall Jr., Porky Oliver and Dave Douglas.

The qualifiers will join 17 exempt players, including defending champion Dick Mayer, in the championship flight at Tulsa's Southern Hills country club, June 12-14.
